TRADE MEMBERS ACT TO END ROW OF POLICE HEADS

Offutt Says Both Glassford and Burke Needed.

Commissioners Take Up Charges Today in Dispute.

The District needs both Superintendent of Police Pelham D. Glassford and Chief of Detectives Frank S. W. Burke, said George W. Offutt, former president of the Board of Trade, on the eve of the scheduled decision by the Board of Commissioners on the recommendation of the police chief for the demotion of the detective head.

Mr. Offutt spoke last night at the meeting of the public order committee of the Board of Trade at the Raleigh Hotel.

After the meeting there appeared to be an attempt on the part of former District Commissioner John A. Johnston to effect a truce. Gen. Johnston conferred for about ten minutes with Gen. Glassford, and then engaged in an earnest conversation with Inspector Burke. None of the three would reveal the nature of the conversation, but it was apparent that Gen. Johnston was acting as a mediary.

Inspector Burke has not budged one iota in his determination to let the case go to the District Commissioners on its merits alone.

Any formal action or debate on the merits of Gen. Glassford's recommendations was forestalled by Chairman Odell S. Smith, who at the opening of the session declared, "We deal only with principles and not personalities."

Both Are Present.

Both Gen. Glassford and Inspector Burke were at the head table when Mr. Offutt made his declaration that both of them are needed by the District. At first Mr. Offutt said his remarks were not intended for publication, but he later released newspapermen from any confidence.

"I would like to leave two pictures in your minds," Mr. Offutt said. "One is of a few months ago on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue when brickbats were flying. In the midst of it was a tall, courageous figure, a fearless officer, Gen. Glassford. In the midst of everything, he stood out and said, 'Boys, let's take time out for lunch.' Then there was peace.

"The other picture is of Inspector Burke. We knew him as a patrolman in Georgetown. Then we saw him rise to a sergeant, a lieutenant, a captain, and finally to an assistant superintendent of police. And we gloried in it.

"Gentlemen, the District of Columbia needs both of these men."

The atmosphere of the meeting was surcharged with a sentiment favorable to Inspector Burke and it is known that resolutions favorable to him were purposely withheld so that the board would not seem prejudicial to him.

McQuade Makes Talk.

The hope that Gen. Glassford will see fit to take care of the men who have given the better part of their lives to the Police Department was expressed by Martin McQuade. He said he esteemed very highly both Inspector Burke and Gen. Glassford.

Both Gen. Glassford and Inspector Burke spoke, but neither mentioned the fight between them over the police chief's ouster move. Both expressed gratification at being able to pay tribute to John Joy Edson, chairman of the board of the Washington Loan & Trust Co., who was guest of honor.

Neither Inspector Burke nor Gen. Glassford has been notified to appear at the meeting of the District Commissioners today when the recommendation for the detective head's demotion is to be considered. Gen. Glassford today will continue his inspection of the police department which he began yesterday.

The topic of the meeting, "The Crime Prevention Bureau," was only sketchily discussed by Wallace Robinson, secretary of the subcommittee which made a study of the bureau after an article appeared in The Post several months ago pointing to the bureau as a waste of men and money.

Changes in Bureau Cited.

Several changes have been made in the bureau since the committee was formed, he said, and for that reason the report of the committee was not made. Virtually all the speakers paid tribute to the police department for its work in keeping lawlessness to a minimum in the Capital.

Others who paid tribute to the work of Mr. Edson as a citizen and as a member of the Board of Trade were: Mr. Smith, Eliot Thomson, Robert J. Cottrell, C. J. Waters, E. C. Graham, Gen. Johnston, Elmore T. Burdette and Mr. Offutt.

HOOVER WILL SPEAK IN OHIO ON SATURDAY

Will Probably Talk Briefly at Several Cities on Way to Cleveland.

(Associated Press.)

At the auditorium in Cleveland, Ohio, where Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the Presidency in 1924, President Hoover will deliver his second away-from-home campaign address next Saturday night.

The President's intention to make his second political trip of the campaign to Ohio was announced at the White House yesterday shortly before Postmaster General Brown and Carmi Thompson, chairman of the Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) Republican organization, discussed plans with him.

Just as the President did in his recent swing into Iowa, Brown said, so Mr. Hoover probably will stop his special train at several cities along the route. By so doing he will be able to speak briefly to at least half a dozen audiences from the rear platform of his car.

The Postmaster General told newspapermen that the Chief Executive in his Cleveland speech probably will touch upon unemployment conditions and the question of depressed farm prices, among other things.

"Certainly he will speak about unemployment," he said. "We are feeding thousands of people in Ohio who can't feed themselves. It is one of the most pitiful sights I have ever seen.

"The political situation there has been improved very greatly in the last week, due in part to the President's Des Moines address. There is now a better understanding of the issues of the campaign."

Brown said Mr. Hoover is being pressed by Republican leaders in many parts of the Nation to visit their sections. He said invitations were pouring in from New England and the East, as well as from the Midwest and Pacific Coast.

The President still has under serious consideration, Brown said, the advisability of a tour across the continent before election time. He added, however, that no decision had been reached, and that the result might depend in part upon the outcome of the Ohio journey. Various presidential

The Weather Bureau last night issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory, 9 p. m.—Tropical disturbance central, about 50 miles northwest of Belize, British Honduras, moving slowly northwestward."

9 Women and Man Hurt in Boat Blast

Two Girls, Clothing Afire, Leap Into Water and Are Rescued.

San Pedro, Calif., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Nine women and one sailor were injured, one woman perhaps fatally, in a gasoline explosion today aboard a motorboat of the United States Navy hospital ship Relief. The boat had just taken aboard fuel.

Two young women, their clothing aflame, leaped screaming into the water. The two, Alice Shriner, 19, and Margaret Grace, 19, of Gardena, were rescued.

Mrs. Bitha Smith, 37, of Long Beach, was knocked down and trampled in the rush of the passengers to the prow of the craft. Emergency hospital surgeons said they believed her back was broken. She was on her way to the hospital ship to visit her son, Frank Wells, injured in an airplane crash Thursday at Long Beach. The boat crew consisted of three, one of whom was burned.

REED DELIVERS PARTY REPLY TO HOOVER SPEECH

Former Senator Denies That Gold Standard Was Menaced.

CHARGES PRESIDENT MADE FARMERS' WOE

Willful Perversion of Truth Alleged in Address at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, tonight assailed President Hoover's record on agriculture and told a cheering Iowa audience that the American farmer can charge a large portion of his present financial difficulties to the President.

Interrupted frequently by applause, the white-haired former senator, long an avowed foe of the President, criticized the wartime and postwar activities of Mr. Hoover in connection with agriculture and declared "absolutely untrue" the statement that this country was at one time within two weeks of being forced off the gold standard.

In the address, billed as the Democratic reply to President Hoover's opening campaign speech, he also termed the Republican interpretation of Gov. Roosevelt's tariff stand as favoring a reduction in agricultural rates a "willful perversion of the truth."

Farmer "Special Victim."

Of the President's stand on agriculture, Reed said that Hoover came to this country "with a scheme to reduce the price of American farm products" and "carried his scheme into effect and thus laid the foundation for agricultural bankruptcy."

Reed declared that under the prices fixed by Mr. Hoover during the war on the wheat farmer and other agricultural producers, the farmer was made the special victim of the world conflict.

"Mr. Hoover's regulation of prices was for the benefit of England, Italy, France and Belgium," Reed declared.

"Thus did he carry out the plans he brought to the United States, viz: to beat down American farm prices for the benefit of Great Britain and her Allies.

"Blame Trouble on Hoover."

"The inevitable consequence was that at the end of the war the farmer, instead of having accumulated money, had his notes in the bank and his mortgages in the vaults of the mortgage company."

Interpolating, Reed asserted: "Farmers, here's where your trouble began; you can blame much of your trouble on Mr. Hoover."

The speaker declared that Hoover has had as his purpose "to capture the trade of the world and that to do this he proposed to undersell the world. This means among other things to undersell the world in agricultural products."

"Until the present panic," Reed de-

Gronau and Crew Saved by Steamer

Radio Fails to Tell Fate of Plane Forced Down in Indian Ocean.

Manila (Tuesday), Oct. 11 (A.P.).—A radio message from the Rangoon, Burma, airport today said Wolfgang von Gronau and his three flying companions were safely aboard the British steamer Karagola, which rescued them after they had made a forced landing in the Indian Ocean.

The message said the Karagola was scheduled to arrive in Rangoon today. No mention was made of the plane in which Capt. Von Gronau and his companions were making a world flight.

The plane was forced down by a broken water pump yesterday 200 miles south of Rangoon. Unable to repair the damage and take off in the rough waters, the plane sent out radio distress signals.

Vessel and Liquor Cargo Found Drifting Off U. S.

Rockland, Me., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The United States Customs Patrol Boat 4277 towed the cabin cruiser Cassossa, of Weymouth, Nova Scotia, into port today after finding the Canadian craft with a cargo of more than 1,000 cases of liquor drifting crewless in the fog in Stockton Harbor.

Capt. Philip Bickford, of the customs boat, said he believed the crew of the Cassossa abandoned the craft and fled to shore after they sighted the Government vessel on patrol in the early morning fog. He estimated the value of the Cassossa and its cargo at $75,000. The boat was 55 feet long and had two gasoline engines and one Diesel.

Surrogate John O'Brien Himself Was Graduated on Hill in 1895.

Flagstones of Georgetown University have rung with the footsteps of four members of the family of O'Brien, headed by Surrogate John P. O'Brien, Tammany candidate for Mayor of New York.

To the college from which he was graduated, a master of arts, in 1895, Judge O'Brien has sent his three sons, the eldest of whom, Gerard, was graduated last June.

His two younger sons, John G. "Gibbie" and Lawrence J. O'Brien, are now students at their father's alma mater, living at the dormitory quadrangle which has sprung up around the older buildings of the university.

"Gibbie," 17, is a freshman, and is too busy orientating himself to studies and student life to take a participating interest in sports at the university. Nor is Lawrence, 19, a sophomore, an athlete.

Both are taking courses which lead to the bachelor of arts degree. Neither has future plans to attend the law school, as their father did.

Both like their father's choice of a university and both like Washington. Washington is not new to Law-

STEPS TO EXTRADITE INSULL TAKEN BY U.S.

Athens Police Comply With Desire of Legation; Says He Is "Tourist."

Athens, Greece, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The American Legation tonight asked the Athens police to hold Samuel Insull for extradition to the United States to face indictments for embezzlement and larceny in the collapse of several big power companies. The police promptly complied with the request.

The former Chicago utilities magnate had previously been taken into custody because his identification papers were not in order, and he had been provisionally arrested as he sipped coffee on a balcony of the Grand Bretagne Hotel.

The superintendent of police then made inquiries at the American Legation and was informed a coded cable had just been received authorizing an application for extradition.

The superintendent ordered the definite detention of Insull, and the American was told he would spend the night at the police station.

Previously the United States had attempted to bring about the detention of Mr. Insull in France for the purpose of starting an extradition action. But he left Paris too quickly for the American authorities to act. He went to Italy and there the story

RAILWAY IS SEIZED BY CHINESE REBELS

Uprising Against Manchukuo and Japan Captures Entire Barga Region.

Tokyo, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The entire Barga region and almost all the Chinese Eastern Railway west of the Nonni River were in the hands today of Chinese rebel forces that have arisen against the troops of Japan and of the government of Manchukuo. The rebels have hoisted the Chinese flag.

Unconfirmed Chinese reports said that Gen. Su Ping-Wen had established a new "government" at Manchuli and was claiming dominion over all the territory west of the Nonni.

The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency learned that for two days the Japanese command had been concentrating forces in the Tsitsihar area "in accord with a serious decision."

Hitherto the Japanese have refrained from any major military action in the Manchuli area for three reasons. Numerous Japanese, including the consul at Manchuli, are held by the rebels as hostages; it has been feared that occupation of Manchuli might cause complications with Russia, and numerous difficulties are presented by the terrain—it would be necessary to maintain communications over 270 miles of hostile territory and across the Khingan range of mountains.

Kidnaped Banker Released Without Ransom Payment

Wife of Chicagoan, Previously Freed to Obtain $5,000, Notified Authorities Instead; Abduction Apparently Work of Amateurs, Police Assert.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Norman B. Collins, president of two Chicago banks, who was kidnaped with his wife this morning in suburban Wilmette, was released twelve hours later unharmed and, he said, without payment of ransom.

The banker was freed at an isolated intersection on the far northwest side with instructions to go by street car to a certain North Side drug store before telephoning his family. His wife previously was released and ordered to obtain $5,000 ransom for Collins. She notified officials instead.

Alexander Jamie, head of the "Secret Six," accompanied Mrs. Collins and a family friend to the store, but declined to comment pending questioning of the banker.

Police, however, theorized the kidnapers were amateurs and had freed their victim and fled in fear that their hiding place had become known.

Mrs. Collins was released within a few minutes after she and her husband were seized while she was driving him to a railroad station. The trio of kidnapers, she said, first demanded $100,000 ransom but reduced the amount to $5,000 when Collins said that was the maximum he could pay.

Collins said he was kept for several hours in a garage, the location of

'BLACK SHIRTS' TAKE NEW AUTO FOR OPERATIONS

St. Marys Countryside Is in Arms to Combat Terror Reign.

HAUNT OF SUSPECTS FAILS TO YIELD THEM

Citizens Hold State Police Augmented Because of Sheriff's Laxity.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Leonardtown, Md., Oct. 10.—Four State policemen, headed by Corporal W. V. Hunter, of Waldorf substation, together with Deputy Sheriff John T. Smith, of this town, led armed citizens aver the deserted roads at St. Marys County tonight in a fruitless effort to find the dreaded "Black Shirt" gang.

With a toll of eight victims to their credit, and a loot of more than $500 in cash and jewelry, members of the gang, apparently ready to launch their master stroke today made off with an automobile seized from George Maloy, at Mechanicsville.

Maloy's car was taken from the yard adjoining his home some time after midnight. He had parked it late the previous evening, he told police, and when he went out to get it early today it was gone.

The State police and deputy sheriffs believe the night marauders are persons who are thoroughly familiar with the county's roads and the terrain hereabouts. They have several suspects in mind.

Suspects Elude Arrest.

Four State policemen under Corpl. Hunter tonight called at a house in the woods off the Leonarditown-Waldorf road, which one of the suspects is known to frequent. They were told that the man in question was in Baltimore with another man the police also have under suspicion and two girls.

Police plan to go to Baltimore tomorrow and search for fingerprints and photographs of the suspects. These will be brought here and the photos will be shown to the various victims of the past week, while the fingerprints will be compared with those on the automobile which was seized yesterday, after a running gun battle. The victims are agreed that in each holdup a large and a small man took part.

Some talk was heard here tonight on the lack of activity shown by the sheriff, which is said to have brought about the augmented force of State police, unusual in this section.

Their string of depredations, which began last Wednesday night, was completed in each case with members of the terrorizing gang riding in stolen machines.

Brutal attacks on residents and motorists throughout this section during the last six days have produced a reign of terror and suspense that holds citizens and police alike in

Ecuador Bolsters Line After Battle

Will Reinforce Garrison; Peruvian Apologizes for Fight.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The government announced tonight it was taking steps to send a battalion of troops to reinforce the garrison along the Peruvian-Ecuadorian frontier after a battle near the town of Huaquillas

The difficulty was temporarily adjusted, a correspondent of El Telegrapho reported, when a prefect of the Peruvian civil guard apologized to the Ecuadorian governor of Machala. The El Telegrafo correspondent said he could not determine the origin of the difficulty. He said Ecuadorean guards told him they were fired on by farmers of Peruvian extraction while on an inspection tour within the Ecuadorian frontier. The guards said they repelled the attack.

The incident acquired internaitonal caliber a few hours later, when the Peruvian civil guard and Ecuadorian guards clashed near Hauquillas. The Ecuadorians retreated until they reached the quarters of a detachment of 60 Ecuadorian police, where a battle was fought.

SNIPER SUSPECT ARRESTED WITH FORMER ACTRESS

MRS. ANNA McINTYRE.

Winner of Beauty Contest Held In Holdups.

Police Seeking Clew Through Sedan Man Drove.

John Paul Greer, 26, of Benning, D. C., last night was being held at police headquarters for investigation and questioning in connection with several recent robberies and holdups, including those of last Friday night during which a filling station worker was seriously wounded.

Mrs. Anna McIntyre, 25, former Ziegfeld Follies girl, was arrested with Greer for questioning, although she claimed she had known the man but a week. Police said she was merely arrested as a routine procedure and probably would be released shortly.

Police Checking on Auto.

In some quarters the shooting and holdup Friday night have been attributed to the "Sniper," credited with the slaying several months ago of Paul Riedel, Mount Pleasant street baker. Descriptions of the latter tallied closely with the description given by witnesses of the man responsible for the felonies of last Friday.

Police said last night they were checking information that Greer at one time owned or drove a Buick sedan of the type used by the alleged sniper. This type of machine also was used by Friday night's marauder, although both cars were later discovered to be stolen and their owners located.

Won Beauty Contest.

Greer's physical make-up coincides with descriptions given by witnesses of the shootings and holdups and police said this would motivate them to question him in connection with the affairs, although they would claim no other evidence against him.

Mrs. McIntyre came into the public eye some years ago as Miss Anna Riebel, when she won a beauty contest at the Tidal Basin Bathing Beach. Later she sued Representative Manuel Herrick, of Oklahoma, for $50,000 for breach of promise.

'MUSHROOM' FEAST MAKES ELEVEN ILL

Operators of Boarding House Believed to Have Picked Poisonous Variety.

Eleven persons were stricken with violent gastric disturbances yesterday after having eaten a meal which included what they thought were mushrooms.

August Magni, 57, and his wife, 48, who operate a boarding house at 909 Massachusetts avenue northwest, made a trip into nearby Maryland Sunday afternoon in quest of the plants. Two friends who accompanied them had previous experience in picking the edible variety, and confidently directed the activities of the group until a bushel had been gathered.

Yesterday, Mrs. Magni prepared the dinner and all of the boarders gathered to taste the delicacy, some of them even inviting friends. Amando Fassier, 38, left the dinner table soon after the meal to take a walk, but he soon returned when he began feeling ill.

Returning to the boarding house, he found that all of his fellow guests at the dinner table had become violently ill. A nearby physician advised the group to seek aid at Emergency Hospital, and arriving there they were given treatment.

Those treated gave their names as Dominick Bernard, 38; Charles Kopp, 26; H. Garan, 50; Robert Arazzi, 29; Pete Bowiter, 25; Lena Magni, 19, and Pete Magni, 22, all living at the boarding house, and Joseph Viatti, 24, of 1804 Riggs place northwest, and Mr. and Mrs. Magni. All were admitted for observation. Lena and Pete are the daughter and son of the Magnis.

Police of the Second Precinct, who are investigating the poisoning, have taken the remaining plants for analysis. Hospital officials said that the victims undoubtedly were suffering from toadstool poisoning.

Two other persons who were guests at the meal left soon afterward and have not been heard from.

2 Cubs Sold for $150 So Lions Can Be Fed

The first step in disposing of animals of the Philadelphia zoo because funds are wanting to feed them was taken yesterday, when two lion cubs were sold for $75 each to an Atlantic City amusement firm.

C. Emerson Brown, director of the zoo, said that the sale of the cubs would make possible the rationing of their parents, Queenie and Leo, for at least five months. It is expected that the National Zoological Park here will purchase some of the animals, if more have to be disposed of.

Jahncke's Brother Fined $100 in Row

Secretary's Nephew Also Admits Assault in Society Feud.

New Orleans, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Paul F. Jahncke, a brother of Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, was fined $100 with the alternative of 30 days in jail here today for an assault on Nolan Maurin in a feud among New Orleans society leaders.

His son, Edward, likewise prominent, was fined $50 or 30 days in jail and their companion, Denton Wilmot, drew a fine of $75 or 30 days in prison. They pleaded guilty to charges of assault and battery.

Testimony purported to show they lured Maurin to a secluded place near the Southern Yacht Club and beat him with the help of hired fighters. Maurin said he and Edward Jahncke had "differences" and he went to the rendezvous expecting to "have it out alone with him."

Storm Warnings Issued For Two of Great Lakes

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The United States Weather Bureau tonight issued the following storm warnings for Lake Erie:

"Northwest storm warnings were displayed on Lake Erie at 9:30 p. m."

At 3 p. m. today the bureau announced that southwest storm warnings were displayed on Lake Erie and northwest storm warnings were displayed on Lake Huron.

Sanders Unshaken By Straw Ballots

Jahncke States Landslide for Hoover Has Begun on West Coast.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Statements of confidence that President Hoover would be reelected were made tonight by two leaders in the Republican campaign. Chairman Everett Sanders of the Republican national committee said "comments made by our Democratic friends on straw votes do not disturb me."

Sanders said "every time President Hoover speaks he gains millions of votes," declaring most of the straw votes now made public were taken before the President's speech at Des Moines, Iowa, last week. He said straw votes in other campaigns have missed the actual results by as many as 5,000,000 votes.

Assistant Navy Secretary Ernest Lee Jahncke, finishing a 3,000-mile campaign tour, said, "A Hoover landslide has begun in the West." He said, "There is no doubt about California."

LEGAL REFORMS HELD BALKED BY INTEREST LACK

PRELIMINARIES BEGIN FOR BAR CONVENTION

Certain Press Practices and Politics Scored; Utility Publicity Demanded.

The need for law reform is being handicapped by lack of interest and knowledge of the question by the majority of lawyers and a great many judges, Robert H. Jackson, of Jamestown, N. Y., a member of the New York State Commission to investigate the administering of justice, declared in an address last night at a joint dinner of delegates to the American Bar Association convention and the American Judicature Society.

Criticism as well as praise of lawyers came from James Grafton Rogers, Assistant Secretary of State, who asserted that lawyers as a profession are not open to new ideas and lack the capacity of organization.

The dinner, held at the Mayflower Hotel, was one of the preliminary meetings to the opening tomorrow of the fifty-fifth annual convention of the American Bar Assotciation. Philip J. Wickser, of Buffalo, N. Y., was toastmaster. Dean Justin Miller, of the Duke University Law School, spoke on leadership.

Press and Politics Planned.

The dinner followed a day of committee and section meetings of the Bar Association and other legal organizations at which speakers blamed newspapers and politics as handicapping the administration of justice in this country, and at which the need for publicity on public utility operations was stressed.

Interference of the press with the administration of criminal justice, often referred to as "trial by newspapers," and the traffic between officers of the law and newspapers, whereby information is exchanged for publicity, both grow out of politics, Stuart H. Perry, newspaper proprietor of Adrian, Mich., and a director of the Associated Press, told the Bar Association delegates. Mr. Perry described this combination as "the curse of our entire judicial system."

A. V. Cannon, of Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the committee on judicial selection, who spoke later in the day, ascribed this situation partly to the primary system of electing judges. He advocated abolition of this system and the appointment of judges by governors or some other high authority with State confirmation. Mr. Cannon declared that many men fitted to sit on the bench declined to be chosen by a primary.

Publicity for Utilities.

Full publicity for public utilities was urged by George Otis Smith, chairman of the Federal Power Commission. As evidence of the need for this, he referred to the almost daily disclosures of manipulations by chief executives of top companies resulting in ruination to what owners regarded as their securities.

Joseph B. Eastman, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, told the public utility law section that lawyers are largely to blame for "the unhealthy and poisonous conditions that have sprung from holding companies."

Mr. Eastman declared that in his judgment the holding company working with its ally, the dummy or convenience corporation, has been one of the most effective instruments of exploitation the country has known.

Frank H. Reid, of New York, chairman of the section, made a plea for retention of the present policy of commission and court supervision until "we know where we are going."

Guard Against Undesirables.

Need of protecting the bar from "those undesirables who lack a controlling sense of right and wrong," was called to the attention of the National Conference of Bar Examiners by its chairman, James C. Collins, of New Haven, Conn.

Juries should be permitted by law to render verdicts in felony cases by a two-thirds majority instead of by unanimity as at present, Clarence E. Martin, of Martinsburg, W. Va., told the National Association of Attorneys General. He suggested the number of jurors be reduced to less than twelve if the defendant on trial agrees.

Discussing the Massie case before the same association, Seth W. Richardson, Assistant United States Attorney General, declared that he did not find crime greater in Hawaii than in most jurisdictions, nor, he said, was there any evidence of an excessive amount of sexual crime.

Administration of justice in Hawaii is complicated, Mr. Richardson said, by the difficulty of assimilating Orientals in the American system of law and government.

Radio Board Criticism Resented.

Criticism of the Federal Radio Commission, in a report of the committee on communications of the American Bar Association, was openly resented by Judge Ira E. Robinson, former chairman of the commission.

Judge Robinson declared that the report was "tactless" because the criticisms of the commission's actions were general and not specific. The report stated that the commission has not followed its own rules.

Judge Robinson's defense resulted in agreement by the committee that objectors to the report may file protests with the association.

The report, submitted by a committee headed by Louis G. Caldwell, Washington lawyer and former chief counsel of the Federal Radio Commission, described the radio industry as a "sort of stepchild of the United States Government."

Uncertainty as to the continued existence of the industry and as to the protection of its investment was stressed by the report.

Committee and section meetings of the Bar Association will continue today. The convention proper will be opened tomorrow morning at Constitution Hall. President Hoover will address the lawyers and judges tomorrow night. Chief Justice Hughes will preside. The convention will continue through Saturday, concluding with the annual banquet that night.

Ballston P.-T. A. to Meet.

Booth, Cagle, Kelly and Mays Are Visitors to White House.

Assurance of support in the coming election from "the determined youth of the Nation" was given President Hoover yesterday by the "Flying Back Field," men whose names are carved deep in football's honor roll.

The men—Albie Booth, captain and quarter back of Yale last year; "Red" Cagle, former captain and back field star of the Army; "Shipwreck" Kelly, former University of Kentucky half back, and "Eddie" Mays, one-time Harvard half back—flew here from New York in a trimotored plane, The Forward Pass, under auspices of the Republican national committee. Harold June piloted the craft.

Accepting the quartet's offer of help in the campaign, President Hoover said he felt "the future of the country is in the hands of its young people, and, I believe, in the Republican party."

Standing with the group on the south lawn of the Executive Mansion, President Hoover told the men "I do hope that you hit the line hard."

John Jay Hopkins, special assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, who presented the four, said they, under the leadership of Paul Orvis, chairman of the college division for the Eastern campaign, have "undertaken the task of urging 4,500,000 young 'first voters' to help repeat the Republican victory of 1896," issues of which he compared to the present campaign.

MODIFIED DRY LAW FORECAST BY REED

Pennsylvanian, Back From Europe, Also Predicts New Taxes.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, just returned from abroad to campaign for the Hoover administration, told newspapermen yesterday he believed the Volstead act would be modified and new taxes would be imposed at the coming session of Congress.

"I don't think there is any doubt," he said, "that the Volstead act will be modified to permit 4 per cent beer and light wine at the approaching short session. I think new taxes are inevitable. I favor the manufacturers' sales tax."

Reed, who arrived here Sunday, yesterday morning went to the White House to report to President Hoover on his conversations with Government heads in England and France relative to the Manchurian problem.

He told newspapermen that the "future of the League of Nations is at stake" in its forthcoming decision on the Lytton report which Japan is protesting. This report recommends, in effect, Chinese jurisdiction over Manchuria with the aid of foreign advisers.

Expects Foreign Payments.

The Pennsylvanian gave it as his opinion that the foreign debtors would make their December 15 war debt payments in full—the first due since the one-year moratorium. He said the subject of debt cancellation or modification was not discussed or hinted at in his conversations with the responsible Government leaders of Europe.

Reed said he believed the United States would keep a hands off policy in the League of Nations consideration of the Manchurian question. He said he found "no marked hostility" in Europe to the attitude of this Government of nonrecognition of territory acquired by aggression.

Reed described the Lytton report as "extremely able and temperate."

"This whole problem means much to the world," he said. "The whole question of naval ratios and armaments is bound to be affected."

Saying he was ready to take the campaign stump whenever Republican leaders wished him to go, Reed supported the statement by President Hoover that there was fear at one time last winter that the United States would be forced off the gold standard.

"I think," he said, "we were within less than two weeks of going off the gold standard. If we had not passed the Glass-Steagall bill, and if the Senate had passed the Goldsborough bill inflating currency, and the soldier bonus payment measure, both of which were sent to us by the Democratic House, I think we would have gone off the gold standard.

Tax Yields "Disappointing."

"I think we have passed that danger unless we elect a Democratic Congress and a Democartic President. If that happens and they follow the program of the Democratic House of last session, then I think we will have to go off the gold standard."

As a member of the finance committee, Reed said the yields from the new special taxes voted last session were "disappointing" and he believed the returns from the higher income taxes also would prove "disappointing."

"If business conditions improve," he added, "we won't have to raise so much. However, the gasoline tax expires at the end of a year and we are running far behind. It is inevitable that there will be a new tax bill this winter."

Public demand, rather than desire for a new source of revenue was the reason advanced by Reed for saying he expected the modification of the Volstead act.

Wills of 5 Presidents Exhibited for Lawyers

The wills of five Presidents of the United States, together with those of half a dozen other famous Americans, have been placed on exhibit in the main room of the office of the Register of Wills in District Supreme Court so members of the American Bar Association, here in annual convention, may view them.

The presidential wills are those of James Monroe, James Madison, Andrew Jackson, Woodrow Wilson and William Howard Taft. Others whose wills are in the display are Edward Douglass White and Salmon P. Chase, both former Chief Justices of the United States; Robert Todd Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, Francis Scott Key and Commodore Stephen Decatur.

Julia Dent Grant, wife of President Grant, is included, and Dolly Madison, wife of President Madison, is another. Charles J. Giteau, slayer of Garfield; William Augustine Washington, a nephew of George Washington, and a will bearing the witnessing signatures of Gens. U. S. Grant and W. T. Sherman are also in the display.

CURTIS SAYS TARIFF PROTECTS MONTANA

G. O. P. Policy Shields Grain Growers From Foreign Wheat, He States.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Defending Republican policies as they affect the farmer, Vice President Charles Curtis reviewed the tariff in a campaign address here tonight and said Montana, as a farming State, should count it "good business" to have protection on the crops it grows.

Mr. Curtis spoke at a State-wide rally of Republican leaders.

Pointing out Montana exports $11,000,000 worth of goods annually, including flour, sugar and wool, Mr. Curtis said:

"These are all good reasons why you should have Republican protection instead of a Democratic tariff that will admit a flood of cheap Australian wool, cheap foreign sugar or a flood of Canadian wheat from just across the border."

The Vice President declared $3,219,000 worth of agricultural imports were "dumped on your home markets" in the final fiscal years of the last Democratic administration.

Mr. Curtis apraised President Hoover's various acts in seeking to correct present economic conditions and said his program is restoring better times. The President's action in calling upon the Federal Land Banks to extend loans rather than foreclose mortgages and arranging for credit for seed and crop loans was referred to as indicative of the President's interest in the welfare of the farmers.

ROOSEVELT WILL AIR VIEWS ON U.S. RELIEF

Considers Shortening Tour of South to Give More Time to Midwest.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—After accepting an invitation to give his views on the extent to which the Federal Government should engage in relief activities, Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight went into a conference to complete the itinerary for his Southern trip.

He decided to make a radio speech Thursday night at 10 o'clock over a national hook-up to outline his relief views in response to a letter signed by ten welfare workers, acting on their own individual initiative. Their letter said they were asking the same five questions—on relief, public works, unemployment insurance, the Children's Bureau and education—of both candidates.

The Democratic presidential candidate conferred tonight with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to complete the itinerary for the Southern trip which will swing back into the political battleground of the Midwest before striking back to Albany.

Several of his recent visitors have brought word that he is not needed in the Southern States and thought is being given to the possibility of further shortening that leg of the trip so as to give more time in the Middle Western States, which many consider the real battleground of the campaign. It would be possible so to shorten his stay in the South as to give him in the border and Middle Western States five or more of the eight days which tentatively were on the itinerary.

In his press conference today Mr. Roosevelt indicated that there would be substantial changes in the itinerary printed today by many newspapers.

F. W. Fort to Speak At Board of Trade

Home Loan Bank's Part in U. S. Recovery Will Be Subject.

Franklin W. Fort, who was appointed last August by President Hoover to head the Home Loan Bank, will address the Washington Board of Trade at its fall meeting tomorrow night at the Willard Hotel.

Mr. Fort is expected to tell of the part being played by the Home Loan Bank in the reconstruction program, explaining the establishment of a Nation-wide chain of eight to twelve regional mortgage banks. Mr. Fort is a former representative from New Jersey and former secretary of the national Republican committee.

Early this year Mr. Fort formed the New Jersey Building & Loan Finance Corporation, which undertook a far-reaching program to conserve mortgage investments during the extreme credit stringency of the first quarter of this year. The Board of Trade members, in addition to hearing Mr. Fort, will be entertained by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. Glee Club and will conclude the meeting with a buffet supper.

WILBUR DOUBTS FOE HAS GAUGED PEOPLE

Says G. O. P. Is Banking on Good Common Sense of Electorate.

Cincinnati, Oct. 10 (U.P.).—The Republican party is basing its hopes of victory at the polls next month on the "good common sense" of the American people, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, said in a campaign address here tonight.

"One of the great parties stakes its bet in the election upon a bald emotional reaction," he said. "Yet I am convinced that its leaders are wrong. I will admit that people are often foolish, that they are treated with cynical contempt by many of our newspaper writers and publicists, but I agree with Lincoln, who had faith in the good common sense and judgment of the American people * * *

"When he (the voter) is alone in the voting booth with his conscience and his God, I am convinced that he will use his common sense and vote for safety, stability and the protection of his home and country, rather than give a more emotional reaction."

The election, he said, is not a test of President Hoover, but a test of the people. If they do not reelect the President, he said, they will be guilty of "suicidal folly."

Dr. Wilbur spoke scathingly of political opponents who have accused the President of thinking "only in terms of gold and bonds."

"Uncertainty," he said, "has cost us dear. Further uncertainty can cost us much more. On one side we have a working plan functioning effectively, on the other we have promises and no plan. Can we stand the shock of months of delay while a new man learns the greatest job on earth?

"Following a certain day in November, we will either discard a great, well-trained, seasoned leader who has kept us steady and true in the face of unparalleled difficulties, or we will, as I confidently expect, place again on these broad, able shoulders, the responsibility of steering our Nation through to new days of social advance, or domestic happiness and national security."

Maine Governor-Elect's Plurality Is Increased

Augusta, Me., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Louis J. Brann's lead over Burleigh Martin for governor jumped 805 votes today to a total of 2,388 on discovery of an error made by the secretary of state's department in tabulating State election returns from Calais in Washington County.

The Democratic governor-elect picked up the 805 votes as Martin, Republican, asked the secretary of state's department for permission to inspect all ballots cast September 12. Gov.-elect Brann came here today to arrange a time for the inspection.

HOOVER WILL SPEAK IN OHIO ON SATURDAY

conferees said the President probably will make this trip a swift one, returning to Washington almost immediately.

It has been announced by Republican leaders that Mr. Hoover will make at least one speech in the East, but the time and place have yet to be decided.

Carmi Thompson, who was accompanied to the Executive Mansion by a delegation of Ohioans, said he had reported to Mr. Hoover that political conditions in the Buckeye State now were more hopeful.

"Certainly there is a movement toward the President," Thompson said. "You can actually feel it. It has some way to go, but it is going."

Hall Will Seat 9,200.

The Cleveland Republican leader was accompanied by Carl Hanna, publisher of the Cleveland News, and Mrs. Hanna, George Kinney, Cleveland department store operator, and his daughter, Miss Jeanette Kinney, and Miss Mary K. Browne, nationally known golf and tennis star.

The auditorium chosen for the President's address, he explained, will seat about 9,200 persons, and can be expanded to hold 3,500 more. Such an enlargement, however, he said, would place the speaker's platform almost in the middle of the hall, with the President's back toward part of the audience. He said this space might be used merely for overflow crowds, along with the plaza surrounding it.

Thompson said it was the President's desire to arrive in Cleveland shortly before the time (8:30 p. m.) of his address, which will be nationally broadcast, and that no preapeech ceremonies had been planned.

The presidential party, probably including Mrs. Hoover, is expected to leave the National Capital late Friday night, and by slow stages work toward Cleveland. The trip normally could be made in twelve hours.

which he professed not to know. An adhesive bandage placed over his eyes was removed several times, he said, and he had opportunity to survey his surroundings and his three kidnapers, all of whom he said he could identify. He said he was treated well, but was not given food. His captors, he related, talked as if they were unemployed and without funds. He gave them his purse containing $4 and his watch.

LAWYER DENOUNCES U. S. BUREAUCRACY

Convention of Bankruptcy Referees Also Hears Attack on Hastings Bill.

Attacks on bureaucracy in government and the pending Hastings bankruptcy bill were made by various speakers at the opening yesterday of the seventh annual conference of the National Association of Referees in Bankruptcy at the Willard Hotel.

Use of public funds to support the continuance of "useless bureaus which once established can never be gotten rid of," was deplored by Sol Weiss, of New Orleans, president of the Commercial Law League of America, the foremost organization of lawyers in the country, next to the American Bar Association.

Giving a history of the greatest bureaus in Washington, Mr. Weiss showed that they began with an appropriation of not more than $20,000 and are now spending millions of dollars.

Denies Hastings Bill Favored.

The general impression that credit men are in favor of the Hastings bankruptcy bill was declared to be false by W. Randolph Montgomery, of New York, general counsel of the Association of Credit Men. Mr. Montgomery asserted that credit men are opposed to many features of the bill, although they have been reported to be wholeheartedly behind it.

The provision in the bill for administrators and examiners was attacked by Referee B. Loring Young, of Boston, as having the tendency to create "a vast and useless political machine."

Insertion in the bill of a brand new provision for amortization of debts by wage earners was favored by John A. Reilly, vice president of the Federal-American National Bank and Trust Co., of this city.

Hugh Wells, of Cleveland, manager of the adjustment bureau of the Cleveland Association of Credit Men, opposed any amendment to the bill which would deprive creditors of control of bankrupt estates.

Welcomed by Crosby.

United States District Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, of the Eastern District of Michigan, recommended elimination of the inactive clause amendment and a fresh start.

District Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby welcomed the referees in an address yesterday morning. The reponse was made by David M. Richman, of New Haven, Conn. Carl D. Friebolin, of Cleveland, president of the association, presided at the sessions.

Speakers at a luncheon were Judge Guy L. Fake, of the New York district; Prof. John Hanna, of Columbia University School of Law; Referee Fred J. Eden, of Washington, and Referee Oscar W. Erhorn, of New York. The meeting will continue today. The annual banquet will be held tonight.

CONVENTION HEARS ECONOMY ACT HIT

Married Worker Clause Is Attacked at Session of Women Lawyers.

Condemning the economy plan with regard to married Federal workers, Miss Florence Thatcher, of Baltimore, last night addressed more than 100 delegates to the twenty-sixth annual convention of the National Association of Women Lawyers which opened yesterday morning at the Dodge Hotel for a two-day session.

Miss Thatcher maintained there should be no discrimination of married women in industry. She based her talk on the recent economy act provision which declares that married persons should be the first to be let out when a reduction in personnel is necessary.

The morning session opened with an address of welcome by Katherine R. Pike, of Washington, past president of the organization. Mrs. Olive S. Gabriel, president, presided.

The afternoon session consisted of reports from the various committees on uniform State laws, comparative law, international law, banking legislation, American citizenship, criminal law, jurisprudence and law reform, and legal education.

Today will be taken up with business meetings and the convention will close tonight with a banquet at the Carlton Hotel, at which Miss Mary O'Toole, Juvenile Court judge of Washington, will act as toastmistress.

Republican Group Will Meet Tonight

Hoover-Curtis Club Will Be Host; Audience to Hear Coolidge.

The Hoover-Curtis Campaign Club will be host to members of other District Republican organizations at an old time rally-meeting at the National Capital Republican Club at Sixteenth street and Scott circle tonight.

An opportunity will be afforded those who attend to hear the speech of former President Coolidge by a special radio installation.

The organizations invited are the National Capital Republican Club, the Young Republicans, the Republican State committee and the League of Republican Women. E. F. Colladay will conduct the gathering.

Suburban Water Stories Praised

Takoma Park League to Push Expose Begun by The Post.

The Washington Post was praised for its series of articles on the water condition in suburban Maryland and its expose of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission in a resolution adopted at the first fall meeting of the Community League of Takoma Park, Md., held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Angier.

It was further voted to seek additional information regarding the use to be made of the $250,000 to be obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the event the loan sought is granted, and if it found that the funds are to be used to tap the Patuxent River for additional water supply the league will oppose the loan on the ground that such a source can not be adequate for long and the same process will have to be gone through again within a few years.

League members believe that the Potomac River offers a permanent solution to the quest for an all-time water supply for suburban Maryland, or that it might be best for the taxpayers of the suburban sanitary district to scrap the commission entirely and rely upon the District of Columbia for water and sewer facilities. Capt. C. Leonard Boyer, president of the league, presided.

Rabbi E. L. Israel To Address Forum

Community Center Will Open Educational Season.

Rabbi Edward L. Israel will officially open the educational season of the Jewish Community Center tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock when he addresses the round table forum of the center on "Our Changing Social Order."

Rabbi Israel is known as the "fighting rabbi of Baltimore," having been a champion of social justice in labor disputes and in the investigations of social conditions.

The occasion will be under the auspices of the educational committee of the center of which David Wiener is chairman. Louis Ottenburg will preside over the forum.

Mother Missing, Probe Is Started

Woman in Prince Georges Leaves Two Notes and Disappears.

A husband and four children last night awaited word from Mrs. Louise Miller, 42, who left her home in Chillum, Md., Saturday night and has not been heard of since.

In two notes, left addressed to her eldest children, the woman said she was going away for a long rest and it would be useless to search for her. She adjured the children to remember their motto, "Bear ye one another's burdens." The notes were found by Mrs. Miller's oldest child, Annie, 17, when she returned from a party Saturday.

Mrs. Miller is the wife of John A. Miller, member of a family prominent in Prince Georges County civic affairs. Her children are Annie, Albert, recipient of the other note, and Rosaline and Timmie. The case is being investigated by Deputy Sheriff Tom Garrison.

REED ANSWERS PRESIDENT

clared, "the farmer has had to buy in a market artificially held up at the war level by the tariff law and the combination behind it."

Pictures "False Prophet."

The Missourian was interrupted by cheers and applause as he pictured the President as a "false phophet" of recovery.

The crowd, set by coliseum officials at about 5,000, from all parts of Iowa and neighboring States, included Democratic party workers and leaders.

It was on the same platform that President Hoover last week opened his active campaign. Flags and bunting decked the large hall and the platform.

Earlier today, Mr. Reed took time out to answer the Republican statements that he, "an implacable foe of President Wilson," had been enrolled as Roosevelt spokesman.

Admitting that "Mr. Wilson and I disagreed on policies," Mr. Reed declared that he could not understand "why the party which fought Mr. Wilson throughout his administration should be whining about it now."

Glass Cited as Authority.

In his speech, Mr. Reed quoted Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, former Secretary of the Treasury, as the source of his information that the country "was never within $2,700,000,000 of the lawful suspension of gold payments."

Quoting from the sections of the President's address dealing with the gold standard peril, Reed said:

"The fact is that the drain upon our gold reserve was largely occasioned by the mismanagement of the Federal Reserve system, and also that the system has been greatly strengthened by the Democratic Glass-Steagall bill.

"But the astounding thing is that at the very time efforts are being made over the country to restore confidence in the financial system, Mr. Hoover is willing to spread false rumors about the Federal Reserve banks in an effort to win an election.

"Willful Perversion of Truth."

"His statement has done infinite harm and if credited will send a shiver of fear throughout the financial and industrial world."

He quoted newspaper headlines reporting lower market prices as an indication of the effect of the Hoover speech on stock and grain markets the following day.

Turning his attention to the tariff, Reed said Mr. Hoover charged that Gov. Roosevelt promises a reduction of farm tariffs and asserted that the Democrats will reduce agricultural tariffs after they come into power.

"I denounce the statement as a willful perversion of the truth," Reed said. "Gov Roosevelt has never said that he favors a reduction of tariffs on farm products which can be shipped into the United States."

He interpreted the views of the Democratic party as expressed in its platform and the statements of Gov. Roosevelt as holding that the Grundy tariff bill is too high, that it has brought retaliatory tariffs and destroyed the country's market abroad for both farm and manufactured products.

Hoover and "Pork Barrel."

"That is a very different thing from saying that the tariff against the importation of farm products should be taken off, a fact which Mr. Hoover and his advisers well knew when they prepared his false statement to be delivered in the agricultural belt of the country," Reed told his audience.

He said the Democratic party in both Houses of Congress had supported measures to bar competitive farm products and their substitutes, and expressed his personal belief that the farmer should have protection equivalent with that enjoyed by manufacturers on things he must buy.

Referring to what President Hoover termed "pork barrel" legislation and contended committed the Democratic party to the policy of creating an unsound currency and unstable financial situation, Reed declared that "it is enough to say that if the Garner bill is a 'pork barrel bill' then Mr. Hoover is in jard up to his eyes."

"Indeed, he is the responsible author for that kind of legislation," he asserted, recalling that "at a conference of governors in New Orleans in 1928 the President advocated adoption of a $3,000,000,000 public works program."

Prophecies Called False.

Senator Reed said the Garner bill "simply puts this proposal of Mr. Hoover into effect."

"For the man who was the author of these very schemes to now denounce those who carry them into effect is as unjustifiable as for a man to deny the paternity of his own child and turn against one who gave it protection.

"If I had any criticism to pass upon Jack Garner it would be that he ever even for a moment followed the lead of Herbert C. Hoover," he continued.

The opening sections of Reed's speech were devoted to picturing Hoover as a prophet. The former senator said the President in his Des Moines speech and elsewhere has told the people that he has plans to restore prosperity and that these plans will certainly work.

"It will be observed, however," Reed said, "that none of them can be demonstrated until after the election. What we are asked to accept, therefore, is Mr. Hoover's phophecies."

He quoted "prophecies" he said the President has made in the past and then recited statements from various sources as to their "fulfillment" which he said showed Mr. Hoover's unreliability as a prophet.

"Capitalistic Socialism."

"Surely the time has come when we should cease to place confidence in either the prophecies or the schemes of Mr. Hoover," Reed declared. "His predictions have come to naught."

"If he has accomplished anything, it is the establishment of a species of capitalistic Communism. I assert that it is as Communistic in principle to take the moneys from the people by taxation and loan it and the Government credit to assist great banks, trust companies, railroads and other large institutions, because they are in distress, as it would be to impound the national wealth to take care of the mass of men and women who also are in distress."

In referring to the body of Mr. Hoover's speech as a "series of incorrect statements and unjustifiable deductions," Reed added, "but there is one thread which runs through it all, namely, that it is the duty of the United States to sustain the financial structure of the world."

He declared this to be the natural view of a man "who has spent 23 years of his adult life abroad * * * who came here with a scheme to reduce the price of American farm products and who, without authority of law, carried his scheme into effect and thus laid the foundations for agricultural bankruptcy."

Reed invited the attention of his audience "to the picture of Mr. Hoover weeping over the misfortune of the American farmer," declaring the President never had been a farmer, "he had been a promoter of mines and mining stocks."

Democratic Senate Is Seen by Garner

Arrives in New York and Will Go On to Albany to See Roosevelt.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Voicing optimism for the election of a Democratic majority in Congress in addition to the national ticket, Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic vice presidential nominee, arrived in New York tonight.

"I think undoubtedly the next Senate will be Democratic," he said. "Of course, only one-third of the Senate membership is to be elected, and if there is a change of four or five, that will be about as much as you could expect. However, if you take five off one side and put five on the other, that makes quite a change."

The Speaker, here to confer with leaders of the Roosevelt-Garner campaign, plans to go to Albany within a day or two for a talk with Gov. Roosevelt. He said he was still undecided whether he would make a campaign tour.

ROBINSON ATTACKS PARTY CHANGE FEAR

Senator Labels G.O.P. Claim of Democratic Menace as "Utterly Untrue."

(Associated Press.)

Senator Robinson (Democrat), of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, yesterday said in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee that it is "utterly untrue to say 'things will be worse'," under a Democratic administration.

Mr. Robinson also termed as "absurd" and "dangerous" the administration contentions that this country came near going off the gold standard last winter.

"Granted that a serious situation existed—but not the disaster of which the President now speaks—it was a Democratic foresight, leadership and courage which pointed the way out," said the senator, adding that Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, led in enacting legislation to increase utility of the country's gold reserve.

"The very lack of leadership of the Hoover administration, of which this is an example, is sufficient answer to what is now almost the only Republican argument, namely that it would be dangerous to make a change," he said. "Danger can never come through the discharge of stupid and timid public servants.

"So desperate is the plight of the Hoover campaigners and spellbinders, from the President down, that they have thrown history, logic and facts to the wind in the effort to stem the Democratic sweep through the country.

"Secretary Mills, for instance, is making the assertion that 'things will be worse' if the Democrats are elected. This is old Republican strategy.

"It is utterly untrue to say that 'things will be worse.' The Republicans have had every opportunity to test their fallacious policies. The Nation, as a result, has gone through the worst period of depression it has ever known. Republican principles, carried to the extreme by President Hoover, have failed, and no bogey man the administration orators can picture will prevent the people from demanding a change."

Court Emphasizes Finality of Rulings

Highest Bench Refuses to Reconsider Five Cases It Had Settled.

(Associated Press.)

Demonstrating that it seldom changes its mind, the Supreme Court yesterday refused to reconsider five cases which it decided last term.

One was the decision sustaining laws of West Virginia under which companies outside the State were required to obtain licenses to send into West Virginia preparations in which they used ethyl alcohol under Federal permits.

The court let stand its decision in a land case from Kanawha County, W. Va., in which Mrs. Rose Cooke Morse lost.

Review was denied the Baltimore & Ohio and the Western Maryland railroads, of the refusal of District Judge William E. Baker, of the Federal Court for northern West Virginia, to sign papers which would have enabled the railroads to appeal a judgment the court had rendered in August, 1931, awarding $63,048 to A. Spates Brady, of Elkins, W. Va., in a case contending the railroads had unjustly discriminated against him in the distribution of cars.

VICTIMS AND IMPLEMENTS OF BANDIT GANG

With the stolen machine used by the "Black Shirt" gang in their raids in St. Marys County captured after a running gun fight, authorities are seeking fingerprint clues on the captured car. Upper—Judge George N. Cox, of Oxon Hill, with the car which was stolen from him last Tuesday night. Lower left—Private J. F. Norris and Corpl. W. V. Hunter, of the Maryland State Police, with articles found in the car, including a saw, a length of rubber hose, a black coat, a police night stick and a pair of District of Columbia tags stolen from a disabled auto. Right—Jennings E. Birch, assistant postmaster at Mechanicsville, who, with a woman companion, was among the first of the gang's victims. He narrowly escaped death, as the bullet hole in the rear window testifies.

TROOPS WILL RUSH MORO STRONGHOLD

Constabulary Chief Plans Assault After 42 Die in Encounters.

Jolo, Philippine Islands, Oct. 10 (A. P.).—With 42 men dead and many wounded after three clashes resulting from a Moro ambuscade of a Philippine constabulary detachment, preparations were made tonight for an assault on the Moro village of Tayungan as soon as the women and children there could be evacuated.

Announcement that 30 Moros had been killed in yesterday's fighting in addition to the twelve constabularymen who fell was made by Lieut. Col. Luther R. Stevens, constabulary commander for the Mindanao-Sulu District, who reached here at 6 o'clock tonight from Zamboanga to take command.

A punitive force already had been organized, and Col. Stevens ordered 10,000 rounds of rifle ammunition rushed here form Manila.

Scouting parties found the Moros entrenched at Tayungan. Col. Stevens ordered the punitive expedition held up until negotiations could be completed for the removal of noncombatants from the village.

The final assault, the officer said, probably would be made tomorrow.

COUNTY IN ARMS AGAINST RAIDERS

Countryside Is Alarmed.

The Maryland State police substation at Waldorf is flooded with calls from worried farmers and country storekeepers in isolated sections. Whether it is safe to venture onto highways after dark, or whether stores should remain open after nightfall, are only a few of the questions placed before police.

As yet police have been unable to obtain a clew to the identities of those involved in the midnight rides and attacks on innocent dwellers of this harassed little settlement.

A running gun battle between two State policemen and occupants of a fleeing car early yesterday, is the nearest so far to capture of the "Black Shirts."

Corpl. W. V. Hunter, and Policeman J. C. Gates were almost upon the fleeing machine when its two occupants suddenly leaped to the ground and fled into nearby woods.

The automobile in which they were traveling bore stolen District of Columbia license plates. The car was found to have been taken from Judge George N. Cox, of Oxen Hill. Judge Cox said his machine was stolen some time early Tuesday morning.

Like Maloy's car, the judge's automobile was parked near his home. When he had occasion to use it, it was missing.

Reginald Moran, of 624 A street northeast, appeared at the Waldorf Substation tonight and claimed the tags which were found in the judge's car. He reported that his automobile was in an accident Saturday while returning with a party from Chapel Point. One of the occupants of the car was injured and the car was left where the accident occurred. When Mr. Moran returned for his property the tags were missing.

Forces Are Marshaled.

A careful watch is being kept on a gang of young men who frequent the section around Helen, Md. If police suspect these men, they refuse to comment. Their actions tonight, however, are being checked to the greatest degree.

One of the first victims of the "Black Shirts" was Jennings E. Burch, assistant postmaster at Mechanicsville. Yesterday he showed this reporter his automobile, riddled with eight bullet holes. Members of the gang, he said, fired point-blank without warning, after his companion, Miss Merle Raley, also of Mechanicsville, had snatched the mask from the face of one of them.

Deputy Sheriff Smith this morning arrested a suspect he found walking along the road. The man, who said he is Sheridan A. Cook, of Welch, W. Va., was soon released after proving an alibi.

North Carolinian Gets Home Loan Bank Post

(Associated Press.)

O. K. LaRoque, of North Carolina, yesterday was appointed administrative assistant to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, succeeding A. R. Gardner, of Olympia, Wash., who will be transferred to other duties.

The board said LaRoque, who has been deputy State insurance commissioner for North Carolina, is to take over his new post immediatey.

Virginia Air School Lauded.

Williamsburg, Va., Oct. 10 (A.P.). Praise for the flying school of William and Mary College was expressed by Gen. William G. Mitchell, former chief of the United States Army Air Service, following an inspection trip over the field and through the equipment hangars.

COOLIDGE DECLARES G.O.P. CHANCES GOOD

Attends Kingsley's Funeral; Ready to Fire Campaign Barrage Tonight.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Calvin Coolidge, the same silent man of the White House, came to New York today on a twofold purpose.

No. 1, to attend as honorary pallbearer, the funeral of Darwin D. Kingsley, chairman of the board of New York Life.

No. 2, to touch off the G. O. P.'s major offensive in the East at Madison Square Garden rally tomorrow night.

On politics, the former President limited himself today to saying the Republican chances "are very good."

But tomorrow night, his address will be one of the party's primary appeals for the reelection of Hoover and Curtis.

The Garden seats but 22,000 and the national committee was looking today for a nearby auditorium to hold the overflow crowd.

Second Political Speech.

This will be Coolidge's second address on politics since he left the White House and, unless the present plans are changed, will be his only public-speaking appearance in the campaign.

Two men who appeared to be Secret Service operatives acompanied Coolidge to New York. From the Grand Central Station, he went at once to his hotel.

Within a few hours, another Republican leader hurried into town, also for the Kingsley funeral—Secretary of State Stimson.

Stimson in New York.

Before the funeral, the Cabinet member held several conferences at the Republican headquarters. At the services at St. Bartholomew's Church on Park avenue, Stimson chatted for a few minutes with the former President.

The Madison Square Garden program will be augmented by the appearance of William J. ("Fighting Bill") Donovan, the nominee for Governor of New York.

Inasmuch as the national committee has not decided as yet whether President Hoover will speak in New York, this rally is regarded by party leaders as the chief bid for the electoral votes of the Empire State.

Highway From Virginia To South America Seen

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 10.—F. M. McCubbins, of the Piedmont Highway Association, here on a business trip, brings news that there are good prospects of Route No. 29 being extended as far south as Laredo, Tex., on the Mexican border. There it would hook up with a highway running to the City of Mexico. From the latter place a highway is being built to encircle South America.

The future of No. 29 as a great trunk highway, he said, is as bright as any on the Western Hemisphere.

Mr. McCubbins brought assurance from the Alabama State Highway Department that No. 29 stretches in that State would be constructed speedily, the money having already been allocated.

Women Voters to Nominate.

Meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of the Chairman, Mrs. Marion Hagen, at Ballston, Va., the nominating committee of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County will prepare the slate of officers to be elected. The election will be held at the November meeting.

STATE RESTS CASE IN SWEAT-BOX TRIAL

Trusty Testifies He Invented Suicide Story to Shield Prison Guard.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The State rested its case tonight in the murder trial of two former prison camp guards for the sweat box death of Arthur Maillefert, after presentation of testimony today by a trusty who asserted that a suicide theory of the youth's death had been invented by him for the protection and with the sanction of Capt. George Courson, one of the defendants.

Al Weaver, a convict at the camp when Maillefert died, was the last State witness. He, like other convict witnesses who had preceded him during the past week, told of alleged brutalities at the camp. A recess until tomorrow was ordered after the State closed its case.

Judge George C. Gibbs allowed the testimony regarding the suicide theory to stand over vigorous defense objection, as applied to Courson, but instructed the jury not to consider it in connection with the case of Solomon Higginbotham, the other defendant.

Bob Blake, who was head trusty at the Sunbeam Camp at the time the Westfield, N. J., youth was found strangled to death in the little wooden structure with a chain around his neck and wooden stocks on his feet, testified also that he had seen Courson beat Maillefert with a heavy rubber hose.

Whipping Is Illegal.

Whipping of prisoners is illegal in Florida, the sweat box having been substituted as a means of punishment.

Receipt of threatening letters by the judge and a defense attorney was announced as the second week of the trial opened.

Fuller Warren, attorney for Higginbotham, said he had received two such letters. One from Pittsburgh dated October 7, said:

"Lay off the Higginbotham-Courson case otherwise this will be your last case. We know your record. You got one good beating from us."

The signature was scratched out and illegible.

Worked During Strike.

Warren said the only "beating" he ever got was administered by four men in 1921 while he was working as a steward in New Orleans on the steamship Comus during a seamen's strike.

The second letter, signed "E. C. O.," said the writer had been selected by the "Imperial Society of Revenge" to seek vengeance on the defendants in the case, and would see the attorney in Jacksonville soon.

The letter received by the judge was not made public. Warren said he understood it threatened the defendants and not the court. Judge Gibbs advised the lawyer to turn the letters over to Federal authorities.

Two prisoner-witnesses in the case, who sawed their way out of the county jail last night, remained at liberty despite a widespread search. Cleo Drew, serving 15 years, had already testified, and James Wofford, serving 33 years, remained to be called.

70 Maryland Children Go to School by Boat

Solomons Island, Md., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—About 70 boys and girls of this Chesspeake Bay fishing town enjoy the water even to using it to get to school.

Instead of sending the children by buses to Prince Frederick—a trip of 3 miles, sometimes impassible in winter and bad weather—the school board has chartered a glass-inclosed motor launch to carry them to school—a mile distant by water. This community claims to be the only place east of the Mississippi that uses water transportation in connection with its consolidated school system.

Roosevelt's Tariff Ideas Denounced

Littlepage Attributes Them to Ignorance or Low Opinion of Hearers.

At a meeting of the full State committee of the local Republican organization last night at the National Capital Republican Club, Thomas P. Littlepage, Washington lawyer, scathingly denounced the policies of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, contending that the published versions of the Democrat's recent Western campaign speeches displayed "either ignorance of the subjects in question or an unflattering opinion of the mentalities of his audiences."

Mr. Littlepage referred to the recent speech of Roosevelt at Seattle, one of the States most affected by imports from Japan, a nation of cheap labor and low manufacturing costs, in direct competition with American-made products and labor. He also quoted one of the leading manufacturers of rubber goods in Akron, Ohio, to the effect that 6,000 former employes of his plant are now jobless, due largely to the ruinous competitive advantage enjoyed by Japanese manufactures of rubber goods.

"Japanese labor," stated Mr. Littlepage, "works for approximately 6 cents a day. Not only rubber goods, but also dress goods and finished clothing, including the finest of women's silk pongee wear, rugs and a multitude of other articles are being dumped upon this Nation daily, not only from Japan, but also many European countries. This state of affairs imperils every manufacturing center of this country, as well as the farmer. Despite this situation, Mr. Roosevelt, were he elected President and able to control Congress, would call a special session of that body to revise tariffs downward."

Natural Bridge Forest Director Is Appointed

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Appointment of Allen R. Cochran, formerly of New Hampshire and a native of Arlington, W. Va., to take charge of the Pedlar Ranger District of Natural Bridge National Forest, was announced here today by H. M. Sears, forest supervisor. He will have headquarters at Buena Vista, replacing W. L. Maule, who is on furlough to attend Yale Forest School.

Mr. Cochran is a graduate of Idaho Forest School and of Yale University. He has been located in charge of ranger districts in Washington and Oregon and in the Twin Mountain District of White Mountain National Forest, near Littleton, N. H., where he was located during the past two years.

BAYONETS AND TEAR GAS ROUT STRIKERS

Guardsmen Escort Workers to Pits, but Picketers in Illinois Rush Gates.

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Protesting members of the newly formed Progressive Miners Union were routed by tear gas and bayonets of militiamen today when they attempted to halt operations in the coal pits of the Taylorville area.

A half dozen skirmishes were reported when a number of mines that had been idle for several weeks due to union strife resumed operations. In each instance strikers were driven away and members of the United Mine Workers of America, who have accepted a reduced $5 a day basic wage scale, proceeded with their work.

The trouble began this morning when several hundred strikers gathered before the homes here of miners working at the reduced scale. National Guardsmen escorted the miners to work, but the picketers soon rushed the mine gates.

The troops resorted to tear gas in dispersing the strikers before the employed men's homes, and at the mines threatened to employ their bayonets.

Guardsmen also were on duty in Canton, scene last week of violence and intimidation. Two mines were reopened and plans made for reopening of others this week.

District Dry Chief Leads Rum Raids

Blandford Arrests 3 and Seizes Alcohol When Cars Are Stopped.

District Prohibition Administrator W. R. Blandford last night personally led two sallies against rumrunners. Six and a half gallons of alcohol, three arrests and two cars were the results of the right's work.

The first catch netted five gallons of alcohol when two men were caught in front of 621 Quebec place northwest as they drove up with their cargo, intent on delivering to a nearby customer, agents said. They were booked on possession charges as Frank Hart, 23, and William Foster, 25, of Baltimore.

The second sally brought William Hewitt, 23, of Staunton, Va., into the First Precinct station for investigation. The raiders said they caught Hewitt with a can of alcohol in a machine parked in Fourteenth street northwest.

Rev. W. W. Staley, 83, Of Suffolk, Succumbs

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The Rev. William W. Staley, D. D., aged 83, of Suffolk, beloved for generations throughout eastern Virginia and North Carolina, one of the founders of Elon College, North Carolina, and long a leader in the Christian Church, died yesterday at Virginia Beach, after an illness of about a week.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Christian Church in Suffolk tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Staley had served the church as pastor and pastor-emeritus for 50 years, lacking a few weeks.

Rumors of Cotton "Leak" Continue

Market Action Is Cited in Claims Forecast Was Learned Early.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 10 (U.P.).—Rumors persisted tonight in cotton circles that there had been a "leak" in what the Government's crop forecast would be. The force of the rumor was increased by the fact that cotton dropped 35 points before the report was made yesterday and only 21 points after it was made known.

E. F. Creekmore, vice president and general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, termed the rumor "ridiculous." He said, however, his own organization's forecast, based on figures compiled by the organization, had been telephoned Friday night to cotton interests in many parts of the country.

This estimate forecast a crop of 11,400,000 bales compared to the Government's estimate of 11,425,000 bales. Creekmore vigorously denied that his organization had been the source of the alleged "leak" on the Government figures.

Moss' Successor Brings Speculation

Anne Arundel Interested in Who Will Be Named Circuit Judge.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 10.—Considerable interest is manifest in political circles and otherwise in Anne Arundel County as to the naming of a successor to Circuit Judge Robert Moss, whose term expires December 1. The appointment rests with Gov. Ritchie, who has not indicated who his choice will be from a field of several who have been mentioned. The judgeship is an elective office, but the next general election will not be until November, 1934. The appointee would serve until then.

For some time it has been rumored that Judge Moss might be permitted to remain on the bench until he reaches the retirement age of 70, which will be next May, but it is understood the governor plans to fill the vacancy by December 1 and probably will announce the appointment before the coming election. The appointee will, of course, be a Democrat.

State's Attorney Nicholas H. Green is the only avowed candidate in the field. He declared himself a few months ago and a petition signed by many citizens has been filed in his behalf. Others mentioned include State's Attorney A. Theodore Brady, said to have the backing of Frank S. Revell, recognized party leader, and others of his followers, and Eugene P. Childs.

Gale Aids Virginia Apple Prospects

Misfortune to Nova Scotia Growers Are Expected to Boost Exports.

(Associated Press.)

Misfortune to Nova Scotian apple growers is expected by the Commerce Department to improve the British market for Shenandoah Valley and other American fruit.

The foodstuffs division said yesterday that half of the million-barrel Nova Scotian apple crop was blown from the trees by recent gales and that 10 per cent of the fruit remaining was damaged.

American fruit exports to the United Kingdom average more than $12,000,000 in value annually, in spite of Canadian, Australian and New Zealand competition. Fruit from the three dominions enter duty free while the American product is taxed 10 per cent ad valorem.

Canadian apple receipts taper off in March and in April Australian and New Zealand fruit comes on the market, offering season-end competition to the American product.

POLICE GO UNNEEDED IN SCOTTSBORO CASE

Red Riot Fails to Develop; Mrs. Mooney Is Among Crowd at Capitol.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Scottsboro case, an international bombshell of radical appeal, was argued dispassionately for two hours yesterday before the highest court in the land, while combined precautions of Metropolitan and Capitol police went unneeded.

A detail of 115 policemen guarded Capitol Plaza and approaches to the Supreme Court against rumored Red demonstrations. They failed to materialize.

The hearing, second only to the Mooney case in volatile possibilities, passed off with even more than the usual degree of Supreme Court decorum. In a packed chamber, not a whisper disturbed the calm presentation of State and defense positions.

The case involves seven colored youths condemned to death in Alabama for alleged assaults on two white women on a freight train out of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Charge Unfair Trial.

Denying allegations, Walter H. Pollak, of New York, representing the defendants, charged unfair trial. His clients, he claimed, are being deprived of life and liberty without due process of law. They were tried, he said, "under circumstances of mob domination."

Attorney General Thomas E. Knight, jr., of Alabama, represented the State. He contended the Negroes were not unjustly discriminated against; that they were granted a fair and impartial trial. He said the courts of Alabama had "no apologies to make."

Mrs. Mary Mooney, mother of the California labor leader now serving time for alleged connection with the San Francisco Preparedness Day explosion, was among the spectators gathered in the narrow chamber.

Nearly half of those present were colored. Neil Burkinshaw, former assistant district attorney, who was associated with Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds in investigating recent communistic activities, attended. In the crowd were past and present members of the Alabama congressional delegation, including former Senator Heflin.

Plaza Cleared of Cars.

Outside the Capitol, Inspector Albert J. Headley, with a force of 25 men, cleared the plaza of parked cars and vainly waited a demonstration. His policemen reinforced some 90 Capitol officers under Capt. Stephen J. Gnash, stationed in and out of the building. In the corridor approach to the Supreme Court a long line of persons waiting to gain entrance was kept under close surveillance.

Last spring, when the court announced it would review the case, 50 policemen, armed with tear gas and riot guns, stood outside. Then, as yesterday, no demonstration developed. Although no specific Red threats have been received, a bombardment of Communistic propaganda, urging the court to release the men, was kept up all summer.

Pollak, presenting the case of the Negroes yesterday, argued a change of venue should have been granted, citing inflammatory newspaper articles and the calling out of the State National Guard as evidence of "mob domination." He said all Negroes were kept off the jury and the right to question jurors on whether they entertained racial prejudice was denied his clients.

Says Evidence Is Lacking.

Attorney General Knight contended the militia was called out only as a precautionary measure; that no act of mob violence threatened, warranting change of venue; that newspaper articles urged a fair trial. He said there is no evidence due process of law was denied.

Both lawyers related circumstances leading up to the alleged assault, which followed a pitched battle between white and colored youths on a speeding gondola car en route from Tennessee into Alabama. All but one of the white boys were allegedly thrown off. A deputy sheriff removed the Negroes and the two white women at Paint Rock, Ark.

The court yesterday acted on approximately 180 cases. About 35 were held on the docket to be ruled on later.

Supreme Court Refuses To Review Oil Leases

(Associated Press).

The Supreme Court yesterday refused to review the contention of the Pan American Petroleum Co. that three leases granted it in naval petroleum reserve No. 1 in California were legal.

By direction of Congress, court proceedings were undertaken by the Government to cancel the blanket lease on No. 1 reserve, made by former Secretary Fall. The proceedings were based on the allegedly corrupt payment of $100,000 to Fall by Edward L. Doheny, who then controlled the Pan American Petroleum Co.

The blanket lease was canceled, and later the Government began proceedings to cancel other leases held by the same company.

Pointing out that Doheny had sold all his stock holdings in it and had parted with control, the Pan American Company contested, asserting Congress had given implied approval to these leases because it had not included them in the resolution denouncing leases made by Fall.

John R. Neal obtained permission from the Supreme Court to file a petition asking that a Federal court in Tennessee be directed to hear a plea for an injunction against the State redistricting law.

Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin were granted permission by the court to file a complaint charging that Illinois and Chicago Sanitary District were violating the decree of the court in the Lake Michigan diversion cases.

Illinois and the sanitary district were given until November 7 to file a reply showing why appropriate steps should not be taken to effect compliance with the court's decree.

Mrs. Hoover to Repeat Her Girl Scout Speech

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Herbert Hoover's recent address before a group of Girl Scout leaders at Virginia Beach, Va., failed to be broadcast because of technical difficulties, so Thursday night at 6:15 o'clock she will repeat it over a Nation-wide hookup.

White House aids announced yesterday that Girl Scout leaders had persuaded Mrs. Hoover to rebroadcast a condensation of her address.

Atlanta and Railroad Fight For War Hero Locomotive

N. C. & L. Claims Ownership of Texas, Which Outran General, Another Doughty Engine, in Famous Exploit of 1862.

Atlanta, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The hoary Texas, a chubby little locomotive that helped postpone collapse of the Confederacy by outrunning a stolen train, has been drafted into another war—a war of words.

The City of Atlanta and the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad are arguing over its ownership while the pudgy old engine stands in the gloom of a basement and crumbles gradually from the rust and the dust of years.

It was in April of 1862 that the Texas ran down the General, an engine which was stolen by Federal spies, and kept rail connections open between Georgia and Tennessee. The N., C. & St. L. later took the General, shined her brass, painted her bigheaded smokestack and gave her place of honor in a station at Chattanooga. The Texas came to Atlanta, however, and was stored in the basement of a park building.

And now the railroad wants the Texas, to dress her up and stand her in a station here. But the city won't part with the relic. Henry Ford asked for it, to be used in his museum, but he couldn't get it, either.

The railroad contends that when it leased the tracks over which the Texas and General raced it came into possession of the locomotives. Atlanta answered that the Texas was given to the city by a former owner of the railroad. They can't reach an agreement and the engine is the loser.

It's not much engine as locomotives go. A dumpy little thing with two drive wheels on each side, an awkward cow catcher, a merry bell, a wood-burning firebox, the Texas is good for nothing now except to entertain folks who like to look at such things.

There was a time, however, when a nation—a new nation that didn't live long—put its faith in the steam that the Texas generated. Union spies stole the General and its cars when the train crew and passengers stopped at Big Shanty, Ga., for breakfast. It was a dismal day and one of the boldest incidents of any war. To the north was Chattanooga, where the Federals were driving a wedge into the South.

The spies knew that if they got through the Confederate lines and wrecked the railroad it would cut their enemies away from their supplies. So they stole the train and headed north.

Their chances were slim. Conductor W. A. Fuller of the General missed his train and started in pursuit on a handcar. The Federals tore up a few rails and wrecked him. They cut telegraph wires and apparently were in the clear. They bluffed their way through towns with stories that they were running ammunition to the Confederate forces.

Fuller eventually got a freight engine and followed to Kingston, where he found the Texas, puffing on a siding. He commandeered the engine and tore after the General. His train was running backwards. His crew was forced to repair tracks as he sped along. They crossed burning bridges, fired by the fleeing spies.

The General's steam got low and there was not time left to refuel, so the locomotive wheezed to a stop and the spies took to the woods. Fuller's men captured them when they were within walking distance of their goal. Many were shot as spies.

The Texas clearly outran the General—pride of the line—on that day.

Dr. Cumming to Speak To Maryland Doctors

Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, chief of the U. S. Public Health Service, will address the semiannual meeting of the Maryland State Medical Society today at the Manor Club, near Norbeck, Md. Dr. J. Lloyd Johnson, professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. Eldridge E. Wolff, president, will also speak.

The address of welcome will be by Dr. Dexter M. Bullard, of Rockville. Dr. Claude W. Mitchell, of Silver Spring, is county delegate. The local committee in charge is Dr. J. W. Bird. Dr. H. H. Howlett, president of the Montgomery society, and Dr. Bullard.

Review of Dr. Dunne's Damage Appeal Denied

The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday denied review of the appeal of Dr. Anna Bartsch Dunne, who claimed damages of $53,576 from the Maryland State Roads Commission for what she alleged was unconstitutional seizure of her property in Montgomery County, Md.

The land involved was at Georgia avenue and Colesville pike and was in connection with the widening of the Colesville pike. Dr. Dune alleged damage to the property and to the trees and shrubbery. She was prominent in the news when she moved into a tent on the land to protect her rights of ownership in another dispute.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE MISSING

Police Hunt for Dr. Baker, Who Resigned as Head of W. & J.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 10 (U.P.).—Dr. Simon S. Baker, former president of Washington and Jefferson College, was missing from his home here today. He left about 10 a. m. and suddenly afterward was reported seen in Highland Park a few blocks away. Later no trace of him could be found, according to Michael J. Feeney, of the Missing Persons Bureau. Feeney said a special detail of police had been ordered to search.

Failure of Dr. Baker to keep appointments caused relatives to become alarmed and report his disappearance. His wife and a brother-in-law, J. C. McNulty, were aiding in the search.

Dr. Baker resigned as president of Washington and Jefferson May 31, 1931, after students went on a strike in protest against his administration. They charged his curtailment of athletics and the restrictions which they said he placed on school and social activities were detrimental to the college.

Granddaughter Is Born To Owen D. Youngs

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Josephine Case, wife of Everett Case and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen D. Young, gave birth to a daughter at the Polyclinic Hospital today.

Dr. Ross McPherson, the attending physician, said mother and child were doing well.

Appeal on $2 Auto Fine Balked by Highest Court

(Associated Press.)

Bruce B. Johnson, of Los Angeles, yesterday lost before the Supreme Court his claim that a judge's verdict sentencing him to one day in jail if he failed to pay a $2 fine for overtime parking was discrimination against the poor. The court refused to review the case, upholding the alternative sentence imposed on the Californian.

Johnson's plea that he had no money to pay the fine and that in consequence the sentence was unjust to a poor man who would be forced to go to prison, if even for only one day, while a man with funds could pay the small fine and go his way.

Previously Johnson presented the case to other California courts, who were not impressed by his reasoning.

Byrnes Announces Plans To Force U. S. Mergers

(Associated Press.)

Senator Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, announced in a statement through the Democratic national committee yesterday that he had requested a meeting of the Senate economy committee immediately after the election to draft legislation for consolidation of Government activities which he said the President has "failed to touch."

Byrnes said power was granted the President in the last economy bill to abolish bureaus, conditional on approval by Congress, and that the President "stated he would immediately" make the consolidations, but has failed to act.

PARAGUAY CLAIMS VICTORIES IN CHACO

Capture of Fort Ramirez and Fort Corrales Is Reported.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The army general staff announced today that Paraguayan forces operating in the Gran Chaco had captured Fort Ramirez and Fort Corrales from the Bolivians.

Fort Ramirez is about 10 miles southeast of Fort Boqueron, which the Paraguayans captured after heavy fighting recently. Corrales is a Paraguayan fort which the Bolivians took last August. The communique read:

"The enemy fled from Ramirez toward Acre, leaving food supplies, uniforms and munitions. A maneuver near Yukra enabled the annihilitation of the Bolivian force. Seven officers were among the prisoners. Our men, after a brief action, reoccupied Fort Corrales without losses."

La Paz, Bolivia, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—An army communique today said there had been repeated skirmishes in the Gran Chaco with Paraguayan forces, that the Bolivians lost four men and the enemy more. Fifteen members of a Paraguayan patrol of 60 men were killed, the announcement said.

Democratic Tariff Plan Rapped in Doak Speech

Gary, Ind., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Secretary of Labor William N. Doak told an audience of steel company workers here tonight their livelihood would be endangered under tariff laws such as are proposed by the Democratic party.

Doak outlined a program of signing tariff treaties with every country, which he said Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has sponsored. He charged the program would be both "unconstitutional and unworkable."

Rumrunner Wins High Court Review

Captain of Captured British Boat Holds Coast Guard Act Illegal.

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court agreed yesterday to consider the Coast Guard's right to stop a British rumrunner more than an hour's sailing time from shore but less than 12 miles off the coast.

The court decided to review an appeal by Frank Cook, of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, from a decision of the First Circuit Court of Appeals upholding the Coast Guard's right to board his vessel, the Mazel Tov. The ship, of British registry, was boarded by the Coast Guard 11½ miles off the Massachusetts coast, November 1, 1930, and taken into Rhode Island when liquor was found aboard.

The Government instituted proceedings to confiscate the boat and cargo, but Cook claimed the ship's seizure was in violation of a treaty with Great Britain because its speed was between 9 and 10 knots an hour, and it was therefore more than an hour's sailing distance out.

$450,000,000 U.S. Issue Oversubscribed 18-Fold

(Associated Press.)

The Treasury Department announced last night that an aggregate of $8,368,000,000 was subscribed to the recent offering of $450,000,000 of 3 per cent Treasury notes maturing April 15, 1937.

Of these subscriptions $313,162,000 represented exchange subscriptions, in payment for which Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing on October 15 were tendered. Such exchange subscriptions were allotted in full, the Treasury said.

RIDE 'EM, COWBOY
"Nature in the Raw"—as expressed in the famous rodeo cry; inspired by the picture in the July issue of the National Geographic Magazine taken at the Ski Hi Stampede, Monte Vista, Colorado. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

PATIENCE IS URGED IN ARMS MEETING

Undersecretary Castle Cites Difficulties Involved in 60-Nation Parley.

(Associated Press.)

Americans who have been disappointed at disarmament progress at Geneva were urged last night by William R. Castle, jr., Undersecretary of State, to be patient and bear in mind the complexities of the problem.

"We must not forget, for example," said Mr. Castle in a radio address, "that international conferences do not legislate—as do parliaments—by majority vote. To move forward requires unanimous consent. Among free nations no other principle is conceivable."

The Undersecretary reviewed the Washington and London conferences of 1921-1922 and 1930, which resulted in naval reductions on the part of five great powers, and said the Geneva Disarmament Conference is much more complex, with 60 nations present and defense problems of land, sea and air involved.

Formation Called Solid.

The agreement of the Geneva Conference to base its future negotiations on President Hoover's proposal for a reduction of approximately one-third in all armaments, Mr. Castle said, put the delegates on a firm foundation.

He commended the decisions to prohibit air attacks against civilians, to limit the caliber of offensive guns and to restrict the size of tanks as forward steps which will rob war of some of its terrors.

Mr. Castle expressed hopefulness that the conversations now going on between British and American experts in London to devise a scheme for further limitation of naval armaments will have a successful outcome. He said the Bureau of Conference, consisting of representatives of twenty nations, is preparing for the general meeting to be held next January by drafting new plans for the reduction of land forces.

Difficulties Are Stressed.

"We must not, of course, close our eyes to the difficulties, so far as progress in disarmament is concerned, inherent in the present troubled political and economic situation throughout the world," Mr. Castle continued.

"Where men or nations are frightened or discouraged, they do not think as clearly. We can only hope that all nations will realize that this reduction in useless expenditure for armament will be a long step toward economic recovery which will in turn let the sunlight of confidence break through the clouds of depression and suspicion."

Mr. Castle said each reduction by voluntary agreement is a fresh incentive for further cuts and brings nations nearer the goal of a world in which armaments have been reduced to the standards of a police force.

Embezzling $5,000 Charged to Woman

Former Newport News Bank Employe Arrested on Return to City.

Newport News, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. J. E. Thomas, 28, former employe of the Citizens and Marine Bank, was free on bail today awaiting preliminary hearing on a charge of embezzling nearly $5,000 from that institution. She was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Detective Capt. J. M. Peach, acting on instructions of the Commonwealth's attorney. Bail was fixed at $2,500 for her appearance in police justice court October 18.

The alleged defalcations were said by police to extend over a period of about a year. Beginning several months before the merger of the bank with the Jefferson Bank, also here. Police allege false entries were made and that records were destroyed to cover up the shortage.

Mrs. Thomas had been in the employ of the bank about two years, and gave up her position last July. She returned here from Windsor, N. C., Saturday night.

Common-Law Wife Wins Fight for Share in Estate

Santa Barbara, Calif., Oct. 10 (A.P.). A jury deliberating 45 minutes after a lengthy trial today reached a verdict that Mrs. Jessica Kingsland Canfield was the widow of Byron H. Canfield, chain newspaper publisher, and that Canfield at the time of his death was a resident of Seattle, Wash.

The verdict was in the fight of Mrs. Canfield, common law wife, for a widow's share in the estate of the publisher, variously estimated at from a revenue of $50,000 a year to a gross value of $2,000,000. A will recorded for probate by the two sisters and a brother of the publisher did not name Mrs. Canfield as a legatee. Attorneys said the verdict would make the estate distributable under the laws of Washington by which full title of the estate would go to her.

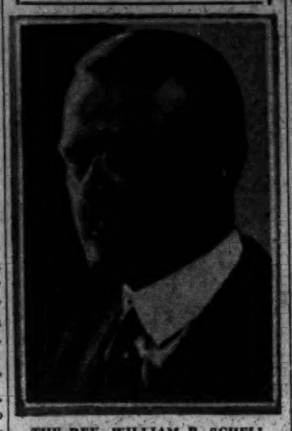
McAlester, Okla., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Striking coal miners were buoyed in spirit today by the signing of a contract with the Mullen Mining Co. to operate the Julian Mine near here with 50 union men. The situation was quiet, with few pickets on duty and no demonstrations.

MAKES TALK



THE REV. WILLIAM P. SCHELL, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, who spoke last night at a supper meeting for the men of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, given at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo.

Radio Will Launch Drive of Y. M. C. A.

Hoover's Founder's Day Message to Start Effort for 600 Recruits.

A round-the-world short-wave radio broadcast of a Y. M. C. A. Founders Day message from President Hoover will serve today as a starting signal for an intensive drive here to extend Y. M. C. A. membership to 600 additional men and boys.

Members of the Washington Radio Club will join with the American Radio Relay League in transmitting to every civilized land the presidential greeting. The message pays tribute to Sir George Williams, founder of the Y. M. C. A., who was born 111 years ago today, and praises Y. M. C. A. principles of "unselfish application of spiritual insight, devoted industry and warm good will toward one's fellow men."

As the anniversary message is being put on the air by code and voice over local and out-of-town amateur stations, the special "founders' memorial" campaign organization will assemble at 6:15 o'clock today at the Central Y. M. C. A. for an inaugural rally that will launch a week-long drive. John L. Vandegrift, assistant vice president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., chairman of the campaign, will preside. Dr. A. C. Christie, president of the Y. M. C. A., and L. W. DeGast, general secretary, will speak.

LONDON OPTIMISTIC OVER ARMS OUTLOOK

Davis Is Laying Groundwork of Impending World Trade Parley.

London, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The presence in London this week of the Premier of France and an important American Statesman foreshadows important developments in the problem of world disarmament.

Premier Herriott is coming here Thursday for a heart-to-heart talk with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon on the whole range of Anglo-French relations.

Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference, already is in London and is starting a series of conferences with officials of the British government.

One of the tasks confronting Mr. MacDonald is to determine whether a conference of four or five powers concerning Germany's demand for arms equality can be held in London or elsewhere.

Mr. Davis will explore the possibilities of reconciling President Hoover's proposals for a general arms cut of about one-third with the viewpoint of the British. In the background he will lay ground work for American participation in the impending world economic conference. Sir Walter Layton, one of Britain's leading economists, has arranged to discuss the economic situation with him tomorrow.

Premier Herriot is expected to bring to London the new French disarmament plan, and thus the American, British and French schemes will present a dovetailing problem to the great powers represented here.

British officials do not expect the conversations between M. Herriot and the prime minister to develop into larger negotiations calling for participation by an American observer, but it is understood American good offices will be available if there is any opportunity for smoothing the Anglo-French path, or for taking any step toward the goal of getting Germany back into the Geneva disarmament parleys.

The government emphatically denied today that Great Britain had pledged herself to support Germany's demand for arms equality. A report to that effect has been printed under a Geneva date line by a London newspaper.

U. S. Court to Review Florida Chain-Store Act

(Associated Press.)

The appeal of the Louis K. Liggett Co. and a number of others, challenging the validity of the Florida chain store act, was granted a review yesterday by the Supreme Court.

Under Florida law, graduated taxes are imposed for opening and maintaining stores in that State.

B. E. F. LEADER RAPS PRESIDENT AND AIDS

Hoke Smith Tells Group in Hagerstown That Hurley "Must Have Lied."

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—President Hoover, Attorney General Mitchell and Secretary of War Hurley were the target of an attack launched by Capt. Hoke Smith, national field commander in charge of personnel and organization of the bonus expeditionary force, in an address before a gathering of about 200 here today.

During his speech, which was arranged for by an advance guard of the bonus organization from its headquarters in Uniontown, Pa., the commander said his committee will attempt to get an audience with President Hoover Thursday morning, when the members will ask the Chief Executive to give their organization official recognition and insist that he recommend legislation for immediate payment of the bonus.

Declaring the B. E. F. is unequivocally opposed to President Hoover on his bonus stand, Smith commended the Mitchell report of the bonus army evacuation, and added that Secretary Hurley "must have lied" when he said in his American Legion speech that the the bonus army tents at Anacostia were burned by veterans, because the Secretary's immediate subordinate in Washington had said the tents were burned under Army orders.

If Attorney General Mitchell's statement in his report that there were a good many criminals among those who were in the Washington bonus camp when the evacuation was negotiated is true, Smith said, then Mitchell is guilty of negligence of duty because he didn't have the criminals arrested.

Again, if Mitchell's statement regarding the criminals is true, Smith declared, the carrying out of the proposal that the Government furnish the funds to transport any of the veterans 50 miles out of Washington would have made the Attorney General an accessory after the fact because it would have constituted the crime of aiding criminals to go from one State to another.

Smith asserted that the Bonus Expeditionary Force will be expanded to every State in the Union, and that groups will be set up in every section of the country. He said that he proposes to aid in the establishment of a State B. E. F. group in Maryland.

Wendel Will Hearing Deferred.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Because of the Jewish holiday, Surrogate James A. Foley today adjourned until October 19 the hearing on the claim of twelve persons to fifth-degree relationship to the late Ella V. von E. Wendel, multimillionaire Fifth avenue recluse. At the request of counsel for William R. and James F. Dew, of Beckley, W. Va., who claim fourth degree relationship, the court postponed their hearings until October 26.

Foreign News in Brief

Londonderry, Ireland, Oct. 10 (A.P.). Determination among the Ulster Nationalists to boycott a visit by the Prince of Wales for the opening of the Northern Parliament was voiced today in a council meeting here. The proposal to invite the prince was bitterly opposed, but adopted by a vote strictly along party lines.

London, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Viscount Byng of Vimy, who retired as chief of Scotland Yard last year, was promoted today to the rank of field marshal, succeeding the late Viscount Plumer, who died last July.

Nanking, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—China's most important holiday, the twenty-first birthday anniversary of the establishment of the republic, was not observed today. A government order said, "The Manchurian crisis necessitates giving attention to the national salvation instead of to fun and amusement." It was the first time in the republic's history that the day was not celebrated.

Paris, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Edward Tuck, a native of New Hampshire who has made his home in Paris since 1890, today was made an honorary citizen of this city at a ceremony at the City Hall attended by notables from both countries. Gen. Pershing and J. P. Marriner, charge d'affaires of the American Embassy; Gabriel Hanotaux, former foreign minister, and Mme. Jusserand, widow of his friend the late ambassador, were present.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Partial demobilization of federal troops which engaged in the recent operations against Sao Paulo's rebels is under way. The Federal authorities also are preparing to release 6,000 prisoners of war, detaining only officers pending investigation of their part in the hostilities.

London, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, today left the hospital, where he was under treatment for paratyphoid. They carried him out to his automobile on a stretcher, but he smiled broadly and waved a big cigar as he told the doctor he was feeling very much better.

Brest, France, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The Belgian steamer Scheldestad sank today in a storm 240 miles off Bordeaux. The crew were rescued by the Cunard liner Lancastria.

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 10 (A.P.). Will Rogers stopped here today on the way to Buenos Aires by airplane.

Athens, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—President Zaimis of Greece addressed a letter to the leaders of the political parties today appealing to their patriotism to form a coalition cabinet, made up from all parties except the Communists. Such action, he said, was the only means of solving the financial crisis of the country and inspiring confidence abroad. Similar governments were formed twice before, in 1877 and in 1926.

Leigh, Lancashire, England, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Nineteen mine workers were drowned at the Plank colliery near here today when an elevator cage carrying a number of workers fell to the bottom of the mine shaft. The coal fell into a sump hole at the bottom which was full of water.

Tokyo, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Li Ho-Sho, the Korean who recently was convicted of an attempt to bomb the carriage of Emperor Hirhohito last January 3, was executed today at Ichigaya Prison. Mention of the method of execution used was forbidden.

Shanghai, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Douglas Fairbanks, American motion picture actor, arrived here today from Japan for a month's tour of China. He will participate in the China amateur golf championship tournament here October 15 and 16.

Changchun, Manchuria, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Gen. Ting Shih-Yuan has been named as the special representative to the League of Nations by Henry Pu-Yi, head of the Manchukuo government, it was learned today. He will leave soon for Geneva, taking with him messages of friendship from Mr. Pu-Yi to Pope Pius XI, President von Hindenburg of Germany, Premier Mussolini and other notables in Europe.

Nice, France, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Nearly one-third of Nice was flooded today, and $600,000 damage done to property, by a rainstorm which lasted 13 hours. One woman was seriously injured and traffic was paralyzed. Roofs of expensive villas at Cimiez were blown off and the old monastery there was partially crushed by a landslide.

Football Player Killed And Five Others Hurt

Richmond, Va., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—One member of the Benedictine High School Football Team was killed and five others are in a hospital receiving treatment for injuries sustained this morning when the automobile in which they were riding overturned at a street intersection. Witnesses said the accident was caused by an effort to avoid a collision with another automobile.

Jack Brannan, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. Brannan, sophomore half back on the Benedictine team, was the youth killed. Those injured are: Henry Orman Daneker, 17; Walter Joseph Dozier, 14; Freddie H. Duggan, 18; Emmett Gresset, 19, and Leonard C. Priddy, 18. All were reported suffering from head injuries.

Mrs. John W. Garrett Ill Of Bronchial Influenza

Baltimore, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Bronchial influenza, contracted en route from Italy to her home here, has compelled Mrs. John W. Garrett, wife of the United States Ambassador to Italy, to cancel all engagements for the next few weeks.

Her condition, her secretary said, has improved slightly since she and her husband arrived home Friday. Mrs. Garrett was active in the Republican presidential campaign of 1928.

BONUS SITE'S DONOR ORDERS GROUP OUT

Says She Has Been Told Six Remaining at Waterbury Made Liquor.

Waterbury, Md., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Next Sunday will be the last day that the six members of the bonus army who have been maintaining their quarters on the site here donated by Mrs. Mary Egdell, of Catonsville, will be allowed to stay.

Mrs. Egdell declared today that the men have not been "living up to their agreement," and that she has given them a 10-day notice, which expires next Sunday, to vacate the place.

"Those men haven't been doing right," Mrs. Egdell said. "I understand they have been making stuff to drink down there for one thing."

The men were supposed to cut and sell wood from the forest surrounding the site, and yesterday one of the leaders said no wood had been sold. The men contended that the agreement was not satisfactory because it did not make clear what profit they would get.

Wayland Kerns, who formerly was leader of the veterans on the site, but who resigned, today praised Mrs. Egdell for her action. He said he left the camp when the other members began to "doubt the integrity" of Mrs. Egdell.

"Those fellows ran off the place some other veterans who wanted to share in the project," he said. "I finally left and told them that they could go ahead if they wanted to under the same agreement. But they weren't satisfied.

"When Mrs. Egdell finally sought the advice of her attorney, it was at my suggestion. If the fellows down there at Waterbury had done the right thing by Mrs. Egdell, who did everything for them, they could still be here. But they had to run it their own way.

"Mrs. Egdell even went so far as to spend at least $300 more or less to equip the camp for the men. Even so, those men wouldn't show any gratitude."

Two famous companies collaborate on a Heating Masterpiece

The ARCO-PETRO

A JOINT PRODUCTION OF The American Radiator Company and Petroleum Heat and Power Company

EVERYWHERE home-owners are talking about this latest triumph in automatic heat!

From city after city come reports of the extraordinary interest aroused by the announcement of the Arco-Petro.

For this burner-boiler and hot water heating unit is backed by the biggest names in the heating industry.

Into it is built the fifty years of experience of the American Radiator Company, largest manufacturers in the world of home-heating systems . . . and the twenty-nine years of experience of the Petroleum Heat & Power Company, largest manufacturers in the world of automatic heating equipment.

Tested under actual operating conditions

No heating device ever passed more rigid tests. Not merely in the laboratory, but out in the field.

In actual use. Far from the careful, watchful eyes of engineers. Subject to the tender mercy of people who know little of mechanics and less of the science of combustion.

In hundreds of homes, from coast to coast. With steam, hot water, and vapor systems. With all kinds and character of fuel oils; with all grades of manufactured and natural gas. For three long, arduous U. S. and Canadian winters!

That's how we know the Arco-Petro will work perfectly for you. Give you the same utter freedom from cellar drudgery. Provide the same miraculously even heat day in and day out.

Supply you with all the hot water you will ever use. And astonish you month after month with the ridiculously small amount of fuel it consumes!

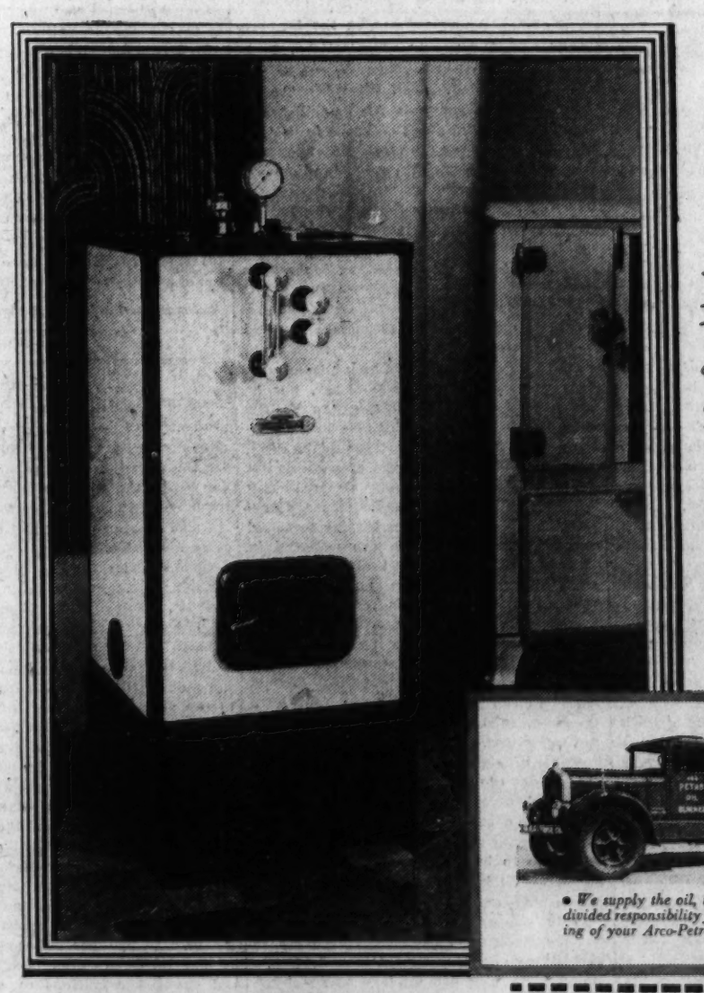
Pay for it out of what it saves you

This low fuel consumption is your opportunity . . . your chance to obtain perfected automatic heat at astonishingly little cost.

For the savings are phenomenal, running from ⅓ to ½ less than any previous figures. And since the purchase price may be spread in monthly installments over a period of years, you may expect the Arco-Petro to just about pay for itself out of what it saves you.

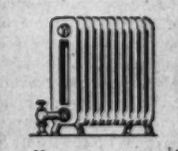
Write for detailed information. Or, call at the nearest Arco-Petro showroom. But act at once. Don't let another winter pass without taking advantage of this unparalleled opportunity.

• The first automatic oil burner ever sold for residential use was a Petro-Nokol and was installed in an American Radiator boiler in the Detroit home shown at the left. Since then more than a hundred thousand other American homes have been equipped with this same make of burner. If for any reason you find it advisable or perhaps necessary for the time being to keep your present boiler, you may still enjoy the benefits of automatic heat merely by equipping it with a Petro-Nokol. Prices are attractively low; write for them.



• All admire its beautiful pastel shades and trim appearance. Mechanism sealed and concealed. See your local Petro-Nokol dealer or your own heating contractor.

• Abundant hot water, summer as well as winter.



• No more turning on and off of radiator valves. The heat is controlled automatically.

• We supply the oil, too, thus providing undivided responsibility for the proper functioning of your Arco-Petro and the fuel it burns.

THE INSULL CASE.

Investigation into the bankruptcy of the great Insull corporations in Illinois has led to the indictment of Samuel and Martin Insull. Samuel Insull was arrested yesterday at Athens, Greece, and Martin Insull is out on bail in Canada. The brothers are fighting against extradition.

An extradition treaty between the United States and Greece has been ratified, but the ratifications have not been exchanged. According to the text the pact is to be effective when ratifications have been exchanged. The Greek government might waive this technicality and deliver Insull to the American authorities, or it may deport him to Italy, where he sojourned before going to Athens. Under the Italo-American treaty he could be extradited.

The flight of Samuel Insull, first to Paris and then suddenly from Paris to Italy and Greece, is a strong indication that he hoped to avoid compulsory appearance in Chicago. He has stated that he gave up all his personal fortune to save his companies and is now penniless except for an annuity of $18,000. Overextension, pyramiding of securities of one company upon another, and other excesses are charged to the Insulls. Doubtless the shrinkage of business during the depression precipitated the collapse of the gigantic system of utilities over which the Insulls held sway.

One of the sinister features of this debacle is the discovery that individuals in Chicago warned Samuel Insull that he was liable to be extradited. It is even asserted that large sums were cabled to him after his indictment. The Federal and State authorities are engaged in a thorough overhauling of the Insull case, and on every hand it is expected that sensational disclosures will be made.

MANCHUKUO IN REVOLT.

Japan has once more taken up arms to conquer Manchuria. Several months ago the Japanese completely subdued these Chinese provinces. Then, according to the Japanese version, the liberated people of Manchuria set up an independent government and negotiated a protective alliance with Japan. Now "bandits" have overrun the new state, and Japan considers it necessary to exterminate them.

It must be extremely embarrassing to Japan to have its stolen child indulge in such conduct just when the League of Nations is contemplating the legitimacy of its birth. The "liberated" people of Manchuria are so grateful to their benefactor that they have revolted in every section that is beyond the reach of a bayonet. Barga has now seceded. The new government of Manchukuo has lost through revolts more than half of the territory conquered by the Japanese military. In fact, only the well-guarded cities and the lines of communication remain within the control of the puppet government. Hence, another conquest of "liberation" is necessary.

Tokyo regards these uprisings as villainous outbreaks of banditry. But most of the 30,000 insurgents in the field against the Manchukuo regime are natives fighting against the subjugation of their country by a foreign foe. They are not strong enough to clash with the Japanese army, but they may be expected to continue their guerrilla warfare until the Japanese regime is withdrawn or until Japan sends a sufficient force to Manchuria to crush every vestige of resistance.

Japan has launched a widespread campaign against the so-called rebels. While pretending in Geneva that she is only befriending a government established by the Manchurian people, Japan is forced to demonstrate her militaristic domination of the Pu-Yi regime. It is evident to the whole world that the Manchukuo government would collapse if the Japanese military strength should be withdrawn. The "bandit" drive is not even undertaken in the name of the puppet state, but is directly in the hands of the Japanese army.

This second conquest of Manchuria may point to the denouement of this difficult international problem. Japan will not be able to uphold the Manchukuo government without supporting a considerable army in that region. The Chinese will doubtless carry on irregular warfare so long as they know that world opinion runs against Japan. Tokyo officials, or more likely the tax-burdened people of Japan, may be forced to a decision that the Manchukuo adventure costs more than it is worth. In that event, there would be an upheaval in Japan, and control over Manchuria would doubtless be relinquished.

It may not be necessary for the League of Nations to take aggressive action. Supported by world opinion, China will continue to foment disorder and rebellion in the new state, even if the controversy does not flare into open war between China and Japan. The cost of this incessant guerrilla warfare will ultimately break Japan's hold or disrupt the empire by a revolt against the killing burden.

SENATOR REED'S SPEECH.

Those who relish "vitriolic" speeches will read with gusto former Senator James A. Reed's attack upon President Hoover, delivered last night in the same auditorium at Des Moines where Mr. Hoover spoke on October 4. The Missourian repeated in considerable detail his version of Mr. Hoover's career as it had been told by Mr. Reed in the Senate. Senator Reed had been attacking President Wilson, as well as Mr. Hoover, and his assaults upon Mr. Hoover as Food Administrator and head of the war food-supply system were regarded as criticisms of President Wilson, under whom Mr. Hoover worked.

The history of the handling of American foodstuffs during the war was threshed out several times, in Congress and out. Senator Reed has always believed that Mr. Hoover so managed the food exports as to favor Great Britain and other allies, at the expense of the American farmer. This opinion was not shared by the Senate when it confirmed the nomination of Mr. Hoover as Secretary of Commerce, first by President Harding and next by President Coolidge.

The charge that the farmer's plight at present is due to Mr. Hoover's injustice to them during the World War is a novel campaign argument. Why it did not defeat Mr. Hoover in 1928 is explained only on the theory that the farmers did not believe the charge. He carried the great agricultural States after Senator Reed had denounced his conduct of food supply during the war.

Mr. Reed makes the point that President Hoover has advocated adjustment of the farm output to domestic needs except as to such quantities as the farmers can sell abroad with profit. This, in Mr. Reed's opinion, is an effort to "starve the farmer," but it is the policy advocated by many farm organizations, and is the rule followed by all industries. Unless goods can be sold at a profit they will not be produced by practical men.

The peroration of Senator Reed's speech is an appeal for a change, on the ground of the utter failure of the Hoover administration and its unfriendliness to agriculture. No one can frame an appeal of this kind more expertly than the splendid orator of Missouri. If the western farmers are determined to make a change, in spite of anything that can be said in Mr. Hoover's behalf, their case is set forth by Mr. Reed as well as it could be stated. But if they credit Mr. Hoover with making a heroic fight for the country's welfare, and believe that he has adopted the right methods of overcoming adversity, they will be apt to look upon Senator Reed's speech as merely a fine piece of "vitriolic" campaign oratory.

MANY FARM PROBLEMS.

If Gov. Roosevelt's farm relief proposals must await agreement among the farmers, their leaders or their organizations, as to means of practical application, succor will be long delayed. Following his Topeka speech the Governor said that he had studied the various relief plans proposed in the last few years, such as the McNary-Haugen bill, the export debenture proposal, the domestic allotment plan and others, and during the last few months had conferred with leaders of the Farm Bureau, the Farmers' Union, the Grange and other agricultural organizations and heads of outstanding cooperative marketing agencies; and yet, with all this examination of the subject, he was not prepared to present a single concrete proposal for farm relief.

Gov. Roosevelt charges Republicans with lack of sympathy for the farmer, but he doubtless has discovered that the various farm interests and organizations hold widely divergent views as to what should be done. The dairymen and the grain growers do not agree, cattlemen are equally sincere in advocating still another plan. These differences in viewpoint, due to varying sectional and production interests, are reflected in Congress, with the result that there is universal disagreement. The agricultural committee of the House has never been able to agree on a farm program, and the split has never been along partisan lines. The nearest to agreement in this committee at the last session was to report out three distinct bills. In the previous Congress four were proposed, each sponsored by a fraction of the committee.

The problem of agricultural relief throughout the United States, with its vast area and diversified interests, is far too great to be encompassed in a single measure. It is common sense that the specific needs will have to be considered separately. In general farm interests will benefit most by the resumption of activity in all industries. The hopelessness of finding one comprehensive measure to relieve all branches of agriculture has been amply demonstrated. No such panacea can ever be agreed upon by farmers, and no legislation could make it practical if they did.

GOLD AND THE TARIFF.

Gold movements have become a center of political controversy. The proof offered by President Hoover in his address at Des Moines that the American tariff has not resulted in draining the gold of Europe into the United States has brought forth frantic efforts on the part of Democratic spokesmen to defend their position. Their concern is not difficult to understand, because the most sharply defined issue in the campaign hangs upon this point.

The Democrats assert that the Smoot-Hawley act is, in large measure, the cause of the depression. When pressed for an explanation as to how that act, which affects only a small percentage of the world's business, could bring about such far-reaching calamity, Democratic spokesmen reply something like this: The tariff shut out foreign goods from our markets and forced other nations to pay their debts to the American people in gold. This drained the gold from Europe, and forced many nations off the gold standard. That is the foremost Democratic explanation of how the 1930 tariff act is supposed to have caused the world-wide tempest which began one year before that act was passed.

But President Hoover points out that the gold of Europe has increased in total every year since the Smoot-Hawley act was passed. At present Europe has $1,500,000,000 more gold than she had when the existing duties became effective. President Hoover might have added that the United States has lost $335,000,000 gold since that time. Here is conclusive proof that the gold of Europe was not drained into this country by the tariff or any other cause.

What is the Democratic answer to this set of facts? Spokesmen for that party are forced to admit that Europe has acquired more gold and the United States has lost gold under the Smoot-Hawley law. But, they say, the gold that Europe has acquired has not been evenly distributed. Most of the increase has gone to France, the Netherlands and Switzerland, while Great Britain, Denmark, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and other countries have been forced off the gold standard for want of the yellow metal. Here, then, is the measure of the gold argument against the Smoot-Hawley tariff. It is blamed for taking gold away from Britain, Denmark, &c., and piling it up in France.

If any further evidence is necessary to demolish the assumption that the American tariff pushed foreign nations off the gold standard, it may be found in the actual trade statistics since the tariff act became effective. In 1929 this country had a favorable trade balance amounting to $841,634,000. That balance was reduced to only $176,000,000 in the fiscal year that closed last June. So far as international trade is concerned the American pull on the world's gold supply has decreased by $665,000,000 under the Smoot-Hawley act.

The mere fact that the value of exports slightly exceeds that of imports does not mean that Uncle Sam is drawing the gold of other nations into this country. American tourists spend hundreds of millions abroad and immigrants send large sums to their relatives in foreign lands. Shortly after the depression began this country did acquire an abnormal amount of gold because foreigners thought the United States was the safest place in the world for their capital. At present the United States does not have an abnormal supply of gold, calculated on the shafe of the world's business which is done in this country.

Gov. Roosevelt may well be alarmed at the collapse of his argument that the tariff act of 1930 "started such a drain on the gold reserves of the principal commercial countries as to force practically all of them off the gold standard."

The most disappointing thing in the campaign thus far is the way in which Speaker Garner has fallen down on his promise to "grapple" with President Hoover.

There is still some question as to the identity of the "forgotten man", but it is definitely settled that the "forgotten issue" is the League of Nations.

Professors are crediting people who can laugh at their own mistakes with extra marks of intelligence, but no lame ducks have applied.

The so-called raid on the American dollar in Europe brings up the image of children smiting an anvil with feathers.

CORN HUSKING

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Many persons still are living in the corn-productive Ohio and Miami Valleys who will remember with a glow of reminiscent pleasure the corn shuckings of another day, of a day before the automobile and modern good roads made it possible for folk of the country side to hie to town and the movies and other amusements.

Opportunities for the pleasure of social contact were fewer in those days, and the annual husking bee, when friends and neighbors gathered for a period of useful festival, was regarded as an event of cheer and importance. The golden or white ears were denuded of their natural wrappings to the accompaniment of mirth and music of that sort which set the heels of lads and lassies a tapping in antipication of hilarious hours to follow. And, if some one found a pink or variegated ear—well, that was equivalent to catching one's sweetheart "under the mistletoe," and there were kisses and kicks (mostly artificial gestures), and everybody was happy—especially when cider gurgled from the jug and important youngsters passed the apples and other good things provided for the occasion.

Still, though those days are gone and we have surrendered to the imperative demands and changed conditions of newer generations, the spirit of the corn shucking survives, survives in the rivalry of Strephonic champions, who labor for a prize of more material substance than a kiss or the commendations of neighbors. The press reports inform us that the national corn husking contest will soon be held on a 55-acre farm near Galva, Ill., where the best "shucker" of 1932 will be crowned with bright autumn's diadem—incidentally receiving the purse to be awarded for superior prowess in bucolic endeavor.

Nine States, among which Ohio is one, have entered this al fresco tournament, and let us hope that the Buckeye champion will be able to make his "husky" competitors look like the proverbial 30 cents. Ohio is dry, and corn can be manufactured into whisky, but even Uncle Andy Volstead scarcely can object to our ambition to win the corn shucking championship of this great and glorious Nation.

It would be interesting to hear one of the fervid orators who attribute all the decline in foreign trade to Messrs Smoot and Hawley honestly admit the percentage loss in values due to lower prices, plus the universal business decrease due to the depression, and then find a balance due to the tariff.

Dicky Child, chairman of the Republicans-for-Roosevelt, says the Governor's election will restore and reorganize the Republican party. If so he and Senator Norris, et al., will still be on the outside.

It looks like a close race for the New York mayoralty. Let's see, who are the candidates?

Gov. Roosevelt selected Jim Reed to speak for him in Iowa. It would tax even the former senator's eloquence to elucidate the Governor's for-and-against position on the League of Nations, his four-way farm policy and the bonus vacuum.

MILITARISTIC MIX-UP.

Maj. H. Reynolds, of London, was registered on a liner's passenger list, says the Boston Transcript. The purser, running over the names, assigned to the same stateroom a husky stockman of Panhandle, Tex. The cattleman protested to the captain. "Look here, Cap, I can't travel in the same stateroom with that there Maj. Reynolds. I can't and I won't. Far as that goes, neither of us likes the idea."

"What objection have you to an Army officer as a traveling companion?" the captain asked.

"None, generally," said the Texan, "only this happens to be the Salvation Army. That major's other name is Henrietta."

The Greatest Aid to Virtue Is Still the Switch Behind the Clock

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE only motive that actuates the ordinary human being is self-interest. Trace the noblest of motives to its beginning and you find the hope of personal benefit.

Altruism always has something up its sleeve; the martyr sees pearly gates opening to receive him; the unselfish enjoy unselfishness; the self-sacrificing hero hopes for praise or finds reward in his own approval; and the humblest saints surrender all in the hope of a greater reward in heaven.

But if self-interest prompts men to pursue personal gain, it is also the greatest of restraining forces. It restrains men by teaching them to fear the law, to fear public opinion and to fear punishment in a future life.

These three fears are the chief supports of virtue and decency. Take away any one of them and men run amuck.

Do people now obey the law as they did when they feared it? Does the small-town man behave as well in a city where he isn't known? Do soldiers in a foreign land mind their p's and q's as they did in their native villages? Do people conform to accepted standards of morality when money or power makes them immune to the sting of gossip?

You know they do not. When self-interest no longer inspires fear of the law or the neighbors, two-thirds of virtue's support is gone.

Do you think the effect is less when the fear of God is removed?

The Russian says there is no God. And in Russia no farmer dare leave a tree of ripe fruit or a stack of hay unguarded at night. No traveler dare close his eyes at night unless his bags are tied to his wrists. And on the crowded trains and boats, berths are shared by men and women who are strangers.

A nation without religion is a nation delivered to the lusts of the flesh.

Americans no longer respect religion as they once did, but it would be hard to find one among them who is wholly convinced that man is like the cattle without hope of immortality. Many may scoff and doubt, but some fear of an uncertain future restrains them still.

If the present trend continues and that fear is wholly overcome, this nation will have seen the last virtue.

Perhaps the ultimate perfect man will love righteousness for its own sake; but ordinary mortals do right because they fear to do wrong, and to take away their fear of God would be to give them license to run wild.

The world has yet to produce a mortal who would always do right if wrong cost him nothing.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

"Al" on the Road.
New York Times.

Out of a good deal of good news that has come their way the Democrats have had none better than consent of former Gov. Smith to make speeches in behalf of the Democratic ticket in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey; and just before the election, when they will count most, three speeches in his own State. Especially in New England, where the feeling for him is almost idolatrous in its fervor, is his aid most needed. Particularly in Massachusetts has the irritation at the result of the Chicago convention been deep and subtle. It may be that even he will not succeed in overcoming it or reconcile his worshipers to a ticket from which his name is absent. At least nobody else can rouse so much enthusiasm among the Bay State Democrats.

Huey Long, Counsellor.
Cincinnati Star-Times.

The South has had and still has some fine representatives in the Senate of the United States. But it is somewhat disturbing to think of John Sharp Williams dead in Mississippi while Huey Long, the sole master of Louisiana and spreading his dominion over neighboring States, holds the largest bloc of votes at the Capitol controled by any one man and counts on being one of the inner counselors of the next administration if Roosevelt is elected.

A Bum Boom.
Los Angeles Times.

When the president of the Chamber of Commerce was asked recently how the depression had hit Los Angeles, he is reported to have said: "Depression? We have no depression. But I will admit this is the worst boom in many years." He is a true son-of-a-Sunkist!

"Born Unto Trouble."
Kansas City Times.

Gov. Roosevelt, back home, with the Tammany difficulties ahead, must agree with Eliphaz, the Tamanite, in the book of Job, that "man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward." Also perhaps he gets the point of Henry J. Allen's story, told at the Kansas Club's dinner in 1930:

A farmer on his death bed refused to make a will because he was certain his children would agree on a fair division of the estate. Within a fortnight after his death they were in violent quarrels, until they were not on speaking terms. A son met the family lawyer on the street and told him the sad story, ending with, "Sometimes I almost wish father hadn't died."

Sometimes the governor must almost wish he hadn't been made the presidential nominee.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Allaying Dust While Drilling Rock—Work of Federal Bureaus.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In mentioning the dust-allaying device for rock-drills in New York, Frances Perkins, State industrial commissioner, in The Washington Post for October 8, omitted to mention the years of investigation into the hazards of dust in mines and certain trades made by the United States Bureau of Mines and Public Health Service. These studies included the effect of silica dust in metal mines and coal dust on coal miners, the effect of asbestos on millworkers, and the effect of granite dust on cutters. They involved the inspection of mines and plants, and the physical examination of thousands of men, including X-ray pictures to show to what extent the men were affected. A number of useful reports have been published and are available at low price. (Reference could also be made to the many years of work on silica dust in gold mines, done by operators in Transvaal, South America. The work of the Federal Government on silicosis in the United States has been and is of considerable importance and practical benefit to those concerned—workers and their families, employing firms, and insurance companies. Does Not Believe That Living Costs Have Dropped 20 Per Cent.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read an article in The Post of October 7, in which the statement occurs that living costs have dropped 20 per cent below predepression levels, while Government wages have been cut only 8 1-3 per cent. I believe this statement to be grossly inaccurate, and unfair to the Federal employes residing in this city.

We all know that 8 1-3 per cent is the minimum cut in Government wages, and that many pay checks have been trimmed 16 2-3 per cent, with prospects of further slashes before the end of the fiscal year. The reduction in living costs can not, of course, be exactly measured, but with rents, coal, gas, lights, milk, laundry and taxes either unchanged or only slightly lowered, I fail to see how the total reduction can be 20 per cent, or even half that amount.

In justice to the Government workers of this city, I think that your paper should correct the figures above quoted. F. W. HERRON.

Democrat Says Change at This Time Would Be "Poor Business and Harder Times."

To the Editor of The Post Sir: I am as a rule a Democrat, but shall vote for Hoover, and do all I can for his reelection, as thousands of other honest Democrats will do.

I can not see how a Republican of good sense can vote the Democratic ticket next November. He must see that a change at this time would mean poor business and harder times than we have gone through the last few years.

Any Republican so shortsighted as to change his vote in November to a candidate who knows nothing about Government affairs is beyond my comprehension.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DEMOCRAT.

Identifies Speaker Garner as the Forgotten Man, Who Does Not Speak.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Who said that the Democratic party did not know its onions? In past campaigns it has been the exception rather than the rule for the party leaders not to make some blunders, but the fact that Mr. Garner has thus far not been given any speaking assignment is proof positive that the party leaders are functioning 100 per cent on all six cylinders in this campaign. The "forgotten man" has been identified.

If this high degree of foresight is maintained until November 8, and the Democrats are successful, who knows but that history may record the achievement as being due to the Speaker who can not speak. T. P. W.

Pulling Out of the Valley of Despair. Why Replace Locomotive With Donkey Engine?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We are now definitely on the up grade. Why should we replace the locomotive that is pulling us out of the valley of despair with a wobbly donkey engine that has so recently shown itself unable to stay on a straight track?

THINGS.

We build our hopes on this and that and spend our time and strength for things.
We want the chair with golden rungs to own the touch of pride it brings.
We must have all the modern gear, the newest clocks, the latest books,
Brass ornaments beside the hearth!
For service? Not at all! For looks!

Things crack the whip about our ears and drive us at our fast pace.
We wear the bit of luxury; the bridle
rein of silk and lace,
The saddle of possession's urge; our flanks the spur fashion stings
And day by day and week by week we all obey the whim of things.

Things fair to see or good to own, things made for use or loveliness,
Have come to be the rule by which we measure failure and success.
In things of silver and of gold and marble of exquisite shape Mankind has found a slavery, which none of us can quite escape.

HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY CIRCLES

Secretary Stimson To Return Today To Capital.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE AND MRS. HENRY L. STIMSON will return to Washington today from their home, Highhold, on Long Island, where they passed the week-end.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin were the luncheon guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Sloane at their home near Warrenton, Va. Mrs. Chapin recently arrived from Detroit to pass a short time in Washington. She will return to her home in Detroit to close their home and will then come to the Capital to spend the remainder of the winter in the house they have leased at 1627 New Hampshire avenue.

The United States Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. Frederic M. Sackett have arrived in Washington and will be at the Mayflower during the time they are in the Capital. Mrs. Sackett will make a visit to Louisville, Ky., but the Ambassador's plans at the present time are rather indefinite concerning a visit there. Just prior to sailing for the United States they were at Geneva.

Former Senator and Mrs. Guy D. Goff, who have been at the Mayflower for the past week, will leave today for their former home in Clarksburg, W. Va. They will probably return to Washington later in the month.

Foreign Attaches Hosts. To Col. R. C. Foy.

The foreign military attaches gave a luncheon at the Carlton Hotel yesterday in honor of Col. R. C. Foy, who has been relieved of his duties as foreign liaison officer at the War Department to take command of the First Regiment of Field Artillery at Fort Sill, Okla. Gen. Pillon, the French military attache, thanked Col. Foy for the courtesy he always showed in his relations with the military attaches. Gen. Pillon also welcomed Col. Charles Burnett, the new liaison officer.

Besides Col. A. T. Smith, assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, and Maj. D. Johnson, of G-3, the following attended the luncheon: Brig. Gen. Francisco J. Aguilar, of Mexico; Col. Shizuichi Tanaka, of Japan; Lieut. Col. Marco Pehaaroli, of Italy; Maj. Emmanuel Lombard and Maj. Georges Thenault, of France; Maj. Fiennes, Capt. Joaquin Planell Riera, of Spain; Capt. Gustaf-Frederik von Rosen, of Sweden; Capt. P. St. D. B. Lejeune, of Great Britain; Capt. Enrique A. Prieto, of Cuba; Capt. Takashi Aoki, of Japan, and Lieut. Emilio Calderon Puig, of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Duncan McKenney will close their country home at Kensington, Md., today, and will move to the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. George Maurice Morris entertained at dinner last evening in her home on Kalorama Circle for the wives of the executive officers of the American Bar Association. After dinner, Miss Marion Chace and Mr. Lester Schafer gave a dance recital.

Mr. Flannery to Entertain For Bar Association.

Mr. John Spalding Flannery has issued invitations for a tea tomorrow afternoon at 6 o'clock at his home, 2411 California street, in honor of the members of the American Bar Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cooke have issued invitations for a tea tomorrow afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock, at their home on Wyoming avenue, in honor of the members of the American Bar Association.

Mrs. Celeste Crosby Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar T. Crosby, Warrenton, Va., went to New York Sunday to spend two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown Scandrett, of Cornwell, N. Y., are at the Shoreham. Mr. Scandrett is a nephew of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Sloan of New York City are at the Carlton for one week, Mr. Sloan having come on to attend the meeting of the American Bar Association.

Others at the Carlton for the American Bar Association meeting include Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Denison, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Huxley, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Stewart, of Newark, N. J.

Mr. Hogan Dinner Host To American Bar Head.

Mr. Frank J. Hogan, president of the Bar Association of the District of Columbia, entertained at dinner last night in his Massachusetts avenue residence in honor of Mr. Guy A. Thompson, of Missouri, the president of the American Bar Association. In addition to the guest of honor, those present were Mr. John H. Voorhees, treasurer; Mr. William P. METHODISTS MAKE NEW APPOINTMENTS

Alexandria District Divided Between Baltimore and Washington.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Oct. 10.—After 220 ministers had been appointed to pastorates for the fiscal year 1932-33, the 148th annual Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, with Bishop W. F. McMurry, of Fayette, Mo., presiding, adjourned here this afternoon. It had been in session since Wednesday.

No place of the 1933 meeting was selected and the bishop will name a committee this winter to decide on a conference city.

Bishop McMurry announced the Alexandria district had been divided between Washington and Baltimore districts, lowering the divisions of the conference to seven.

The Rev. Dr. J. H. Balthis, former presiding elder of the Alexandria district, was assigned a pastorate at Woodstock, Va., with the acquisition of the Alexandria district churches. The Washington and Baltimore districts are now the largest of the conference with 39 and 38 churches, respectively.

This was the first time in years that the districting of the conference has been changed, but Bishop McMurry intimated in his closing address that if he had charge of the conference next year, the number of districts might be reduced to six.

The outstanding change of the pastoral retinue was the transfer of the Rev. W. A. Shelton, of Mount Vernon Place Southern Methodist Church, Washington, D. C., to the North Georgia Conference, and the reception of the Rev. Dr. Fordney Hutchinson, of Oklahoma City, Okla., for the pastorate at Mount Vernon Place. Until Dr. Hutchinson arrives, the Rev. Dr. N. B. Harmon, editor of the Baltimore Southern Methodist Magazine, will be acting pastor of Mount Vernon Place Church, Dr. Shelton's tenure of office having ended today, the presiding bishop said.

Among the official appointments:

Washington District, the Rev. Dr. J. Howard Wells, presiding elder; Alexandria, Washington Street, E. W. Aaron; Delray, E. V. Register; Ballston, P. C. Helmintoller, jr., Beltsville-Branchville, T. Swecker; Warrenton, Glenn J. Cooper.

Washington, D. C., Calvary, D. A. Beery; Emory, J. J. Rives; Epworth, J. C. Copenhaver; J. T. Myers, missionary to Japan; Francis Asbury, E. C. Beery; Marvin, A. E. Owens; Mount Rainier, H. P. Baker; Mount Vernon Place, Forney Hutchinson, with N. B. Harmon, jr., in charge until arrival of Dr. Hutchinson; St. Paul, W. W. McIntyre; executive secretary, board of education, H. H. Sherman; superintendent of Home for Aged, Gaithersburg, Md., H. M. Wilson; missionary to Belgium, William Thomas.

Winchester District, the Rev. Dr. E. L. Woolf, presiding elder; Berkeley, W. D. Sheetz; Berryville, J. H. Brown, jr.; Bruceton, C. J. Clark; Brunswick, E. L. Wittle; Charles Town, W. Va., J. W. Rosenberger; Edinburg, R. L. Moore; Frederick, J. D. Russell; Front Royal, R. L. Fultz; Hillsboro-Bluemont, I. G. Michael; Hamilton, Purcellville, George Hasel; Jefferson, W. Va., W. D. Eye; Linden, E. G. Heimintoller; Loudoun, J. W. Seay; Marshall, J. C. Dugger; Martinsburg, W. Va., W. S. Hammond; Middleburg, J. M. York; Middletown, W. P. Saunders; Mount Jackson, G. R. Mays; Ridgeway, William Stevens; Shenandale, S. F. Stidley, supply; Shenandoah Junction, A. A. McNeer; Shepherdstown, B. W. Hohn; Stephens City, W. R. Hardesty; Strasburg, P. B. Wyland; Toms Brook, R. O. Hipes; Warren-Riverton, P. F. Neel; White Post, W. W. Stens; Winchester, E. A. Lambert; Woodstock, J. H. Balthis.

Transferred to other conferences—W. A. Shelton, an elder, to North Georgia Conference; Edge W. Gamble, a probationer on trial in the class of the first year, to Louisville, (Ky.) Conference.

Received from other conferences—Forney Hutchinson, an elder from the Oklahoma Conference.

Thomas Declares Church Now Idle

Socialist Tells California Religion Is Linked With Capitalism.

Los Angeles, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Saying the world is being crucified for "the god of profits and the moloch of nationalism," Norman Thomas, former minister, now Socialist candidate for President, told the Interdenominational Ministers Association today the church "has given too many hostages to capitalism to take the side of right in a social question."

He said the social system in this country is illogical and that only a "peaceful revolution with independent political action" could avoid the "horrors of violence and bloodshed."

"The church sits idly by," said Thomas, "and watches the capitalistic system negate every ideal of the Christian religion. We have instead of the Christian religion a religion of nationalism, allied with capitalism. The church has never been on the side of right in a major incident."

J. O. Burnham Named To Head Federal Union

J. O. Burnham was nominated for president of Federal Employes Union, No. 266, at a meeting held last night at 710 Fourteenth street northwest.

Others named for offices were Edgar Graham, first vice president; W. E. Perry, second vice president; Mrs. Ola G. King, third vice president; E. C. Hooper, financial secretary; R. O. Hundley, recording secretary; A. D. Sartwell, ways and means committee chairman; Wilfred Offutt, membership committee chairman, and C. C. Clem and W. H. Clark, trustees.

Schools Unit of Chest Sets Quota at $18,000

Organization of the schools unit for the 1933 campaign of the Community Chest has been practically completed, according to a report made to Newbold Noyes, campaign chairman, yesterday, by Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institute, who is chairman of the unit this year.

Dr. Moulton announced that the unit had decided to raise its quota from $15,000 to $18,000 this year. He has appointed Dr. F. J. Kelly, chief, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, as chairman of the universities and colleges division; the Rev. A. H. Lucas, headmaster, St. Albans School, as chairman of the private schools division, and the Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, assistant director of the Catholic Charities, as chairman of the Catholic schools division. Miss Margaret Hall, of the staff of the Girl Scouts of the District of Columbia, Inc., is secretary.

Bids Asked on Norfolk Marine Hospital Work

(Associated Press.)

The Treasury yesterday called for bids, which will be opened here November 14, for extension and remodeling work at the Norfolk, Va., Marine Hospital. The sum of $720,000 has been appropriated for the project.

The work will be done on the main hospital building and on the nurses' quarters and attendants' quarters and in addition will include construction of a double house and apartment house for medical officers.

Philadelphia Abandons Its Mummers Parade

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—H. Bart McHugh, director, announced today the official New Year mummers parade for 1933 has been called off, because he said Mayor J. Hampton Moore, felt the city's present financial situation would not permit providing of prizes by the municipality.

The parade, with its colorful array, has featured Philadelphia's New Year's program for 31 years.

EINSTEIN FORMALLY NAMED ON FACULTY

Mathematical Wizard Will Teach at Princeton Next Winter.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Prof. Albert Einstein, the mathematical wizard, who expounded a theory of relativity that everyone talks about but few can understand, today was formally appointed a resident faculty member of the Institute for Advanced Study, now being organized in New Jersey.

Prof. Einstein is scheduled to arrive at Princeton, N. J., next fall for the opening of the institute. Present plans call for his residence at Princeton every year from October 1 to April 15.

The Berlin scientist's appointment as professor of mathematical or theoretical physics was ratified today at a meeting of the board of trustees. He already has accepted.

The Institute for Advanced Study, established with an initial gift of $5,000,000 from Louis Bamberger, retired Newark merchant, and his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld, was founded recently to promote the furtherance of human knowledge.

It will seek to isolate a small, select group of students and professors so they can explore the realms of higher science without the interference of "outside distractions."

Founder of Colossal Texas Ranch Dead

Robert J. Kleberg, 79, Was Father of House Member.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Robert J. Kleberg, 79, pioneer Texas cattle man, who developed and ruled over the King Ranch—a domain larger than the State of Delaware—died at his ranch home near Kingsville today.

Until forced by ill health five years ago to give up active management, Kleberg gradually had extended the borders of the ranch until it embraced more than 1,000,000 acres of land, including an entire Texas county and parts of six others, and covered 1,500 square miles. On one side it stretched 80 miles along the Gulf of Mexico. Robert J. Kleberg, jr., assumed control of the land when his father became ill. Another son, Richard M. Kleberg, is a representative in Congress.

Born in Dewitt County, Tex., Kleberg had his elementary schooling in private schools and was graduated from the University of Virginia Law School. Kleberg is survived, besides the two sons, by three daughters, Mrs. Sarah Spohn Shelton and Mrs. Tom East, of Kingsville, and Mrs. John A. Larkin, of New York City.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the ranch.

Crocker Joins Staff Of Mayflower Hotel

T. J. (Dick) Crocker, well known Washington hotel man, yesterday joined the staff of the Mayflower Hotel as assistant manager. He has been identified with the Willard for the last 20 years and has been chief assistant to President Frank S. Hight for the major portion of that time.

Announcement of the employment of Mr. Crocker was made by Manager R. L. Pollio, of the Mayflower. Mr. Crocker will serve as special representative as well as assistant manager.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Funeral services were held in St. Bartholomew's Church today for Darwin P. Kingsley, chairman of the New York Life Insurance Co. The service for the dead was read by Bishop William T. Manning, who officiated. The body was sent tonight to Burlington, Vt., where brief services will be held tomorrow morning in the chapel of the University of Vermont. Interment will be in Lake View Cemetery, Burlington.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The presence of National Guardsmen in a crowded courtroom to prevent violence is not prejudicial to a fair trial, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today in rejecting the appeal of a Negro from a death sentence for an assault on a 13-year-old white girl. The appeal was made in behalf of Freeling Daniels, who was convicted in Miller County. He confessed, but later repudiated the confession.

Williamston, N. C., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—State Senator Harry P. Grier, former speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, died here early today of a heart attack. Mr. Grier, 62, was en route from a vacation at Manteo to his home at Statesville. Known as one of the State's veteran lawmakers, Grier served five terms in the House of Representatives, during the last of which he was speaker, before being elected senator from Iredell.

Malden, Mass., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Robert Howlett, 78, died here today of psittacosis, commonly known as parrot's fever. His son, Francis, 28, was ill with the same disease. A love bird, a species of the parrot, the surviving member of a pair which had been kept in the Howlett home, was killed by order of State health authorities and sent to the Rockefeller Institute at Washington for study.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—W. D. Duff accepted his estranged wife's invitation to meet her at his home today and was fatally wounded by her as he stopped his car at the curb. Discarding the pistol, she drew another and fired three shots into her breast. Her condition was critical.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Pile drivers and shovels bored and bit into the new earth of the lake front today, starting $1,975,000 in construction project for the Century of Progress Exposition. The building work started today will add 1,000 men to the force of construction employes and bring the total at work to 3,000.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Federal Judge John P. Nields today fixed November 15 as the date for starting the trial of the Government's suit against the Radio Corporation of America and others. They are charged with violating the antitrust laws in alleged pooling of radio equipment.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The feud of rival truck drivers' unions took another life today. Richard J. Roberts, 40, a business agent for the Truck Drivers and Chauffeurs Union and member of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was found shot through the head in a West Side alley. His widow said he had left home for a union meeting yesterday and never returned.

Pikeville, Tenn., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Shots fired from ambush seriously wounded Sheriff Thomas J. Swafford and slightly wounded his wife on the main street here last night. He was sitting in his automobile parked in front of a restaurant they owned. Mrs. Swafford was inside the cafe and was struck by a shot that came through the building.

Two Die, One Hurt in Blast.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Two men were killed and another probably fatally hurt in an explosion early today in a frame house in the suburban village of Niskayuna. Police Chief William H. Funston, of this city, said he believed the victims were engaged in the manufacture of a new type of bomb to be used in starting incendiary fires.

GIANT POWER PLANT IS OPENED IN RUSSIA

Tribute Paid to Americans Who Designed and Aided in Building Project.

Dnieperstroi, U. S. S. R., Oct. 10 (U. P.).—Soviet Russia's greatest single industrial project under the five-year plan—the immense hydroelectric power station on the River Dnieper—was officially opened with great ceremony today.

In opening the station, which has become a symbol of the new Russia, the Soviet Union has realized Lenin's dream of electrification well in advance of schedule.

When officials of the union turned on the great generators today, they paid tribute to the technique of American engineers in carrying through the great project. Col. Hugh Cooper, an American and a group of associated engineers, collaborated in designing the whole undertaking and worked with the Russians throughout the process of construction.

Imported From U. S.

The greater part of the electrical equipment was provided by the General Electric Co., whose engineers have been on the job for years in planning and installing their machinery. All nine turbines and five generators were imported from the United States, while four generators were built in Leningrad.

The great dam across the Dnieper involved the pouring of 1,100,000 cubic meters of concrete. The last batch was poured early last April and the first current was generated about ten days later.

To utilize the enormous energy which will flow from the power station numerous industrial establishments in the region of Dnieperstroi have been enlarged, and new industries have sprung up.

New Enterprises Started.

The aggregate investment in industrial construction drawing on Dnieperstraj for motor power is estimated at nearly 300,000,000 rubles, of which about 50,000,000 went into housing and other improvements for the huge new population drawn into the region. The manganese and coal mines of the Krivoi Rog district and factories in Dniepropetrovsk were enlarged and new enterprises were started. The latter include aluminum, steel and machine building plants.

The original plans called for a total of only 650,000 horsepower, but the completed plant will generate nearly 800,000 horsepower. At the peak of construction activity; 50,000 workers were employed, 12,000 on the dam itself. They worked day and night, every step in the program being watched and reported in the press. The pictures of Dnieperstroi—especially of night work under powerful arc lights—are familiar to every Russian.

FEDERATION BACKS WATER QUIZ GROUP

Special Committee of Six to Cooperate With Others in Inquiry.

Appointment of a special committee of six which will cooperate with similar committees of three from the Silver Spring and Bethesda Chambers of Commerce in making a survey of the water supply system of Montgomery County, Md., was approved last night by the Montgomery County Civic Federation at its meeting in Bethesda School.

The committee will be appointed by Frederic P. Lee, president of the federation, as soon as constituent bodies have registered their delegates.

Mr. Lee said the subcommittee is not to function as an inquisitorial or investigating body but rather to have it serve as a clearing house or open forum for public opinion. Opportunity will be given officials of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to express such views as they may wish and similar opportunity will be given citizens of the county and other interested parties.

Will Not Conflict.

His explanation was given when W. B. Horne asked by what authority such a committee had been evolved by the advisory committee. Mr. Lee said the committee will in no way conflict with the action of the federation's last meeting at which a resolution was adopted condemning the series of articles in The Washington Post regarding the water situation in the county. The committee will make such recommendations regarding changes in the water system, but will not bind the federation without its specific action.

J. Bond Smith, chairman, reported that the legislation and legal action committee found no need for changes in the county or State laws regarding compulsory sewer connections where facilities are available.

Now Under Construction.

W. H. Reynolds, chairman, reported for the sanitation and public health committee that the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission is taking care of several open sewer outlets into the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, about which complaints were made by the Glen Echo Citizens Association and that the closed sewer through Brookmont is now under construction.

A resolution from the Woodside Citizens Association asking that Georgia avenue be improved from Colesville Pike to Seminary road was referred to the committee on roads. Stephen James, chairman, reported that the public finance and budget committee will report on the budget as soon as a subcommittee can compare this year with the previous county budget.

Sligo Park Hills Citizens Association was elected a member of the Federation and the delegates seated.

Stephen James, Robert E. Bondy, Judge Granville Curry, Emory H. Bogley, W. I. Cleveland, J. Bond Smith and W. Reynolds were elected a nominating committee to select a slate of officers to be voted on at the next meeting.

Falls Church 1933 Budget Presented

Municipal Water System Omitted From Figures Given to Council.

The 1933 budget of the village of Falls Church, Va., was presented to the town council at its regular meeting by the town finance committee. The budget, which went into effect September 1, was exclusive of an item providing for a new municipal water system.

It was the opinion of the committee presenting the budget that the water item should be referred to the committee on water and sanitation for consideration before an estimate of the cost is placed in the budget for the fiscal year.

A sinking fund for the payment of interest and principal of the school bonds was approved by the council for the forthcoming year. A surplus left from the school tax levy from the last fiscal year was voted into the new fund by the members.

CROWDED SCHOOLS PROBLEM IN COUNTY

Prince Georges Board Will Consider Bond Issue to Relieve Overflow.

Part-time classes or immediate sale of a school bond issue for new construction will be considered by the Prince Georges County School Board when it meets in Marlboro today to decide what to do with 250 unexpected pupils.

School officials expected an increase of 400 students, but so far the enrollment figure is 661 above last year's total. In addition, there have been fewer absences so far this year. The school budget allowed for an increase of 400 pupils while keeping its total the same as last year. For this reason, it will be impossible to take care of the extra pupils by additional economies, all these having been exploited fully.

A bond issue of $275,000 for new schools was authorized by the Legislature in 1930, but sale of the bonds was postponed because the security market was down. It has now improved, although it is not certain the bonds would bring more than par. This issue can be put on the market within a few days, approval of the issues by the county commissioners being the only formality remaining.

Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools, laid the blame for the increased enrollment on the remnants of the bonus army living in tents, tourists camping out during the winter, and unemployed moving into the rural areas from the cities. So far, the white elementary schools have shown the greatest increase, with 434 more, white high schools showing 257, and colored elementary schools showing 147.

U. D. C. Delegates Return.

PATRIOTIC PAGEANT READY TO PRESENT

Sylvan Theater to Be Scene of Drama Three Days Beginning Tonight.

"The Vision of George Washington" will be presented tonight at the Sylvan Theater on a stage set with the colors of harvest time. The pageant, also to be staged tomorrow and Thursday, will begin at 8 p. m.

Abundance will be the theme of this harvest pageant, and symbolism will give inspiration to the visions of George Washington. The depiction has been planned and sponsored by the District Bicentennial Commission.

The symbolic dance interludes of "The Dawn of the Harvest," the "Glory of the Mid-Day Sun," and the "Universal Harvest" will be brought to a climax in the figures of "Universal Man, Woman and Child." These roles will be danced by Charles Farrar, of Alexandria; Evelyn Davis and Margaret Doonan.

Among the many organizations participating in the scenes of the pageant will be the Arta Club, the Drama Guild, the Women's City Club, the Troupers of East Washington Community Center, the Crusaders class of the Luther Place Memorial Church, and Bloomingdale.

The final episode of the presentation will depict "The Fruit Market of the Golden West." The Jewish Community Center, the Washingtonians, Friendship House and many individual players, including Edward E. Muth, Harry Angelico and Lisa Gardiner, will appear in this feature.

In case of rain any night, tickets will be good on the following night. Seats are to be obtained at the District Bicentennial Commission at room 214 in the National Press Building and at the theater at the hour of the performance.

Red Cross Groups Named in County

Roll Call Committees in Prince Georges Are Announced.

The Red Cross roll call committees in Colmar Manor, Bowie-Glen Dale and Mitchellville-Collington districts have been announced by Dr. T. B. Symons, of the University of Maryland, chairman of the roll call for Prince Georges County.

Henry Caspare, sr., is chairman of the Colmar Manor unit, assisted by Harry McCormick, Joseph B. Weiss, Henry Caspare, jr., Miss Margaret Evans, Mrs. Joe Randolph, Mrs. Carl Neuman, Mrs. T. A. Voight and Mrs. John Nebel. In the Mitchellville vicinity Preston L. Peach is chairman, with Miss Elizabeth Nelson, Mrs. Harold Slingluff and Julian White on the committee.

Mrs. Stephen Rigoli heads the canvassers around Bowie, with the following helpers: Mrs. R. W. Suman, Mrs. Turner Perkins, Mrs. R. Lee Van Horn, Mrs. Marjorie Zuz, Mrs. George Lancaster, Mrs. Nora Joffe, Mrs. Nora Wright, Mrs. Nettie Fowler, Mrs. J. P. Graham, Mrs. Bowie Addison, Mrs. E. E. Perkins, Mrs. William Luers and Dr. J. Handy Truitt.

LATER TRIAL IS WON BY R. B. WASHINGTON

Judges in Case Resulting From Divorce Suit Give Lawyer More Time.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

It was announced in the Alexandria Corporation Court yesterday that the rule against Richard B. Washington, prominent attorney and collateral descendant of George Washington, requiring him to show cause why his license to practice law should not be revoked or suspended on account of alleged malpractice and misconduct in his handling of a divorce case, would be postponed to a later date, to be agreed upon by the three judges who are to sit in the case. Judge William A. Moncure, of the chancery court of Richmond, and Judge Walter T. McCarthy, of the Sixteenth judicial circuit, have been designated to sit with Judge William P. Woolls, of the Alexandria Corporation Court, in the case.

The charge against Attorney Washington is based on an affidavit by a client, Neal O'Leary, who filed suit in Alexandria for a divorce, and who is under indictment for perjury in connection with his suit, and is now in the city jail in Alexandria, in default of bond of $2,000.

O'Leary, in his affidavit, states that in the early part of 1931 he saw Attorney Washington about a divorce, and asked if it would be necessary for him to live in Virginia. He alleged that Mr. Washington informed him that it would not, and that it would not be necessary for him to rent a room in Alexandria, as "they used to investigate, but do not do so now." He stated that Mr. Washington went over with him the questions and answers which would be used in the divorce suit, and told him to state that he had lived in Alexandria about eighteen months, and that he lived with Mrs. Acres, at 409 South Lee street, Alexandria; that on the morning of the trial Washington told Alma Acres of the questions and answers she would be required to make; that she should state that O'Leary had lived in her mother's house about eighteen months.

O'Leary stated that while sitting in the courtroom Alma Acres and O'Leary's sister, Catherine O'Leary, of Washington, called Mr. Washington over and asked him if they would get in trouble by testifying, and he told them they would not.

The postponement was by agreement between Frank L. Ball, of Clarendon, attorney for Washington, and Commonwealth's Attorney Bryan, and is to allow Washington further time to prepare his defense.

Appeals Not in Writing Lose in Prince Georges

Taking advantage of a legal technicality requiring appeals from the police court to be made in writing, State's Attorney Alan Bowie yesterday won the dismissal of seven appeal cases when they came up in Prince Georges County Circuit Court.

Mr. Bowie said that as other appeals are brought up, he will move for their dismissal. There are about 175 criminal appeal cases on the docket, and it appeared likely that not more than a third of these would come to trial.

Takoma Arranges Benefit for Needy

Local Theatrical Talent Will Provide Program on November 15.

Arrangements for the charity benefit to be given November 15 by the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce are rapidly being completed, H. H. Votaw, chairman of the committee in charge, announced last night.

The program in the Takoma Volunteer Fire Department Hall will consist of theatrical efforts by many local artists. The entire proceeds will be devoted to Takoma Park's needy.

Details of the complete program will be made public as soon as arrangements are finished, Mr. Votaw said.

ARLINGTON TO MAIL TAX NOTICES TODAY

Jesse Urges Payment and Say Borrowing Would Be Averted.

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Tax bills for the year 1932 totaling $623,000, covering real and personal property income and capitation taxes, go out in the mail today, according to announcement yesterday of Arlington County Treasurer Charles T. Jesse.

These bills, he stated, must be paid on or before December 5 of this year to avoid an additional 5 per cent penalty.

Promptness of taxpayers in paying their taxes will make it unnecessary for the county board to borrow any more money this year, Mr. Jesse says.

The first of the monthly tuberculosis clinics conducted under auspices of the Arlington County Health Department will be held tomorrow at the Clarendon Health Center. Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer, pointed out that these clinics, which are in charge of Dr. H. A. Latane, are made possible by the sale of Christmas seals, and much will depend upon the carrying out of the schedule for the year upon the sale this year.

Takoma Park Firemen to Meet.

The regular semimonthly meeting of the Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Department will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the firehouse and community center. H. C. Heffner, chairman of the town-wide membership campaign conducted by the department, will submit a progress report indicating the number of new members received into the department since the campaign began three weeks ago. C. C. Waters is treasurer of the campaign committee.

Rebekah Session to Be Held Today.

The eleventh annual meeting of Northern Rebekah District No. 8 with Liberty Lodge No. 16 and Samarian Lodge No. 27, of Alexandria, and with Mrs. Cora A. Fields, president of Clarendon Lodge No. 28, presiding, will convene at 1 p. m. today at Odd Fellows Hall, 218 North Columbus street, Alexandria.

LOADINGS APPROACH NORMAL FALL RISE

Week's Increase Reaches 26,239 Cars; Record of Three Years Shown.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The fluctuating records of weekly carloadings, regardless of what variations they may show the rest of this year, have thus far come closer to carving out a normal autumn rise than in either 1931 or 1930.

The latest carloading statement, covering the week ended October 1, was better than had generally been expected in Wall street. It showed an increase of 26,239 cars over the previous week.

Moreover, the latest figures have definitely established September as an improved operating month for the railroads, the small measure of profits being particularly welcome after their long and thin diet of unusually skimpy revenues.

The complete carloadings figures now available for September give promise of a considerably better showing in net earnings for that month, according to Wall street banking quarters.

In 1932, the autumn peak of carloadings has to date exceeded the spring peak by about 50,000 cars. In 1931 the autumn level overtopped the spring peak by only 20,000 cars; in 1930, by a scant 40,000, and in 1929, by over 100,000 cars.

Following is a comparative table of carloadings, starting with the week before Labor Day, for the past three years:

Week ended	1932	1931	1930
Aug. 27	538,000	764,000	985,000
Sept. 3	560,000	760,000	857,000
Sept. 10	502,000	668,000	966,000
Sept. 17	587,000	743,000	953,000
Sept. 24	596,000	738,000	950,000
Oct. 1	622,000	778,000	972,000

This year, the week ended October 1 registered a gain of 84,000 cars over the last week of August. In 1931, the corresponding weeks registered a gain of 14,000 cars and in 1930 there was a decline of 13,000 cars.

2 Drivers Blamed In Fatal Collision

Manassas Case Dismissed; Bride-to-Be Was Burned to Death.

Holding that both drivers were equally to blame in the collision on the Washington-Richmond highway, two miles below Woodbridge, Va., in which Miss Gertrude Sass, 26, of South Ozone Park, N. Y., was burned to death September 25, Thomas H. Cobb, justice of peace at Manassas, Va., dismissed the case at an inquest yesterday.

Miss Sass was riding with her fiance, C. W. Engle, of the U. S. S. Idaho, stationed at Portsmouth, Va., en route to Portsmouth from New York. They were planning to be married the following day. The Navy officer was treated for a possible concussion of the brain, rib and body injuries, which he suffered in the accident.

Anton P. Hoeffner, of Rossdale, N. Y., driver of the other vehicle, and his brother, Henry Hoeffner, were uninjured. The dead woman was pinned beneath the steering wheel of the automobile, and her body was burned beyond recognition, when the vehicle burst into flames following an explosion. Engle was thrown clear of the car. According to county authorities, a civil suit will soon be instituted.

Two Are Wounded In Maryland Fight

Police Hunt Man at Whose Home Altercation Took Place.

Two men were treated at Montgomery County Hospital yesterday for buckshot wounds of the face and body they were said to have received in an altercation at the home of Theodore Bennett, colored, of Unity, Md.

Sergt. Roy Bodmer, of the county police, who is investigating, said Lester Jefferson, 33, who lives near Laytonsville, Md., and Willie Harvey, of Howard County, both of whom were injured, approached Bennett's house in company of John Jefferson and Orbin Seals, both of Laytonsville.

During an altercation, in which Bennett was forced to leave the house, the colored man is said to have returned and fired several shots at the four men. Police are seeking Bennett.

Arlington D. A. R. to Meet.

Thomas Nelson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Johnson, 347 Clarendon avenue, Arlington. Reports from delegates attending the recent annual State conference at Wytheville, Va., will be received.

Fire Auxiliary Meets Tonight.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department tonight at the firehouse.

CABLE TOLD INSULL TO FLEE TO GREECE

Grand Jury Hears Former Utility Receiver Wired Advice to Fugitive.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The grand jury today pried into the code messages cabled to fugitive Samuel Insull in Europe and was told that a former receiver of Middle West Utilities Co. had been one of those counseling him to go to Greece.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, directing the grand jury inquiry, said he was running down a rumor that Samuel Insull, jr., son of the deposed utilities leader, had taken $75,000 to his father in Paris. Swanson said he was interested in the source of the money and the possibility of charging the younger Insull as an accessory.

In Federal Court an action was begun to recover for bondholders of Insull Utility Investment, Inc., the $15,000,000 collateral held by five Chicago banks for loans totaling $26,000,000 to the Investment Trust, now bankrupt.

Banks Accused in Suit.

The Federal suit, sanctioned by U. S. District Judge Walter C. Lindley, was filed in behalf of Celia Kelly, of Minneapolis, who owns $7,000 in debentures of the corporation. Insull Utility Investments, Inc., was accused in the bill of having broken its contract with the debenture holders by pledging virtually all the assets of the company to obtain loans from Chicago and New York banks totaling about $41,000,000. The banks themselves, defendants in the suit, were alleged to have accepted the collateral wrongfully, on the grounds that the securities properly belonged to the creditors.

A similar suit is to be filed in New York to recover the securities pledged with banks there.

John F. O'Keefe, confidential secretary to Insull, was called before the grand jury to tell about the coded messages he sent to his chief abroad. As he emerged, the prosecutor followed him with a public statement announcing that O'Keefe had named George A. Cooke, Waldo Tobey and Gilbert Porter as the three attorneys who collaborated in preparing the messages to Insull at Paris and Turin.

Message Advised Haven in Greece.

The code, O'Keefe said, was prepared by him before Samuel, jr., went abroad to join his father. The first coded cable was sent October 3 to Paris, Swanson said O'Keefe told the grand jury. Tobey and Porter dictated it to O'Keefe and in effect it advised Insull not to comply with any requests for his return to the United States.

A second cablegram was dispatched to Samuel, sr., at Turin. The first half, Swanson said, relayed the information from Tobey and Porter that they were advised from Washington that there was no extradition treaty between Greece and this country. The second half, O'Keefe was said to have testified, was dictated by Attorney Cooke, advising Insull to go to Greece. Cooke, a former Illinois supreme court justice, was one of the three original receivers of Middle West Utilities, retiring from the post some time after the disclosure that he was among the members of a "syndicate" let in on "ground floor" prices for Insull Investment stocks before public offering.

Congress Heights Group Reelects Dr. Richardson

Dr. Edward Richardson, who is making a trip around the world, was reelected president of the Congress Heights Citizens Association at its meeting last night in the Baptist Portable Building at Ester and Brothers place southeast.

Other officers elected were: Edward M. Richardson, Dr. Richardson's son, vice president; Benson Taylor, vice president; Ernest Reed, treasurer; J. Louis Geldman, secretary, and James McDonald, financial secretary. E. C. Purdy and Charlie Benner were chosen delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

MRS. EUGENE FORTSON DIES.

Wife of Former Capital Colonel Succumbs in South.

Word reached Washington yesterday of the death of Mrs. Eugene Palmer Fortson, wife of Lieut. Col. Eugene Fortson, U. S. M. C., retired, in Asheville, N. C., on Sunday, after a long illness.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Fortson lived in Washington for many years when Col. Fortson served at Marine Headquarters here. Mrs. Fortson was the former Caroline Nelson, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Richard Marshall Nelson, of Selma, Ala., and later of Baltimore, Md.

She is survived by two sons, Eugene Palmer Fortson, jr., and Nelson Fortson; a daughter, Caroline Fortson; a sister, Mrs. Frank C. Martin, and three brothers, Col. Richard P. Nelson, U. S. A.; Dr. Richard M. Nelson, of Atlanta, Ga., and Roy Nelson, of Baltimore, Md.

Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery on Tuesday, at 3 p. m.

INSULL'S DETENTION IN GREECE EFFECTED

was repeated. Twenty-four hours after he had departed for Athens the embassy at Rome received a cabled request for his arrest.

"I have committed no crime and there is no warrant out for me," Mr. Insull declared in a newspaper interview shortly after the Greek police took him in custody. "The failure of my company was not fraudulent.

"I have come to Athens purely as a tourist. I find the climate delightful."

One of the leading attorneys of Athens was recommended by local friends to the Chicagoan, and this lawyer immediately made a strong protest to the police.

The police indicated they intended to keep Mr. Insull in custody.

Since early this morning he had been under surveillance. A number of motor cars drew up outside the Grand Bretagne and the drivers, dressed in plain clothes, kept watch on the balcony where eventually he was taken. He was registered at the hotel by his own name.

Extradition proceedings probably would take several weeks. The exact status of the extradition treaty between Greece and the United States remained unsettled.

Paris, Oct. 10 (U.P.).—Samuel Insull, jr., and his mother remained secluded in their hotel today, refusing to see newspapermen. They were astonished by news of the elder Insull's arrest at Athens. "We have not changed our plans and have nothing to say," Insull, jr., said.

Henry Ottenberg Dies in Auto Crash

Wife of Former Resident Also Is Killed When Car Hits Culvert.

Henry Ottenberg, 60, for many years a resident of Washington, and his wife, both of Los Angeles, were killed in an auto accident near Columbus, Kans., while en route to this city, last Sunday, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The car in which they were traveling was said to have struck a culvert when a punctured tire caused the driver of the vehicle to lose control. Abe Ottenberg, of Detroit, Mich., a brother to the dead man, left for Kansas to arrange for burial.

He is also survived by three brothers living in Washington, where he spent the major part of his life. They are Joseph Ottenberg, Sam Ottenberg and Louis Ottenberg.

DONOVAN FUNERAL IS BEING ARRANGED

Baseball Enthusiast Was Noted as Dealer in Wines Before Prohibition.

Funeral arrangements are being made for William J. Donovan, 68, prominent Washington baseball enthusiast and proprietor of the famous Base Ball House in preprohibition days, who died suddenly Sunday at his home, 1644 Hobart street northwest.

Mr. Donovan, who came to America from Ireland 51 years ago, always displayed a keen interest in sports and politics.

During his long career he combined these two hobbies with his business as a wholesale grocer and dealer in fine wines and liquors. For many years he kept the tavern at 1528 Seventh street northwest.

It was through his efforts that an American League baseball team was formed here, and it was he who advocated hiring Jimmie Manning, of Kansas City, as its first manager. His interest in the club continued long after his retirement from business in 1917.

His wide interests in sports, politics and business won for him a wide circle of friends, some of whom were instrumental in sending him as a delegate to the national Democratic conventions in 1896 and 1900, where he met William Jennings Bryan, whom he later came to know well.

In 1888 he married Miss Catherine McGrath, of Washington. Mrs. Donovan and six children survive. The children are James W., John J., Bryan J., Mary A. and Catherine E., all of Washington, and Mrs. Helen A. Carling, of Hollywood, Calif.

Mr. Donovan was one of the last surviving members of the original Catholic Knights organization, which was formed here about 45 years ago. He was a member of the Shrine of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the Holy Name Society and the Fraternal Order of the Eagles.

Ambassador Head Leads Hotel Group

Arthur Harnett Succeeds Powhatan Manager, E. C. Owen.

Arthur Harnett, manager of the Ambassador Hotel, has been elected president of the Hotel Association of Washington, succeeding E. C. Owen, managing director of the Powhatan, it was announced yesterday.

Other officers elected are: Vice president, Frank S. Hight, president of the Willard, and secretary-treasurer, Lawrence Mills. The executive committee also includes John F. Letton, manager of the Raleigh Hotel; S. E. Bonneville, managing director of the Washington Hotel, and Charles L. Hutchinson, manager of Capitol Park Hotel.

New members elected were Jeff Ford, manager of the New Colonial, and Houston Harper, president of the Houston Hotel.

Chest Speakers' Forum Opens This Afternoon

The first annual Community Chest Speakers' Institute, designed to furnish members of the speakers' unit with first hand information to be used in their talks during the coming Chest campaign, will open in the Willard Hotel, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Family Welfare will be the general topic of the opening meeting.

Leroy A. Halbert, in charge of the distribution of the $350,000 municipal fund appropriated by Congress; Walter S. Ufford, general secretary of the Associated Charities; the Rev. Laurence J. Shehan, assistant director of the Catholic Charities; Arthur Rosichan, director of the United Hebrew Relief Society, and Adjutant Gilbert S. Decker, in charge of welfare and relief work for the Salvation Army, will speak. These meetings will continue each afternoon for four days.

Roberts Speaks To Citizens' Group

Association in Brookland Favors New 12-Room Elementary School.

William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel on public utilities, was speaker at the first fall meeting of the Brookland Citizens Association last night at the Brookland Methodist Church, Fourteenth and Lawrence streets northeast.

Mr. Roberts spoke on public utilities, and the value of citizens associations to the communities. He also mentioned that Washington has the lowest gas and electric rates on the Atlantic seaboard.

A resolution was adopted favoring a new twelve-room elementary school with an auditorium to take the place of the present building, which is 40 years old. The school is located near the Methodist Church.

Kalorama Citizens Meet.

A nominating committee to select a new slate of officers, headed by Mrs. Edna L. Johnson, and a membership committee, with Tracy B. Ansell as chairman, were named at last night's meeting of the Kalorama Citizens Association at the John Quincy Adams School.

CAPT. I. R. BOWEN DIES WHILE ASLEEP

Death Takes Veteran Few Hours After Celebrating 94th Birthday.

Capt. Isaac R. Bowen, Washington banker and former railroad and steamship captain, died early yesterday while asleep, a few hours after celebrating his ninety-fourth birthday.

Capt. Bowen, associated with the American Security & Trust Co. for 30 years, celebrated his birthday Sunday and upon retiring after a reception by his family and friends, was apparently in excellent health.

Born at Somers Point, N. J., he spent many years as captain of a coast-wise vessel, and during the Civil War commanded the Government steamer Clyde. He was later appointed harbor master at Alexandria. During an active life he was associated with Cramp & Sons, the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. and the Clyde Line. He designed the port signal flag adopted by the latter company, which is still flown from the masts of its ships.

Capt. Bowen, who resided at 1329 Ingraham street, is survived by two daughters, Miss Carrie F. Bowen and Miss Mary Emma Bowen, and two sons, James L. and S. Russell Bowen, vice president and general counsel of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Pottomac Electric Power Co.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m., at the Central Presbyterian Church, with interment at Rock Creek Cemetery, under direction of the Masonic fraternity. The body will be on view from 1:30 p. m.

Alice Deal Group Selects Officers

Dr. F.B. Fracker President; Overcrowded Condition of School Protested.

The Alice Deal Junior High School Home and School Association elected officers and reasserted protestations made at previous gatherings against the overcrowded condition of the school, at a meeting held last night in the school auditorium.

Elected for office were Dr. F. B. Fracker, president; Victor Lunsden, vice president; R. C. Marsden, recording secretary; Mrs. G. Earhart, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. E. Faesch, treasurer.

In view of the number of students who will attend Western High School in 1933, it was suggested by members of the association that the two uncompleted wings of the junior high be finished and that a high school course be taught there until the new school at Brandywine street and Nebraska avenue is completed. The association adopted a resolution praising the work of Miss Edith Maloy, veteran school teacher, who recently retired from service.

WALTER M. BRODIE DIES AT AGE OF 82

Retired Mining Engineer to Be Buried Tomorrow in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Walter M. Brodie, 82, well-known retired mining engineer, died last night following a short illness from pneumonia, which developed from a cold contracted several weeks ago. Death came to the veteran mining engineer at his home at 1807 Phelps place northwest.

Mr. Brodie retired from active work some years ago and since then had made his home in Washington. For a number of years he was connected with the mining interests of Alexander R. Shepherd, former governor of the District of Columbia.

He was born in Amsterdam, the Netherlands, of Scottish and Dutch parents. Before coming to this country in 1871 he was graduated from the School of Industry, Amsterdam. His technical education as a mining and metallurgical engineer he received at the Mining School of Clausthal, Germany.

From 1881 to 1891 his connection with the Shepherd mining interests kept him employed in the company's holdings in Batopilas, Mexico. In 1895 he married Miss Susan Shepherd, of Washington, daughter of Gov. Shepherd, his employer.

Mr. Brodie was a charter member of the Engineers Club of New York City and a member of the Engineers Association and Military Engineers Association of the District.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. William L. Barnett, and two grandchildren, Barbara B. Manning and William Sinkler Manning, jr.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Rock Creek Parish Episcopal Church. Private interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Chambers Will Address Federal Chapter, D.A.V.

Ralph Chambers, national rehabilitation officer of the Disabled American Veterans, and John Arthur Shaw, director of the veterans' employment service of the Labor Department, will speak at tonight's meeting of Federal Chapter, Disabled American Veterans, at the boardroom of the District Building at 7:30 o'clock.

With the meeting the chapter will renew its efforts to place disabled veterans of Washington in jobs. Commander Lloyd Wymer will preside.

Phone Officials Inspect Bureau of Standards

John A. Remon, general manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., and his department heads were guests of officials of the Bureau of Standards yesterday morning on an inspection trip through the bureau's various divisions.

The trip was conducted by E. C. Crittenden, chief of the electrical division, and Dr. F. A. Wolf, chief of the Telephone Division.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

An adorable little fur coat delightfully trimmed in flat fur, with a matching muff. (Courtesy of Martial & Armand, Paris.)

So what will be the sensible, becoming and stylish thing to get for our fall lingerie?

Start with the negligee. Gorgeous, foolish, impractical, delectable, feminine, frivolous, exotic, diaphanous negligees.

Velvet of the softest texture and loveliest coloring! Gold and silver lame, clinging chiffons and filmy laces, the heart of the rose, the down of the peach, the sheen of the butterfly wavering on uncertain airs, are all found in milady's negligees.

Once in a while she gets unbelievably practical and wears one of Chinese brocade, heavy silk, or even appliqued crash. Blues seem to be leading in lingerie with all the mauve and orchid shades following and the inevitable flesh, pink and coral shades. If milady be not quite the exotic, but more the boyish type, she may wear dove-like velvet pajamas, or sheathing satin.

Be sure that whichever she chooses, it will suit her type and the occasion—for Miladi Modern has become oh, so elegant these days—as well as practical and intelligent about her clothes.

• • • •

The Beauty Sorceress.

"Know ye that face powders, talcum, soap, bath salts, brilliantine, face creams, are usually perfumed. But that they can all be obtained unscented. And that the true elegante will use these scentless things in preference to a heterogeneous commingling of odors, if it is that she can not have all or her cosmetics made to order in her special scents, or find them already made up. Then she can perfume her own cosmetics—and be a walking, exuding example of true elegance!

• • • •

Elegance is as elegance does. And if you would like to have a $200 parchment shade in your home—that you could make with your very own clever fingers for about $6—send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet. Because the leaflet tells you how to buy a real parchment skin, how and in what to soak it, how to drape it on the frame, how to sew it and let stretch and dry—oh, a lot of such tricks—and in the end, you have the 'spensive shade that really looks like what it is. For a Christmas gift for a wealthy person, my dear, there is nothing like it. Especially suitable for a gift for a man. Send for the leaflet and just try one. Parchment shade, I mean.

• • • •

For the jeune fille—or her slender mamma, Martial et Armand, of Paris, offer this extremely youthful coat with delightful fur trimming and adorable muff. I sketched it for you to show you that youthful styles are still a la mode—for those who can wear them.

• • • •

And for an unusual collar, what about this one? The one in the little sketch, I mean—with its strass bow—no, 'tis a pin, not a bow! The collar is white, the inset green lahmay, and the brooch in large bow shape is of strass. Nice?

• • • •

And for the mere men who still don't know what strass is—'tis the glittery little stones that might be diamonds, only they aren't, monsieur. Anyhow, they glitter more than rhinestones, and less than real diamonds.

PLAYING AGAINST LONG TRUMPS.

I AM not stating anything new when I mention that if a strong preponderance of outstanding trumps are massed in one hand against you, the making of your contract will not be in any way facilitated. However, merely the fact that one of the opponents is longer in trumps than you are is no reason for the hand to be given up as hopeless. It is not unusual for the Declarer of a properly bid hand and at the proper final declaration to find himself with as much as two trumps less than one of the adversaries. The successful fulfillment of such contracts requires great care and expert play. The hand given below, which is an example of this, was recently played at the Cavendish Club in New York City:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ A J 5 ♡ J 10 6 ◇ Q 4 ♣ A K Q J 8
♠ Q ♡ A K Q 9 5 ◇ 9 8 6 3 ♣ 10 6 2	N W E S	♠ 10 8 7 6 2 ♡ 8 7 2 ◇ J 2 ♣ 7 5 4
	♠ K 9 4 3 ♡ 4 3 ◇ A K 10 7 5 ♣ 9 3

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
		1♣	Pass
1◇	2♡(1)	2NT(2)	Pass
3♠(3)	Pass	4♠(4)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—A semipsychic Jump Overcall to try to break the line of communication between North and South.
2—Gambling on as good as the heart Queen in partner's hand.
3—Not particularly interested in no-trump, South prefers bidding the much shaded spade suit in search of a better final declaration.
4—North is now certain that South cannot aid him in stopping the hearts and decides that the best play for game will be in four spades, despite the fact that he knows that only seven trumps are held in the combined hands.

West, of course, opened his heart King, and after an encouraging card from East, who naturally wanted to shorten Declarer, he continued with a second and third round of the suit. Naturally, South was forced to ruff this third round, bringing him down to only three trumps. A small trump was now led to test out the spade suit, and when the Queen was played by West, Declarer knew the worst, as he knew there would be no reason for a false-card by West in this position if he held a small spade with the Queen. However, Declarer knew that if he could take 5 tricks in clubs and diamonds, plus the spade 9 in his own hand, in addition to the two top trumps, the contract could still be made. He thereupon immediately led three rounds of clubs, knowing that he could always over-ruff East. To his delight, 3 club tricks held. If South had now led a fourth round of clubs to try his over-ruff immediately, he would have been lost, as East could now have discarded a diamond. But the Declarer by this time had a fairly accurate count on the hand and knew that 2 diamond tricks would probably ride, and, as a matter of fact, it was absolutely necessary for them to ride for him to be able to make his contract. He accordingly led a small diamond from Dummy to his Ace and then a low diamond back to the Queen, which, of course, held the trick. On another club lead from Dummy, East was helpless. He had to ruff small and Declarer over-ruffed with the 9-spot, and the spade King in his own hand and the spade Knave in Dummy made the ninth and tenth tricks.

Careful handling plus accurate card reading enabled South to fulfill a contract which at first glance seemed hopeless.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

West—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ Q 9 8 4 ♡ Q 6 4 ◇ Q 10 7 6 ♣ A 2
♠ A K J 7 6 ♡ A J 10 2 ◇ K J 9 8 ♣ —	N W E S	♠ 10 2 ♡ 5 3 ◇ A 4 ♣ K Q J 10 9 8 4
	♠ 5 3 ♡ K 9 8 7 ◇ 5 3 2 ♣ 7 6 5 3

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

I WONDER how many of my readers have noticed how Joan Bennett's personality has developed. She is no longer Constance Bennett's sister or Richard Bennett's daughter, but has come into her own. She has arrived. And her only beauty secret is good health. "Take good care of your health," she says, "and you can be assured that a large portion of your beauty troubles will be solved. In guarding the health of your body you must first consider the food you eat, but not necessarily follow a strict diet. Through past experience everyone knows what foods are best suited to one's needs and should eat accordingly.

"I keep slender because I live an active outdoor life, both in work and play, and do not have to worry about my weight. Any one who takes some form of active exercise—whether in a formal way or just the exercise he gets in active work—need not worry about his weight, unless, of course, there is some physical disorder."

Joan Bennett's Make-Up.

Asked about her special make-up for daytime and evening, Miss Bennett said she used a powder which blends well with her skin (naturally more on the tan shades in the summer), a medium rouge and brilliant lip stick. She used no eye shadow during the day. For evening her make-up is intensified to a certain degree, particularly the eyes. It is also possible to use a darker shade of rouge and lip stick for evening. She uses a blue eye shadow on the upper eyelids and is very careful to see that it is well belnded on the edges so that it won't look "made-up."

Her favorite colors for street costumes are green and blue—particularly green, it seems to be soothing. She is also partial to delicate shades of pink, and her wardrobe, for both day and evening, contains many shades of these three colors.

Her Favorite Shampoo.

Miss Bennett shampoos her hair once a week and gave me her favorite egg shampoo recipe, which is her very own. Here is is for other "moderns" to try:

White castile soap—4 ounces.
Hot water—1 pint.
Cool and add
1 egg well beaten.
1 tablespoonful alcohol.
4 ounces bay rum.
A pinch of borax.

Also Her Favorite Amusements.

"Many things keep me amused and entertained," Miss Bennett said. "One of my favorite pastimes is reading classical literature. Another thing which might be called an amusement—because I do enjoy doing it—is decorating. I worked on the decorations for both my Beverly Hills home and my beach home. I like all forms of outdoor exercise—golf, swimming, horseback riding and tennis. My favorite of all the outdoor sports is tennis, which I enjoy as much from gallery as on the court."

So can all my readers. Keep outdoors as much as possible. If you can not actively participate, be an interested, enthusiastic spectator. At tennis matches, or golf tournaments, and for many of you the football season will soon be near. Truly little if any excuse for one to be indoors when all outdoors is calling.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA."

IF October 11 is you birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger hours are from 11 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Many influences will be at work in the heavens on this day, and you will find it a day that will draw to a close with little accomplished. Apparently you will be blocked in every move you make and much conflict of opinion will be noticed. It is a day that will bring to light many doubts and fears, but care should be taken to overcome these and not to attach too much importance to them.

Children born on October 11 will be inclined to be restless. They will have insatiable curiosities that will tend to get them into many childish difficulties. They are mechanically inclined and will always be interested in the whys and wherefores of everything they see, hear and do. They are generally cheerful and not moody.

Born on October 11 your qualities include a broad vision, a facile mind, and a great desire to accomplish and be successful. You are quick to see through a problem to its solution and you are equally quick to lose patience with any one whose perception is not as keen as yours. Fundamentally you are very kind and of a helpful nature, but you put your work first, and once your goal is in sight, you will go to any length to attain it. You acknowledge this fact and make no pretense of concealing it and it would appear that among your business associates you have few so-called friends. You have many followers who follow you because you radiate success.

At home, and away from your business you are a different person. You give the appearance of forgetting your work, though the chances are that you don't. You have a rather keen sense of humor and are willing to give it play. You are a genial host and probably an incorrigible practical joker. To place someone else in a trying or embarrassing situation seems to satisfy your sense of importance. People born on October 11 are inclined to be domineering and tend to be inconsiderate of the feelings or desires of others. A healthy life will probably be yours, and you will derive much pleasure and benefit from outdoor exercise. If you have children you will be inclined to be a hard taskmaster, and at times unduly severe.

Successful people born on October 11:

Prentiss Mellon, jurist.
Henry Dexter, sculptor.
John D. Runkle, mathematician.
Henry J. Heinz, manufacturer.
H. Fiske Stone, United States Supreme Court Justice.
Paul Ambrose, organist.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

YOUR CHILD'S TEETH.

(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

Perhaps the most important teeth in childhood—and certainly the most neglected—are the sixth-year molars. These two pairs of permanent teeth, which come in between the fifth and seventh birthdays, do not take the place of any baby teeth, but come in directly behind them. They are therefore often wrongly thought to be baby teeth. The sixth-year molar is the sixth tooth from the front on each side.

As the sixth-year molars are the first permanent ones to come through they act as anchors to which the others tie; and if they are lost, the others are likely to come in crooked and the dental arch to be poorly formed. As soon as the chewing surface of each of these teeth has appeared, it should be examined by a dentist. Great care should be taken to brush these teeth thoroughly; they are often overlooked.

The gums should be firm and a clear, light pink in color, and they should hold the teeth firmly in place. The gums should be inspected for signs of gumboils and for discharge of pus around the top of the tooth. A gumboil is not always painful, but it always means there is an abscess around the root of the tooth.

The teeth are affected by whatever affects the body as a whole. Factors that bring about poor general health are likely to affect the teeth. The child whose general health is good, who has the supervision of a doctor and a dentist, who gets proper food and enough sunshine, sleep, and exercise, will probably have good teeth.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

BURNING TONGUE.

A MULTITUDE of people have written to this column in the course of twenty years, asking about burning tongue. Some of these had geographic tongue, some plaques, and some other well known tongue conditions. These are not the cases that are in mind as this article is being written. Persons who have ulcer of the tongue, sores of other kinds, areas that they can see and feel as something different, are advised to have a physician decide whether the cause is cancer, syphilis, leucoplakia, or what not. They are advised not to wait for pain or swelling before they suspect what the trouble is, and to get the best diagnosis and treatment available.

The group of cases now being considered are those where there are no ulcers or even hard areas on the tongue. It is possible that the tongue is somewhat larger than normal and the print of the teeth is noted on its edges. However, in most instances the tongue is not enlarged. In some cases it is red, particularly along the edges, but in most no difference in appearance is noted.

The principal symptom is burning—an unnatural sensation—and not much else besides. The burning may be part of a burning streak which feels as though it runs from the stomach up through the chest to the mouth and the tongue. This sensation is nothing more than a symptom, and it may not be that, but it is very important. The cause should always be investigated.

In most cases there is nothing wrong. The patient is merely an introspectic neurotic and he builds up a minor sensation into a disturbing symptom. He may be worrying about cancer, or something else of which he is afraid. What he needs is to train himself away from his fears—at least, away from this fear.

In others, the symptom may be far more important. It is apt to be the first indication of pernicious anemia, coming months before other signs. If the tongue is numb, or tingles, as well as burns, the blood should be carefully examined for pernicious anemia. Liver treatment works like magic in these cases in the early stages.

In other cases, burning tongue is a symptom of pellagra. A diagnosis of this disease, when this is one of the few symptoms, makes cure by diet rather easy. Yeast, wheat germ, and good meats are the remedies to use.

In some cases the burning tongue is a symptom of myxedema. In some, the cause lies in the stomach. In the search for the cause, too little acid in the stomach juice should always be investigated. In a few cases there is too much acidity of the gastric juice.

It is not necessary to go beyond the head, in some cases, for the cause. Sometimes the trouble is due to the material used in the plates of false teeth. In some, irritation of rough teeth is responsible. Other cases are due to infection of the sinuses, the nose, the pharynx, or the tonsils. The tonsil, located in the back part of the tongue itself, is often at fault.

Perspiration.

E. C. S. writes: 1. Is it harmful to stop perspiration in the armpits?

2. I have been told that the use of remedies to stop perspiration causes cancer. Is this true?

REPLY.

1. No. Occasionally a mild eruption results, particularly if the medicine has been "sopped on" freely.

2. No.

May Have Other Causes.

J. M. D. writes: My face gets very red at times and I seem dizzy every day. Is this a sign of high blood pressure?

REPLY.

It is, but it is far from being a reliable one. Both red faces and dizziness may have other causes and high blood pressure may be present without causing either.

Rolling May Help.

B. K. H., writes: I am 25 years old and the mother of two boys, 4 and 5 years old. I weigh 125 pounds, am 4 feet 11 inches tall and half my weight seems to be in my thighs. What is the cause of those heavy thighs? Can this be taken care of? In what way?

REPLY.

Rolling will do part of the job. There are machines to squeeze and massage certain unduly fat parts of the body. Fat seeks quiet places. If it is pushed around much it picks up and wanders away to a new location. Reducing weight will do another part of the job. However, whatever you do you will always be broad of beam, since probably that was in your builder's plans and specifications.

THE VEGETABLE INFLUENCE IN CAMPAIGN TALK.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Former President Calvin Coolidge was a caller at the White House today.

"Howdy do, you old hubbard squash!" said Mr. Coolidge, as he grabbed the President's hand.

"Hello, you old cucumber!" replied President Hoover, embracing his predecessor. "You look fit as a turnip."

"How's that wonderful head of lettuce, Charlie Curtis?" inquired Mr. Coolidge.

"He's the same grand old vegetable," replied Mr. Hoover, closing the door and shutting the press off from further conversation.

• • • •

NEW YORK—Former Mayor Jimmy Walker, nearing American shores, sent the following radio to John F. Curry, boss of Tammany Hall:

"Dear Eggplant—What's the situation with regard to vindication.

"JIMMY."

Mr Curry replied:

"Old Cauliflower—Can't say anything very encouraging just now. Beans spilled by a lot of ripe tomatoes.

"JOHN."

The former mayor sent another radio at once. It read:

"Listen, String Bean—A promise is a promise. I had your pledge for nomination to run again. What's wrong?"

Mr. Curry replied at once:

"Don't be an onion. Bronx lima bean has made promise a lot of succotash."

Mr. Walker then withdrew from the race with a simple:

"Thanks for the broccoli, and tell the boys I withdraw in the interest of harmony and a better vegetable plate."

• • • •

UVALDE, Tex.—John N. Garner, Democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency, talked with Alfred E. Smith on the telephone today in an effort to win Mr. Smith's support of the ticket.

"Hello, is this you, you old kidney bean?" asked Mr. Garner. "This is Garner speaking."

"Hello, beet tops," returned Mr. Smith.

"To trim those Republican turnips we have got to have your help, you big artichoke," said Mr. Garner.

"Why don't you get that California onion to help you?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Listen, sweet potato," urged Mr. Garner, "we're all ps', together. I yield to no vegetable in my admiration for Alfred E. Smith, as fine a specimen of dear old rutabaga as this great nation affords. We'll promise anything if you'll help us."

"I say it's spinach and the devil with it," replied Mr. Smith.

BRIEF COMMENT.

Oh, both my loves were big and strong—
A compliment to any lass;
And one was of the common throng,
The other of the wealthy class.

The first one had a charming smile,
A mop of dark, unruly hair;
The second eyes that could beguile—
The type a maid should best beware.

It was not hard to choose, you see,
Since neither of them wanted me.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, President Hoover's predecessor in the White House, will be heard in a campaign radio address as he speaks at a Republican rally gathered in Madison Square Garden in New York. The broadcast will be carried over the WJZ network, including WBAL, soon after 8:30 p. m.

At the time of writing, arrangements had not been made for WRC to transmit the speech locally. Listeners might turn to WRC before attempting to tune an outside station on the chance that a last minute change in schedule will permit the former President's voice to be heard locally.

Representative Fred S. Purnell, Republican member of the House agricultural committee, will answer Gov. Roosevelt's recent farm speech this noon (WRC-WJZ, 12:15 o'clock).

"Carmen" will be presented during the National Grand Opera broadcast (WRC, 11:15 p. m.) The role of Carmen will be sung by Alma Kitchell, soprano. Cesare Solero will conduct.

JOSEPH H. APPEL, executive head of John Wanamaker's, in New York, speaking over the radio under the auspices of the American Legion National Employment Commission, says people are beginning to buy with more faith and courage.

"In the retail business September showed a decided inprovement," Mr. Appel declared. "October is opening strong. People are spending more dollars and these dollars are going directly to factories and workshops for more goods, which means more work and more wages all along the line."

Tribute will be paid to the memory of Gen. Pulaski, Polish nobleman, who sacrificed his life for the cause of George Washington, in an international broadcast to Poland (WRC, 4 p. m.). Mr. Wlydslaw Sokolowski, Charge d'Affaires of Poland, will be the principal speaker.

NOT since a pioneer gaze at television revealed a beautiful soubrette as a bearded lady has William A. Schudt, jr., Columbia's director of visual broadcasting, received such a high index of audience interest as he did the other evening. Shortly before ex-Follies girls and Manhattan's best models were scheduled to parade fashions before the television eye, a gale blew the show off the air when the aerial went down. Ten lookers-in called within eight minutes and one man telegraphed from Schenectady for an explanation. But there was no redress. For the first time in its fifteen months of experimental operation, visual station W2XAB was dark all night.

Maj. Francis Yeats-Brown, editor of London Spectator and author of "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," will be interviewed (WJZ-WBAL, 10:45 o'clock) tonight.

Romantic songs, including one in German, will be offered by Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, when he appears in Music That Satisfies (WMAL, 9 p. m.). They are "I'll Never Have to Dream Again," "We're Alone," "Nur Eine Nacht" and "Just a Love Nest."

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

James Cruze.

THE only mention in recent months I have heard of James Cruze, the director who has some of the most impressive screen expositions ever made of the pioneering spirit, the fortitude and the patriotism that have made America great to his credit—"Pony Express," "Old Ironsides" and "The Covered Wagon," if you must know everything — came from his former wife, Betty Compson, during the week she was here in person with Fanchon & Marco's "Star Night at the Cocoanut Grove" idea at Loew's Fox, not so long ago. Miss Compson had only the pleasantest things to say of her former, so to speak, helpmeet, but wasn't quite down to date on precisely what last-minute enterprise might be occupying his attention at that moment. It seems he was on vacation—and for a reason.

Cruze, so the story goes, refused to direct a certain screen fable, for reasons best known to himself, and attempted to break his contract in the squabble that ensued. His employer then legally restrained Jimmy from working for any one else for a year, the period of the contract.

Well, the year is up, as such things will be if you just give them time! Mr. Cruze is once more back of the cameras, moving his puppets through the intricacies of important pictures.

His comeback film is the much-discussed "Washington Merry-Go-Round," on its way to the Capital, preceded by voluminous and emphatic broadsides from the numerous and theoreticaly anonymous authors of the book to the effect that they had nothing to do with it, barring the minor matter of title.

Thus is James Cruze let in for whatever praise or censure may attach to his initial effort upon returning to the studio wars. And perhaps that is why we may expect the "Washington Merry-Go-Round" to hang out a few brass rings when it finally gets here.

Apparently on the assumption that there is such a thing as an older generation in this day and age, when you can't tell grandmother from granddaughter—especially from the back—a bulletin from the Women's International League brings what purports to be "good news for the younger generation of Washington theatergoers," in the announcement that the Children's Theater Company, of New York, which successfully presented "Alice in Wonderland" here last spring, will offer a series of six Saturday morning plays this season.

The series opens on November 19 with "Sara Crewe" and the schedule continues as follows: December 17, "Huckleberry Finn;" January 14, "Sleeping Beauty;" February 11, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm;" March 18, "Pinocchio," and April 8, "Little Women." All will be presented by the same company that plays in New York and Philadelphia, made up entirely of professional adult actors, under the direction of Clare Tree Major. The performances are to be given in the National Theater.

Many weeks ago, when the national amateur open had just been run off over Baltimore way, this column remarked that among those in the gallery were Bobby Jones, Harry M. Warner and other executives of the Freres Warner film interests and predicted that in due course announcements would be made of a new series of golf short-reels starring Bobby Jones, sewed up on that occasion and having to do with how to smash 90. So out of Hollywood under date of October 9, comes the following:

"Bobby Jones has signed a five-year motion-picture contract which will bring him to Hollywood within a month to start another series of golf pictures, Jack L. Warner, of the Warner-First National studios announced today.

"Jones' first series, 'How I Play Golf,' was the most successful sport feature in film history, Warner said. His second series, 'How to Break Ninety,' will be made in six episodes."

Heh, heh, heh!

For the benefit of those whose memories do not specialize in retaining dates of historical importance, Mr. Dean, representing Harry M. Crandall, foster parent in America of the "Pantheon de la Guerre," on exhibition in the Panorama Building, New Jersey avenue and C street, points out in timely fashion that Wednesday of this week, October 12, will mark the seventeenth anniversary of the execution of Edith Cavell, the English nurse, by the Germans, in Brussels, Belgium, October 12, 1915.

Miss Cavell, it should be remembered—or learned now, if not heretofore known—is one of the few personages deemed of such importance as to have practically a whole section of the vast panorama of the World War devoted to her and her tragic sacrifice. All of which ought to add up into an item of some significance to those who had planned to visit the "Pantheon" tomorrow.

Believe it or not, the age of miracles is not past.

Yesterday morning, bright and early—probably about 2 p. m., as we reckon the chronometer in show business—Jack Denny, conductor of the orchestra whose dulcet strains are adding such charm to the current week's bill at Loew's Fox, walked himself into City Manager Carter Barron's office and requested that the spotlight that had been dogging him personally around the stage be shut off, because he felt it might detract from the general effect of his band!

Migosh! Dennybody ever hear of such a thing!

Ambassador—"Night of June 13," at 6:15, 8 and 9:50 p. m.

Frederic March, Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard, as an artist sees them in the pivotal roles of that gracious bit of sentiment, "Smilin' Through," now occupying the Palace screen.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Out of a work of fiction that encompassed virtually the whole story of human existence, Owen and Donald Davis have wrought a profoundly moving drama of a man and a woman.

In thus capturing, perhaps, the essence of the story so intricately, yet absorbingly, woven by Mrs. Pearl S. Buck, the authors of the play have with considerable success and remarkable fidelity to the atmosphere of the book narrowed a canvas that emblazoned the whole of man's perpetual struggle to wrest livelihood and riches from the bosom of the earth to the emotional concerns of a single domestic establishment. In the process of condensation, necessarily, have been lost much of the epic sweep, the diversity of character and the vagaries of Nature that made up so important a part of the novel. These will be missed in diminishing degree by those familiar with "The Good Earth" between covers as the closely knit developments of the drama unfold.

"The Good Earth" as it was disclosed upon the stage of the National last evening moves directly—slowly at first, but with increasing momentum—from the early morning colloquy of Wang Lung, the farmer, and his aging father, on the son's wedding day, to his first meeting with the slave girl chosen for his bride in The Great House of Hwang, their tilling of the fields together and the primitive and poignant event of the birth of their first-born son.

The simple faith which Wang Lung and O-Lan come to have in each other, and the growing conviction in the heart of each that their union is being blessed by propitious gods, is further strengthened by the coming of the drought, famine and the bitter penury under the walls of the Great City of the South. It is here by one of the odd quirks of a droll fate that revolution brings them the gold and precious jewels with which to return home and add new acres to their precious land to which now rain has come. From the fruits of these rich harvests cames the fortune that establishes Wang Lung as Lord of the Great House, by right of purchase from the crumbling house of Hwang, and brings into the second court of his palace the beautiful bud, Lotus, fragile blossom from the House of Flowers, where she had been favorite of many, but none but Wang Lung who would buy her charms for themselves alone. In the passing of the years, O-Lan, wracked by the bearing of many sons, finds in death the means of sending her man back to "the good earth," from which they came and to which they must return.

The ending of the play departs abruptly from the closing passages of the book, as it must to fulfill the purpose of a dramatization which need give no heed to the requirements of a possible sequel for which a way must be paved.

If the Messrs. Davis have labored comprehensively, intelligently and painstakingly in the shaping of their stage story, they have done no more than every member of the cast in fashioning the characters assigned them.

Mme. Alla Nazimova may not present the precise physical outlines that one might expect from a perfect visual O-Lan, but with a minimum of spoken lines and few of the artifices of the casual actress she creates a tremendously forceful personality in the stupid, dull-witted, intensely unattractive slave girl who in the end g'oried over her more beautiful rivals in the consciousness that she had been dutiful wife and devoted mother—transcendent joys they never had known. The death scene in the last act will no doubt be hailed as the climax of Nazimova's vividly stolid performance.

In the opposite role of Wang Lung, Earle Larimore, save that he is not a day older in the last scene of the last act than he was in the first scene of the first, offers a shrewd portrayal of a man finally blinded by his own wealth. As Mme. Nazimova's opportunities grow in the movements of the drama, Mr. Larimore's dwindle—an arrangement that leaves honors at a moiety between them.

Henry Travers was perhaps a more robust "Old Man" than one would expect in the character of the father, and perhaps not quite so querulous, but it is nevertheless to his skillful limning of one of the play's most diverting characters that the action is indebted for the major portion of its brighter facets. Sydney Greenstreet, admirable actor always, is well found in the role of the avuncular mendicant, although all of the threat of banditry has been omitted from the part. Marjorie Wood, as Cuckoo; Kate Morgan, the Ancient Mistress of the Great House; Jessie Ralph, as Wang Lung's aunt, and Sabene Newmark, Lotus, all contribute generously to the wide gallery of excellent portraitures in which "The Good Earth" is so prolific.

Philip Moeller's direction is flawless, unless some of the play's deliberate pacing be a defect, and Lee Simonson's settings provide a series of backgrounds suggesting Maxfield Parrish color treatments for the successive tableaux of a play that will be particularly welcome to the proponents of a thoughtful and unhurried theater.

That those present last evening in the first subecription audience of the season comprised such a house was evidenced by six curtain calls following the close of the last act.

GAYETY

"LEGS and LAUGHTER," an Empire Burlesque Association presentation with Harry Meyers, Jack Rosen, Al Taylor, Billie Holmes, Pearl Kay and Angelus Lee. Miss Georgia Sothern, and Mlle. Montez added guest stars. Reviewed Monday night by William L. Wright.

The show playing at this popular Ninth street playhouse for the current week is well named, "Legs and Laughter." It has many of the former—all very shapely, by the way—and it has plenty of the latter. Not just little giggles, but real he-man laughs.

At the first appearance of the two funny men, Harry Meyers and Jack Rosen, the hilarity commenced and it continued unabated until the final curtain. Each of their many acts were better than the ones preceding. Much of their success was due to the clever "feeding" of Lester Mack and Cliff Carr. The best comedy by these players was in the scenes "Four Men in a Boxcar" and "Which Do You Prefer?"

Billie Holmes and Evelyn Burke were a treat for sore eyes. Both could appear more often without becoming tiresome. The applause for Evelyn's first number was so prolonged and insistent it was necessary to omit the following scene. Pearl Kay, a blonde charmer of no mean ability, danced her way through many pleasing numbers. This little lady does a very difficult toe dance in an easy and graceful manner. The songbird of the "Legs and Laughter" company is pretty Angelus Lee, who was at her best in a duet number with Cliff Carr. Both have fine voices and they blend well.

GRIFFITH AND CRONIN DISCUSS TRADING PROSPECTS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

JOE ENGEL, the Washington Ball Club's lone scout and maestro of the pennant-winning Chattanooga team in the Southern Association, takes a deep bow on the appointment of Joe Cronin as manager of the Nats.

"I may not be a whale of a scout," Engel said after Cronin's appointment was announced, "but I'm the last word in digging up these boy managers."

For be it known that Engel was the man who first perceived in Stanley Harris the baseball spark that later set the big leagues aflame as the "boy manager" of 1924 and 1925. Engel spotted Harris as a budding second baseman at Buffalo, and he recognized the genius in Cronin four years ago on the Kansas City diamond after the Nats' new manager had been released outright by the Pirates for lack of ability.

Cain Was Difference, Says Official.

The difference between Alabama and the George Washington football team was merely John ("Hurry") Cain, in the Crimson Tide back field, according to Paul Menton, sports editor of the Baltimore Sun, who was the umpire in the contest.

"George Washington could have won the game with Cain in its back field," Menton declared. "There was little difference except for that individual. George Washington had the ball in Alabama's territory a-plenty, but lacked the scoring punch that Cain provided the Crimson Tide."

It appeared to this department that the Colonials' line outcharged the Alabama forwards many times during the game, but the slowness of the George Washington backs in getting into action permitted Alabama to close up the holes that the Colonial linemen had opened.

Widmyer Went Out Early.

Maryland never recovered from the loss of Earl Widmyer, backfield speedster, in the first minute of play in the game with Virginia Poly. He was rendered unconscious the third time he carried the ball and never returned to the lineup.

From sources close to players' bench it was revealed that Widmyer's chin had come into contact with a well-directed opposing fist and although there were no traces of knuckles on his physiognomy, the fist had done its work well, which leads one to doubt if the new rules designed to restrict the use of hands are not altogether effective.

It may be purely a coincidence, but the fact remains that the advance publicity from Virginia Poly stressed the intention of V. P. I. to "Stop Widmyer."

Hanford May Get Whitney Job.

The ravages of increasing weight and the sensational riding of young Buddy Hanford presages the passing of either Sonny Workman or Albert Robertson as the first-string contract riders for the Cornelius V. Whitney Stable, according to the gossip of horsemen at Laurel.

Hanford has been riding the lightly weighted horses of the Whitney Stable with increasing frequency and it is a known fact that Workman, particularly, has been unable to accept mounts that he took under the same conditions last year. The smoothness and consistency with which Hanford has been getting his mounts home also have served to establish him as the choice of the Whitney trainers.

With Hanford maintaining his fine form, it is believed doubtful that the Whitney Stable feels it necessary to carry two high-salaried contract riders, and the release of either Workman or Robertson may be the result.

KING BRITISH CHAMPION.

Manchester, England, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Johnny King, of Manchester, tonight won the British bantamweight championship, outpointing the defending title holder, Dick Corbett, of London, in a fifteen-round bout.

GROSNER'S

Giant N. Y. U. Team Faces Hilltop

Mills' Eleven to Meet Fast, Brawny Foe at New York.

Georgetown Planning Deceptive Attack for Star Backs.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

GIGANTIC and fast is the New York U. team that Georgetown meets up with Saturday in New York. The Hilltoppers, holders of two victories out of four against the Crushing Violets, are gunning for their third win, but at this long range they do not appear to have an even chance of coming off victor against the team which has amassed 54 points to 0 in its two games this season.

Georgetown, under big Lou Little, beat N. Y. U. in two stirring games in 1928 and 1929, 13-7 and 7-2. The Hoyas lost in 1930, 2-0, and were run away with last year by a 34-0 count.

Violets Bigger and Better Than Ever.

The high pressure football tactics as practiced under Chick Meehan have seen no diminution since Meehan was replaced by Howard Cann. The Violets are bigger and ostensibly better than ever. Lou Little, after watching his Columbia team meet N. Y. U. in a practice game earlier in the season pronounced the Violet line as one of the best he has ever seen. The back field has such threats as Joe LaMark, one of the East's best passers; Jim Tanguay and Bob McNamara.

The N. Y. U. line is dominated by Babe Itzkowitz, 228-pound left tackle, who stands 6 feet 3 inches tall. He was out of the game all last year with a twisted knee but has starred this year. He used to be Nat Grossman's running mate at James Madison High in New York.

Georgetown, coming through the Canisius game without a scratch, will stress the element of surprise in this week's practice. Coach Tom Mills plans to offset, rather than beat back, the suet of that New York line, and will harp on plays this week in practice which are destined to shake Georgetown's two great speeders, Kelly and Parcells, free.

Both Unbeaten in First Two Tests.

The Georgetown game is N. Y. U.'s first important test of the season and will be one of the earliest meetings between two unbeaten Eastern teams. The Hilltoppers have turned back Mount St. Mary's and Canisius this year, by scores of 26-0 and 14-6. N. Y. U. beat Hobart 33-0 and Rutgers, 21-0, being held virtually even in the first half of the latter game.

Dusek and Vassell Top Mat Program

Rudy Seeking Revenge for Defeat Outdoors; Grobmeier on Card.

The bad boy of the mat, Rudy Dusek, continued along Comeback Strasse Thursday night when he is scheduled to dump George Vassell at the Washington Auditorium in customary time before the customary audience.

Master Dusek started his comeback last week by winning over Gino Garibaldi in a supposed head-butting match. Garibaldi held two victories over him. Vassel beat Dusek in the last outdoor show in the final few seconds of their 45-minute time limit bout. Just before the bell was to end the affair Mister Vassell pasted our Master Dusek a nice ringer on Dusek's filet mignon grinder. Dusek toppled out of the ring. Referee Burns counted up to three, at which point the bell sounded, but Vassell's arm was raised in victory.

The preliminary card is dominated by the return of Chief White Feather, one of the most pleasing of the boys in this mad game. The elderly Chieftain, who is a grandfather, meets Abe Coleman. Fred Grobmeier also is on the bill, after an extended absence. He meets Renato Gardini. Ernie Dusek tackles Milo Steinborn and Pat McKay has to do with Floyd Marshall in other bouts.

Kansas U. Relieves Grid Coach Hargiss

Lawrence, Kans., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—H. W. (Bill) Hargiss was ousted as head football coach of the University of Kansas today and Adrian Lindsey, assistant coach and former chief mentor at Oklahoma, was given the active leadership of the Jayhawkers' football squad.

The shake-up was attributed to the poor showing last Saturday, when Kansas lost to Oklahoma, 6 to 21, in its first Big Six Conference game of the season.

Hargiss will be retained as head track coach, succeeding Brutus K. Hamilton, who resigned last summer to coach at the University of California.

Athletic Director F. C. Allen will be responsible for the football activities in a supervisory capacity over Lindsey, as acting head coach, and Mike Getto, assistant varsity coach.

VETERAN OARSMAN DIES.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Eddie Marsh, 58, who rowed No. 2 in the Vesper Boat Club eight-oared shell that won in Paris in 1900, and later coached at the University of Pennsylvania, died today.

HORNSBY RULING DELAYED.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Disposition of Rogers Hornsby's appeal for a slice of the Chicago Cub's world series prize was postponed today, due to the continued illness of Baseball Commissioner Landis. Indications were that Landis, ill with a cold, might not return to his office for two or three days.

Marked Man of Chattanooga U.

CAPT. "TUBBY" HASWELL, triple threat man of the Chattanooga University back field, mentioned for All-Southern half back last year, who will receive the bulk of the attention from the Catholic U. defense Saturday at Brookland Bowl.

BIG CATAWBA ELEVEN TO MEET G. W.

Husky Freshmen of 1931 Strengthen Carolina Team.

COACHED by Charlie Moran, the unobstrusive little man who gathered together and coached one of the greatest teams American football has ever seen, the Praying Colonels of Centre College, in 1919, Catawba College sidles into Griffith Stadium Friday night for a game with George Washington's Colonials.

Catawba, of Salisbury, N. C., was scheduled by George Washington authorities as a breathing spell between the Alabama and Iowa games, but may possibly prove to be a boomerang. Catawba's only appearance on the grid this year has resulted in a 28-0 victory over High Point. The Indians play the same surprising sort of passing game which George Washington showed against Alabama in Saturday's thrilling grid spectacle at Griffith Stadium.

Fenlon Recovering From Injuries.

Johnnie Fenlon, spearhead of the Colonials' passing and ball lugging attack, will see little practice work this week, while he recovers from the battering he received in the 'Bama game. Fenlon was hurt while tackling Cain as the All-American back strode to this third touchdown. Several shoulder muscles, injured during the tackle, will take most of the week to heal.

Catawba is said to be a 100 per cent better team than the 1931 squad. The acquisition of several husky freshmen—they are permitted to play—makes for a bigger and speedier squad. They are as big as the Colonials.

Wondrack Assists Guyon at Eastern

Former Maryland U. Star Coaches Line; Mills on Injured List.

Artie Wondrack, former University of Maryland star, and now engaged in teaching in the public high schools, assumed his new duties at Eastern yesterday. He will assist Coach Charley Guyon with the football team. Wondrack formerly was assistant to Hap Hardell at Tech and is expected to be of invaluable aid to Eastern, the dark horse of the impending championship series. He will devote his time to coaching the line, the most vulnerable part of the Lincoln Parkers' eleven.

Eastern spent yesterday reshaping its forward passing defense. Guyon was plainly displeased with the team's showing in the Gonzaga game Friday, which the latter won, 13-0. Carl Mills, who suffered a wrenched knee in the fray, will be out for a week, while Ken Wade, the victim of an infected foot, is another not expected back in uniform until next week. Both are backs. Tom Nolan, who started the season at half back and was later shifted to end to bolster the defense, is back at his old post because of the dearth of ball carriers. Joe Keegin's work at half back has been pleasing to Guyon, but the former Gonzaga star will not be eligible for high school competition until the second advisory.

Howard and Logan Win In Playground Tennis

Howard and Logan won top honors in the colored division of the Playground Tennis League, Howard taking the senior title and Logan the junior. Howard took the senior league with a record of 28 wins and 3 losses, while Logan captured first honors among the juniors with a record of 26 wins and 2 losses.

Leaders of the Howard Team were Talbert, Brown, Giles and Free, while Logan's junior champions were led by the Robinson brothers, and Platter.

Richard S. Tennyson, assistant director of District Playgrounds, will distribute silver tennis balls to the winning team members.

BANOVIC AND WEISS SET FOR BOUT

Light Heavies Battle in Portner Arena Feature Tonight.

JOE BANOVIC, Slavish-American fighter, who whips out punches with the speed of a 13-inch projectile, tonight will attempt to prove he deserved better than ninth place on the ladder of challengers for the world's light heavyweight championship.

In the squared circle at Portner's Arena in Alexandria, where booing of decisions is getting to be a weekly indulgence with cash customers, Bingo Joe will swap blows with Sammy Weiss, Nazareth, Pa.'s famous contribution to the art of scrambling ears, in the ten-round feature of the program.

Banovic and Weiss are scrapping for the first time. Three years ago in Allentown, Pa., a lot of interest in a bout was smoked up, but the boys in the mills went on a strike, the cash situation appeared hopeless, and the match was spiked.

Banovic in Good Shape.

Bingo Joe is in fine fettle. He hasn't been matched since he fought the early part of August in Twin City Arena at Laurel, where he smeared Jimmy DeCapua in a ten-round tussle. But Joe hasn't been idle. Joe Jacobs, Max Schmeling's manager, was so impressed with Bingo that he employed him as sparrer for the former world's heavyweight champion. A few days before Joe was to headline the opening card at Portner's, Jacobs refused to surrender him from his training contract, and Portner's postponed the card. He will enter the ring weighing 170 pounds.

Weiss is pretty well known around here. The 175-pounder with the bulldog courage trimmed Pete Latzo, former world's welterweight champion, at Laurel last year. A month later he fought Reds Barry to a draw at Fort Washington, and a second bout resulted in another draw. In December at Portner's Sammy lost an eight-rounder to the Southern star, Bob Godwin. Recently Sammy gave Maxie Rosenbloom a battle for dear life in a match at Easton, Pa., although losing the duke.

Irving to Battle Raymond.

The playboy of the ring, Henry Irving, will meet Joey Raymond, of Baltimore, in the eight-round feature windup. Within a year Irving made a record for himself in knockouts, flattening ten opponents. The lethal punch, his friends say, has returned. Raymond's last fight at Alexandria netted him a victory over Walter Kirkwood in eight rounds. Irving fought Stanley Skeeba to a draw recently at Twin City.

Three other fours will give the program a total of 30 rounds. Patsy Lewis, 138, will battle Sammy Hogan, 135; Averlino Martin, 113-pound Filipino, opposes Sammy Sweet, 112, of Cincinnati, and Carey Wright, 138, makes his professional debut in a bout with Marino Marini. The first preliminary will start at 8:30 o'clock. Ladies will be admitted free when accompanied.

BOXING BITS SELECTIONS—Banovic to beat Weiss, Raymond to beat Irving, Hogan to beat Lewis, Sweet to beat Martin, Marini to beat Wright.

Departmental Nines To Meet Tomorrow

A meeting of the Departmental Baseball League has been called for tomorrow night by President Vic Gauzza. The confab will be held in the green room of the Government Printing Office, starting at 8 o'clock. Officers for the 1933 season will be elected at this time, and the new constitution, submitted during the playing season, either will be accepted or rejected.

MARYLANDERS DRILL.

All members of the Maryland Athletic Club eleven are requested to report in full uniform tonight at 8 o'clock for practice on the Seat Pleasant field.

Full Strength Of Pitt Set For Army

Reider and Tormey in Shape; Tricks and Passes Groomed.

Elliott Quarter Back for Cadets; Other Football Notes.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Coming out of the Duquesne tilt without injuries, Pitt's Panthers went right to work today to prepare themselves for Saturday's game with Army at West Point.

Coach Jock Sutherland is expected to unload all the tricks in the Pitt repertoire on Maj. Raph Sasse's undefeated eleven. Capt. Paul Reider, fretting on the side lines for two weeks since the opener against Ohio Northern, and Center Joe Tormey are just about recovered from injuries and are ready to start against the Soldiers.

Pitt has piled up almost 1,300 yards from scrimmage in three games, while using but six running plays—but they may take to the air if the Army defense is too stiff. Pitt has gained 200 yards from passes in the three games.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Coach Dick Hanley told his Northwestern squad to forget the Michigan game as far as the result was concerned, but not to forget what happens when fumbles occur. He sent most of the regulars through a long dummy scrimmage against the freshmen who used Illinois formations. Rain and cold drove the wildcats under the stadium.

Champaign, Ill. (A.P.).—Dave Cook returned to the Illinois lineup in a dummy scrimmage against Northwestern plays and probably will start against the Wild Cats Saturday. Zeke Seamans, who did most of the full backing against Bradley last week, pleased Coach Bob Zuppke and also is regarded as a starter. The Illini worked in the open in spite of cold and rain.

Chicago (A.P.).—Players who did not make the trip to New Haven Saturday got all the attention during Chicago's practice today. The squad did not return from the East until late in the afternoon and was released after being greeted by the stay at homes.

Minneapolis (A.P.).—Coach Bernie Bierman shifted his personal attention to the first reserves, allowing the Minnesota regulars lighter duty to rest some more after the Purdue game. Missing at the drill were Gerald Griffin, who suffered a slight attack of ptomaine poisoning and was sent to a hospital, and Brad Robinson, given the day off after his release earlier from confinement for a bruised head.

West Point, N. Y.—A blackboard drill and a workout on the scrimmage machine comprised Army's preparations today for the important game with Pittsburgh. Maj. Sasse had Elliott in at quarter back in the first-string back field, the other members of which were Ken Fields, Tom Kilday and Paul Johnson.

Princeton, N. J.—Coach Fritz Crisler spent the entire afternoon developing his reserve material, giving the first team a holiday after Saturday's hard game with Columbia. Jack James was the only regular in uniform and took part in an hour's scrimmage between the second and third elevens. The Tigers' next battle is with Cornell.

New York—New York University, meeting Georgetown next, took things easy but plans two and possibly three scrimmage sessions before Saturday. Most of today's workout was on forward passing, which is expected to play a major share in the Violets' attack against Georgetwon.

New York—One of the hardest workouts of the season was called by Lou Little at Columbia. Little was plainly dissatisfied with the work of his linemen against Princeton last week. The Tigers consistently outplayed Columbia's forwards and Little said he was much concerned. Columbia's next two games are against Virginia and Willliams, but the Lions are pointing for Cornell.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Undismayed by the unexpected defeat at the hands of Ohio Wesleyan, Vic Hanson drove his Syracuse varsity through a long drill concentrating on a defense for the forward passes Southern Methodist is expected to employ this week.

Hamilton, N. Y.—Colgate's first real test, against Lafayette this week, induced Andy Kerr to call for scrimmage, although Monday usually is an easy day.

Hanover, N. H.—Dartmouth's outlook for the Penn game brightened as Ward Donner, veteran end, and Ray Hulsart, guard, rejoined the squad and took part in the day's light work-out. Both were on the sidelines against Lafayette, but probably will play Saturday. So perhaps will Jack Donovan, back, injured in the battle with Lafayette.

Providence, R. I.—On the injured list for two weeks, Jim Patton, veteran guard, worked out with Brown's Varsity and probably will start against Yale. Coach Tuss McLaughry handed out several new plays for his squad to use against the Elis.

New Haven, Conn.—Coach Mal Stevens gave his Yale outfit, disappointing in its first two starts, a sharp lecture and then sent the squad through a short drill on fundamentals.

Cambridge, Mass.—The mistakes his Harvard Team made in the rout of New Hampshire were the subject of a blackboard talk by Eddie Casey. Roger Hallowell, varsity center, was badly battered by the Wildcats but probably will be in shape for the Penn State game.

Giants Trade 3 to Cards For Pair

Send Mooney, Walker and O'Farrell to St. Louis Club.

Gain Starr, Pitcher, Mancuso, Catcher, in Exchange.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—As the forerunner of a wholesale shake-up in the playing personnel of the New York Giants, two southpaw pitchers, an ancient backstop and a substitute outfielder were traded today to the St. Louis Cardinals for a recruit right-handed pitcher, Ray Starr, and a catcher, Gus Mancuso.

In a straight trade for these two players, the Giants parted with Bill Walker, the National League's most effective pitcher two seasons ago; Jimmy Mooney, 25-year-old southpaw who failed this year to duplicate the sensational form he displayed in 1931; Bob O'Farrell, veteran of eighteen major league catching campaigns, one-time manager of the Cardinals, and Ethan Allen, fast, but light-hitting outfielder.

Terry Seeking New Faces for Team.

Denying any cash was involved, even though the Giants gave "four for two," Secretary Jim Tierney made this statement on the club's behalf:

"Manager Bill Terry, who has recently signed a two-year contract to pilot the Giants, made the deal as part of our policy of bringing new faces to the Polo Grounds, and, we hope, obtaining better results. This is the beginning of a series of trades by which he will strengthen the Giants. We are dickering with several other clubs."

Baseball gossip has linked the names of Freddy Lindstrom and Shanty Hogan with talk of other prospective trades, but Tierney declined to say whether these players were likely to go elsewhere.

Mooney and Walker Starred in 1931.

On the basis of 1931 form, the Giants would have had much the worse of the deal just concluded with the club which wound up in a tie with the New Yorkers in sixth place this season. Mooney, the Southern boy, won seven straight games for the Giants after being bought up late in the 1931 season from the Bridgeport farm, but this year his record showed only six victories against ten defeats.

Walker also slumped this year, winning eight and losing twelve after a great 1931 campaign, during which he won nineteen, lost nine and led the league in effectiveness.

O'Farrell and Allen saw little action last season and do not figure to gain places in the Cardinal line-up.

The Giants feel Starr and Mancuso will give them much-needed battery strength. Starr, with the Rochester Internationals the past two seasons, has been regarded as one of the best pitching products of the Cardinal farm system. He came up for a trial this spring after winning 20 and losing 7 with the Redwings, but was shipped back again. Recalled this fall, Starr looked good in a brief turn against the Giants and then blanked Brooklyn. With Rochester this year, however, the 25-year-old right-hander won 9 and lost 12 games.

Mancuso, while serving as understudy to Jimmy Wilson, has shown speed and ability. He has had four years of big-league experience and batted .282 in 103 games this year. His best season was 1930 when he batted .366.

Midatlantic Golf Draws 44 Women

25 Capital Players Seek Medal at Baltimore Club Today.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 10.—The seventh annual Middle Atlantic golf championship will open tomorrow at Rodgers Forge Golf Club with 44 women from Virginia, District of Columbia and Maryland straining for the title. Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, Columbia Country Club, will endeavor to hold her crown won at Indian Spring Golf Club last year. Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, twice champion and runner-up in the classic and present holder of the Maryland State and Gibson Island Cups, will enter from Elkridge Hunt Club. Mrs. Betty Meckley, Indian Spring Golf Club, last year's medalist, is another among the 25 Washingtonians who will compete.

Two more women have entered in the postentry division. They are Mrs. A. Herman Stump and Mrs. James Schoonmaker, Green Spring Valley Hunt Club. Twenty-five tried out the course today.

Mrs. Joseph D. Noonan came into her first golf championship today when she won the first annual Hillendale Golf Club handicap tournament by defeating Mrs. Edward Costa, 2 and 1, after lagging 2 down at the turn. Mrs. Noonan also won the medal score in this tournament, which has continued for several weeks.

A goodly number of the District entries tested the Rodgers Forge course over the week-end. Mrs. Betty Meckley played the course twice and reported rounds of 84—86.

GRID INJURY FATAL.

Honolulu, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Frederick Winstedt, 18-year-old Punahou Academy student, is dead of cerebral hemorrhage apparently resulting from injury in football practice Tuesday.

Winstedt was removed from a practice game when knocked dizzy with a blow to the head in scrimmage. He was playing defensively in a line charge. The youth collapsed Saturday and did not regain consciousness.

Mrs. Vare and Ingalls Golf Winners at Spa

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, won the medal in the women's event of the twentieth annual Hot Springs fall golf tournament today with a 77, five over par. Tournament play was over the Homestead course.

After taking a five, one over par on the first hole, she went through the next eight holes in par figures for an outgoing 37. She came in with a 40, taking an 8 on the 400-yard twelfth and dropping two birdies.

Ten strokes behind Mrs. Vare, and five strokes behind Mrs. Thomas R. Huime, of Philadelphia, the former Dorothy Vare, who posted a 42—40—82, was Helen Hicks, the star from Hewlett, Long Island. Miss Hicks had a 10 on the eighteenth and wound up with an 87. The remaining qualifiers were far behind the three leaders.

Fay Ingalls, of Hot Springs, who played on the Harvard golf team with Chandler Egan, topped the field in the men's tournament with 37—39—76, five over par on the hazardous Cascades course. Trailing him by four strokes was George H. Flinn, jr., of Pittsburgh, with 38—42—80.

Match play will start tomorrow, the women playing in eights and the men in sixteens.

Mum on Deals in Mind; Harley Boss Slated to Be Sold.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

JUST before boarding a train for his home in San Francisco yesterday afternoon, Joe Cronin, newly appointed Nat manager, held a lengthy conference with Owner Clark Griffith. The general subject of personnel was discussed, with the two closely scanning the roster and agreeing upon which of the regulars might be spared in deals and which of the newcomers appeared to have ability enough to be given a real trial at the 1933 spring training camp.

"Of course, I'm not willing to do any talking about the identity of the regulars we think we might improve upon," said the Nats' owner, "but I will say that we agreed that we need strength in the box and behind the bat if we are to be serious contenders in the coming race.

"As to the newcomers, we are counting heavily on Third Baseman Cecil Travis and Cliff Bolton, while we may give Gordon Phelps another trial. He was big and fat when with us before and is even bigger and fatter now, which is a handicap, but he certainly can hit."

Harley Boss Not To Be Retained.

With both Joe Kuhel and Joe Judge on hand, the Nat bosses see no need for First Baseman Harley Boss and they hope to be able to dispose of him before the spring training season starts. Boss, generally is regarded as of major league caliber and he probably can be sold in one of the big circuits. As he has been optioned his allotted number of times, he either must be kept or sold outright by the Nats. And he can not even be sold to Chattanooga, for fear Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis would step in and declare the deal off and the player a free agent on the ground that the Nats, through their farm affiliations, were keeping Boss from an opportunity of advancing in his chosen profession.

No Definite Deals In Mind.

"We haven't any particular deals in mind," Griffith explained when pressed for details. "Joe simply told me which players he wanted to keep and which ones he would be willing to dispose of provided we could make a deal which looked good to us. As a whole, we are satisfied but, naturally, we're going to try to better ourselves if we can.

"But what we're really after," Griffith concluded, "is to strengthen our batterymen and we hope to pick up a promising pitcher or two and another catcher, by trade of cash, before next season. If we can do this, we're perfectly willing to stand pat on the rest of the team."

Berger Will Captain Five at Hyattsville

The Lustine-Nicholson Motor Co. of Hyattsville, will sponsor a formidable basket ball team this year, made up largely of former University of Maryland sharpshooters. Five of the team members played with the 1931 Old Line team which won the Southern Conference championship.

Bozie Berger, former All-American guard, will captain the team. Others will be Ed Ronkin, Charlie May, Frenchie Cohan and Bob Wilson, who played on the 1931 title squad, and Bob Gaylor, 1930 mainstay. Jack Faber, of the University of Maryland coaching staff, will tutor the team.

HYGRO WINS FOURTH MARYLAND RACE IN ROW AT LAUREL

Nevada Farm Ace Wins by 2 Lengths

Sets 6-Furlong Mark for Meet; Second to Jack High.

Hygro, at Odds-on, Leads From Start to Finish.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

HYGRO, the Nevada Stock Farm's sensational sprinter, set a world record for 6 furlongs at Laurel yesterday, but will never get credit for the effort. In fact, the time goes down in the books as a commonplace 1:12. It remains that such speed over the present slow track is nothing short of remarkable. It is a record for this meeting, however.

The Son of Epinard, famous French racer, packed 125 pounds and galloped home two lengths in front of Jack High, another heavily weighted fellow. Pairbypair took the show from Supreme Sweet.

Some seven thousand witnessed the racing and a majority figured in the backing of Hygro down to 60 cents on the dollar. It was Hygro's fourth straight Maryland victory. The mutuel department was forced to bring out extra tickets to handle the play on him.

Hygro Hustles Into Early Lead.

Hygro did not wait to flatter his backers. The colt nosed ahead as the field of five left the barrier as if it were pulling a chariot. Up the backstretch, Supreme Sweet tried in vain to get on even terms. Workman finally got Jack High's legs to function and this pair moved up to take the place of Supreme Sweet as No. 1 chaser of Hygro. Jack High cut all corners and despite Workman's punishment was well beaten after Woolf gave Hygro a shaking up when straightened out in the stretch.

Luna Mica, disqualified for a foul last week, came back yesterday with another winning effort which was given the official nod. Gala Time was second and Light Ripple third. The favorite, Moppet, fell as the field left the barrier, making it a tough start for Coucci, who had his first mount since his suspension was lifted. The crack ridder escaped unhurt.

Light Ripple set the early pace, with Luna Mica just behind. The latter took command turning into the stretch and won by two lengths. Light Ripple delayed the start, throwing a stifle out of place.

Escape, at Odds-on, Wins Over Jumps.

Thomas Hitchcock's Escape, addson favorite, won the Bucklands Steeplechase in a thrilling finish with Louis d'Or. This pair came over the final jump together, but the English horse gained the victory on the flat. Third money went to the tiring Shylock. Escape and Shylock took turns leading the pack until the latter began to slide back, and Louis d'Or, under strong wraps for the first mile, came up with a rush at the swing for the last two jumps. There were no falls or lost riders.

Bold Lover, E. R. Bradley's son of Black Toney, stood off a driving finish of Snaplock to win the third race in which Bright Shadow, a long shot, ran third. Peternal set the pace followed by Bold Lover and the latter took command on the swing for the stretch and then tired near the finish.

The consistent Kneehigh, under the handling of J. Flynn who came here from the West, came from behind to defeat Triple Threat and General Lejune in the fourth race. Triple Threat gained a commanding lead at the stretch turn but had nothing to match Kneehigh when the latter was straightened out.

Field horses ran first and third in the sixth race. Golden Fairy was an easy winner over Don Tasker. The show went to Renewed.

Night Patrol took the final, lasting to stall off a drive by Try It. Merry Fox was third.

Hecht Co. Golfers Compete in Annual Tournament at Manor Club

AT THE POST

DEAR AL: LAUREL RACE TRACK.

Mrs. Benning's boy, Bill, did you no harm yesterday, friend. Of his seven first choice horses four of them—Luna Mica, Escapade, Kneehigh and Hygro—were just what they were supposed to be—winners. Of my three other top ones, Snaplock and Don Tasker were second at good odds. Merry Fox, named in the last, was third, but my second choice, Night Patrol, won. I'm piling it on, Al, while I have the chance.

I sincerely believe that you can approach today's picks with a feeling of security. But then again— BILL.

FIRST RACE—TRUE SWEEP and Johnny McTaggart proved a winning combination here last week in a field as good as the one the son of Sweep is asked to face today. Looks like a repeater. ST. CHRISTOPHER'S best races make him dangerous. TREMENDOUS is the one I'm warning you to watch. Worth a bet back.

SECOND RACE—THE POINT beat good sprinters in the West and was practically left at the post in his only Maryland start. This one can run and may upset this group at a good price. CONTRIBUTE is the one to beat. HAGERSTOWN may be ready for another shot at the big money.

THIRD RACE—SILK FLAG, son of Bunting, turned in a fine effort here although tiring to lose to Caesar's Ghost after setting a fast pace. CONSIDERATE and EVEN STEPHEN to battle it out for the place.

FOURTH RACE—MONEL appears to have found a spot favorable to taking the big end of a purse. This one was a king on the half-milers and is still fit. DANCING MACK'S last was a beaut. MAJOR GENERAL woke up the last time but must improve a lot to win here.

FIFTH RACE—T.e Hertz entry of VALENCIENNES and RISQUE get my backing here. Both are at tops, the works say. HER GRACE is the likely favorite, but the weight might make a difference. LATE DATE has some chance.

SIXTH RACE—JOLLY PILOT drops down and may have found the place for a set of brackets. Race at the Graw, if repeated here, would take care of everything. MISS CORRINE, now that she has won, might go on. GAY PARTY might need a cheaper field.

SEVENTH RACE—NEGOPOLI ran well in New York and is given a shade here. BUBOLA is due to wake up and this might be it. BUB McFARLAND for third. SYRIAC moves up and with a dry track would have excuse for a poor showing.

Stocks Seek Lower Ground Under Increased Realizing

Pivotal Issues Suffer Most in 2.8 Losses; Turnover, 2,281,940 Shares.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Stocks broke through last week's resistance levels today, coincident with losses in other markets.

Pressure was most pronounced against so-called pivotal shares, especially rails and a few miscellaneous issues, which were feebly supported against the increased liquidation and professional selling that followed publication of U. S. Steel's backlog report. Prior to this announcement the market had been doing fairly well, up 1 to 2 points or so, but the amount of increase in unfilled orders seemed to have disappointed traders; it was well under most estimates.

Reaction in railroad shares ran contrary to the tenor of most recent news bearing on the transportation industry, notably Saturday's traffic figures. Perhaps Wall street felt the peak of freight loadings had been or was soon to be reached, although Santa Fe's statistics for last week showed a further gain and there were some who thought the expanded business of most roads might continue for some little time.

Nevertheless, Union Pacific had an extreme loss of more than 8 points and Santa Fe, at the worst, was off 5½. New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Pennsylvania skidded 2 to 3 or so before a flurry of short covering at the close generally reduced losses.

American Telephone was conspicuously heavy, breaking under par. It finished at 100, down 3¾ net. United States Steel preferred dropped nearly 4, although the common net loss was only a point. Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Case, Consolidated Gas, North American, Public Service of New Jersey and Bethlehem preferred gave up 2 to 3, and a large assortment of others was down at least a point.

Sales totaled 2,281,940 shares, of which roughly 800,000 shares changed hands in the last hour.

One encouraging development was weakness of foreign gold currencies, for the dollar managed to get back most, if not all, of recent losses. Several reassuring statements as to the fundamental strength of our currency appeared over the week-end and these, it was pointed out, may have terminated any speculative selling that had contributed to last week's relapse.

Foreign balances here, subject to withdrawal, are said to be relatively small, although Europe was a heavy purchaser of our securities in the summer and their disposal, accompanied by return of the proceeds would cause, and probably has already caused, unsettlement here.

Stocks.

Losses broke through the resistance barriers of last week into lower ground. Pivotal issues suffered most. Professional selling and liquidating were blamed for average decline of 2.8 points. The trading volume increased to 2,281,940 shares.

Bonds.

A sharp reaction of secondary rails sent bonds 1.1 points down, the heaviest day's loss since last March. High-grade issues also yielded ground. Sales totaled $9,028,000.

Curb.

The market gave way easily under selling pressure, in sympathy with the big board. The most important utility groups dropped lower. The turnover was 290,000 shares.

Wheat.

Values sank below the season's bottom prices, or seven-eighths to one and one-eighth cents below Saturday's quotations. Securities' slump influenced decline. Corn and oats were down. December wheat sold at 48⅝ to 48¾ cents.

Cotton.

An early rally was cut by reactions which left the market 2 points net lower to 2 points higher. December closed at 6.54. Prices were depressed by losses in other markets.

LONDON—Apart from the steadiness of gilt-edged securities and some good investment buying, prices reacted under the influence of Wall street and poor Paris advices. Most of the selling consisted of speculative issues and industrials. The closing was uncertain.

PARIS—Unfavorable Wall street advices affected the bourse only slightly. Rentes were fairly well sustained, but the closing tone was heavy.

BERLIN—Trading on the boerse today was dull owing to the Jewish holiday.

BOND LOSS HEAVIEST SINCE LAST MARCH

Secondary Rails Lead Drop of 1.1 Points; Sales Up to $9,028,000.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—A sharp reaction in secondary rail loans loosened the bond market props today and all classes of securities participated in the decline.

While the total sales were actually less than normal—only $9,028,000, par value—the average for 60 corporate bonds lost 1.1 points, the greatest day's recession since last March.

Although the highest grade obligations showed considerable resistance to the selling wave, most of them were off fractionally. At the same time, the United States Government section was moderately firmer and rather quiet.

The softness of senior securities was attributed principally to the shake-down in the stock market.

Among the carriers that lost from 1 to 5 or more points were some issues of Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern, St. Paul, Southern Pacific, Southern, Chesapeake Corporation, Missouri Pacific, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Pere Marquette, Texas & Pacific and Wabash. Nickel Plate 6s lost 2¾ points, while the certificates of deposit for the same notes gained 3½ points.

Consolidated Gas 5s were rather heavily traded for a loss of three-fourths of a point and American Telephone loans eased. The weakest of the utilities included some issues of American & Foreign Power, American Metal, Columbia Gas, International Telephone, Postal Telegraph and Utility Power & Light. Small gains were recorded by Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, California Gas 5s, Pacific Telephone 5s and New York Edison 5s.

Armour & Co. 5½s gained a point, but most of the industrials were soft, including obligations of American Smelting, Chile Copper, Hudson Coal, Texas Corporation, Pure Oil, Paramount Publix, Philadelphia, Reading Coal & Iron, and Sinclair Oil.

The foreign department was irregular. Most of the Australians were off more than 3 points and the Germans dropped a point or more. British 5½s improved slightly and Cuban issues were in demand.

Unfilled Orders for Steel Increased by 15,495 Tons

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation increased 15,495 tons in September to a total of 1,985,090 tons on September 31. August tonnage gained 3,293 tons, but prior to this the corporation had reported sixteen consecutive monthly decreases.

Early estimates on the September increase in the backlog ranged from about 50,000 to 100,000 tons, though in the last few days it was generally anticipated that the gain would be considerably less than 50,000 tons.

Wall street's confidence that the September backlog would be increased was based on the moderate expansion in the corporation's rate of ingot production over the past few weeks, reflecting a slightly larger volume of steel buying. Tonnage statistics over the past ten years show that the backlog has declined oftener than it has advanced in September.

CURB PRICES YIELD TO SALES PRESSURE

Most Important Utilities in Losing Ground; Trading, 290,000 Shares.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The curb market again gave way rather easily to selling pressure today, in sympathy with the big board.

Utilities were actively sold, but most important groups lost ground. The turnover, however, was moderate, amounting to 290,000 shares.

Electric Bond & Share, which has traded as high as 48 this year, touched 19, and closed at 20, off 3½ net. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and American Gas & Electric lost about 2 points, and American Superpower, 1. Duke Power, a lightly traded issue, appeared at 50¾, off 4¼.

Oils held up somewhat better than other groups. The action of the Texas State authorities in reducing the allowable crude output in that State was regarded favorably in Wall street oil quarters. Union Oil Associates appeared at 9¾, off 4½, but it was the first transaction in that issue in some time. Standard of Indiana lost only ¼ of a point, but Kentucky sagged ¾ in a smaller turnover. Gulf, up ½ at one time, closed down ⅜ of a point net.

Deere again sagged, in sympathy with wheat and farm implements on the big board, closing about a point lower. Parker Rust appeared at 22, off 8. Aluminum Co. dropped more than 4 points, and A. O. Smith lost 3.

Wool in Good Demand.

London, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—There were 7,711 bales of wool offered at the wool auction today of which 6,000 were sold. A superior selection was offered and met a good general demand at unchanged prices. Withdrawals were frequent among poor slipes and medium scoured grades on low bids.

Market Values of Bonds Increase 1.4 Per Cent

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—The total market value of all bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange increased 1.4 per cent during September, according to the exchange's monthly tabulation made public today.

On October 1, the total quoted value was $40,132,203,281, a gain of $59,163,945 compared with their September 1 market value. The advance, though small, carried bonds to their highest market valuation of the year to date. On October 1, 1931, their total market value was $43,031,447,232. Since June 1, when they touched their low point of $36,856,628,280, the aggregate market value of bonds has increased $3,275,375,001, or 8.9 per cent.

Coffee Prices Higher On Moderate Trading

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Coffee was higher today on moderately active trade and New Orleans buying, principally in the Santos contracts.

Demand was based on reports that the Brazilian government intends to maintain exchange rates and coffee prices at the levels prevailing prior to the revolution. No. 7 contracts opened 5 to 9 lower and closed 1 to 8 higher; sales, 3,000. Santos opened 2 higher and closed 11 to 23 higher; sales, 21,000.

Coal Production Increases.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Production of bituminous coal for the week ended October 1 was 6,790,000 tons against 6,325,000 tons in the preceding week, says the Bureau of Mines. Output of Pennsylvania anthracite was 1,392,000 tons compared with 980,000, reflecting seasonal expansion.

WHEAT VALUES DROP UNDER RECENT LOAN

Securities and Declines on Other Exchanges Blamed; Provisions, Mixed.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Shaken by unsettlement of securities, the wheat market zigzagged downward today, all deliveries outdoing afresh the season's bottom price record.

Prospective big arrivals of wheat in Europe, together with bearish crop reports from Argentina and Australia were a disturbing factor.

Government crop estimates issued at Washington after trading had ended were construed as bearish in regard to corn and oats, the new official figures on 1932 corn production being 31,000,000 bushels in excess of those of a month back, although 27,000,000 bushels under the average of recent private returns.

Wheat closed nervous at almost the day's bottom levels, ⅞ to 1¼ cents lower than Saturday's finish; corn, unchanged to ⅜ down; oats, unchanged to ⅛ off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

Sharpest Wheat Setback.

Sharpest setbacks in wheat values came during the final hour, and coincided with late weakness of the New York stock market. Earlier, a little show of firmness in stocks encouraged some purchasing of wheat, but the effect was more or less counterbalanced by reports of showers in dry areas of Argentina. News was also at hand that rains had relieved drought in Hungary and Jugoslavia, and that pressure to sell Canadian wheat abroad was unabated.

There were rumors of some export business in United States hard winter wheat at the Gulf of Mexico, but as a whole the overseas demand for wheat was almost entirely lacking. An unexpected decrease of 1,196,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply total was practically ignored. Wintry weather conditions in the Northwest pointing to a letup of the rural movement of wheat both sides of the Canadian boundary were also given little notice.

Extremely unfavorable weather conditions gave transient strength to corn and oats. Export bids for corn were on an unattractive basis. Provisions showed irregularity as a result of changing by large holders from October to May contracts.

COTTON RALLY CUT BY LATE REACTIONS

Market Closes Two Points Net Lower to Two Up; December, 6.54.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—An opening advance on unfavorable weather reports and relatively steady Liverpool cables was followed by reactions in cotton today under scattered selling promoted by reactions in the stock market and the easier ruling of grain.

December, contracts after selling up to 6.66 at the start, eased to 6.51 or 3 points net lower and closed at 6.54. The general market closed steady, net 2 points lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was 10 to 14 points higher on covering and trade buying which came partly form abroad. Houses with both Liverpool and Continental connections were reported among the buyers here, while liquidation was less in evidence following Saturday's decline, leading to talk of an improved technical position.

Initial Demand Supplied.

The initial demand was supplied by Southern and local selling, however, and demand tapered off after the initial orders had been executed. Trading was comparatively quiet later, with prices working gradually lower under selling influenced by the grain and security markets. Some increase in hedging was reported in the late trading. Maroh declined from 6.84 to 6.65, with the general market showing net losses of 2 to 5 points in the late trading. Closing quotations were slightly up from the lowest on covering.

The outlook for freezing weather in the Texas Panhandle and north Oklahoma, with frost in Arkansas and north central Texas, was coupled with forecasts for rain and colder weather in the central and eastern belts, but evidently these failed to stimulate buying. Trading was moderately active at the start, but the volume slackened during the middle of the day and traders were apparently waiting later indications as to the effects of Saturday's crop figures and the decline in futures on Southern spot holders or the cotton goods markets.

Liverpool cables attributed relative steadiness there to covering and buying on a belief that the Government report had been discounted, but said the decline was checking business in cotton goods at Manchester. Exports today, 40,720, making 1,405,702 so far this season. Port receipts, 41,237. U. S. port stocks, 3,747,887.

MONEY CIRCULATION DROPS $38,842,530

Per Capita Use of Cash Cut to $45.22; Total for Nation Is Higher.

(Associated Press.)

A decrease of $38,842,530 in September brought the total money in circulation at the end of the month to $5,653,212,446.

The Treasury's monthly statement yesterday showed the per capita circulation was $45.22, a decrease of 34 cents from the previous month. A year ago on September 30 the total circulation amounted to $5,246,063,907 and the per capita circulation to $42.22.

Total money in the country on September 30 amounted to $9,329,375,671 against $9,246,050,907 on August 31 and $9,285,383,803 on September 30, 1931. Of the total, $4,191,221,914 was in gold of which the Treasury held $3,024,726,443.

Of the gold held in the Treasury, $1,356,402,349 was held against gold and silver certificates, $156,039,088 against United States notes and $1,411,201,723 for Federal Reserve agents and banks.

Outside of the Treasury there was $1,166,495,491, of which $444,924,181 was in gold and $721,571,310 held by Federal Reserve Banks and agents.

C. U. MEETS SCRAPPY ELEVEN

Chattanooga Boasts Stars in Haswell and White.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 10.—Having blasted Murfreesboro out of Little Southern Conference title consideration, the crack little University of Chattanooga eleven, thrice winner of the title, turns its attention to the North this week-end. Catholic University, of Washington, will be met Saturday afternoon at the C. U. Stadium.

Smartly coached in Notre Dame plays, the Moccasins will find themselves against another Rockne exponent in C. U.

Few of the regulars labored very long in the Murfreesboro game, Coach Scrappy Moore preferring to rest his stars for the Washington game. Tubby Haswell, picturesque half back, and all-Little Southern Conference nominee, has fully recovered from the stiff knee, which bothered him early in the season. Charley White, left end, cited for all-American mentioned last year, has shown old-time form this year, particularly in the game with Tennessee. Chattanooga held the great Vols to 13 to 0.

Unless he shows an unexpected turn for the better, Charley McVean, regular C. U. quarter back, will be out of the Chattanooga game Saturday. McVean, who injured both knees in practice more than a week ago, is still on the bench and shows no immediate signs of improving.

His loss will leave a big gap in the C. U. back field, where his passing and kicking are strong points. His place probably will be taken by Gene Augusterfer, sturdy local boy, or Pat Montague, 135-pound pass expert. Babe Gearty, natural substitute for McVean, is out with a bad shoulder, the result of an injury received in the freshman game.

The team practiced twice yesterday, in the afternoon and at night. Coach Dutch Bergman has ordered full speed ahead and is somewhat gloomy over Saturday's prospects. Line charging and blocking will be the main issues to brush up on. Bergman believes, but considerable time will be given to perfecting C. U.'s protection against the Chattanooga brand of serials.

Warrenton Bowlers Organizing Leagues

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Oct. 10.—The Business Men's Bowling League, organized early last winter, is being reorganized. President Julian Lake called a meeting last week with the following teams present or represented: Fauquier National Bank, Sanitary Grocery Co., Warrenton Fire Department (two teams), Postoffice, Standard Oil and possibly the Woodmen of the World. One more team will be let into the league to make a field of eight.

There is also in the making the organization of a church bowling league with four teams, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist, indicating they will enter. Last year's bowling league produced a great deal of interest. At the end of the first half of the league, the Fauquier Democrat took the silver cup offered to the leading team and in the second half the Warrenton Fire Department was the leader of the league and the cup winner. A number of silver trophies will be offered this year for the best team, highest individual bowler, highest team average, &c.

Hitting the Headpin

THE champion of all hard-luck teams, King Pin, came through with flying colors in defense of its dubious honors at Lucky Strike last night. For the second time in as many weeks the team rolled a 1,800 set and succeeding in losing the odd game, and for the second time it rolled a 656 game, and lost it. Colonial Ice Cream turned the trick in the National Capital League.

Johnny Anderson led the winning team with games of 157, 132 and 129 for a 418 set. The winning team rolled 589, 659, 572, for a 1,820 total. King Pin lost the first tilt by nine points, the second by three, and finally succeeded in winning in the finale. Louis Pantos' 385 was high for the losers.

After running its string of wins to eleven straight, Pirrone Co. finally dropped a game in the Jewelers League at Lucky Strike. Heller Plating Co. took the game for its only triumph in the set. J. Scheaffer, of Blustein, rolled 136 and 375 for the individual laurels, while R. Harris Co. snared the team honors by virtue of a 555 game and 1,567 set.

Temple continued its good work in the District League by taking the deuce in its match with Hyattsville on the suburbanites' alleys. The victors rolled 542, 560 and 557, a set of 1,659. Hyattsville rolled 501, 520 and 578. Perce Wolfe's 387 and Reds Megaw's 367 sets were high.

Lou Mushinski was the star of the King Pin Business Men's League last night. He carved a new loop mark with 170 for high game, finishing out the string with 380. Hecht Co. rolled 568 for high game and 1,636 for its set.

Al Woods, who has been quite a figure in duckpin circles for several years, went on a spree in the Men's Federal League at Arcadia and when the pin boys had been revived Al was found with a 150 game and 404 set in his possession. Patent Office rang the bell with a 621 game and 1,761 set.

Charley Bernhardt, of Highway, and Murray, of Fire Department, led the parade in the District Government League at Arcadia. Bernhardt rolled 375 for set honors and Murray came through with a 141 game for high in that respect. Highway's 570 and 1,648 scores were unequaled.

Mines dug down for a 503 and 1,453 to lead the Commerce Ladies loop teams at Lucky Strike. Helena Meyer rolled 124 and 334 to garner individual scoring honors.

Herbie Dern's 385 total for the three games, and Fox's 152 effort outdistanced the field in the Typothetae League at the Strike drives. Big Print Shop rolled out in front with a 580 game and 1,706 total for the evening.

Mary Hughes scattered enough wood for a 321 set, while Miss Schmidt came through with a 119 for the high scores in the Ladies Eastern Star League at Lucky Strike. A 522 game and 1,471 set, the property of Washington Centennial No. 1, took the team prizes.

St. John's Primes For Calvert Hall

Hard work in preparation for Friday's game with Calvert Hall is on the program for St. John's gridders today. The game will be played under the arc lights at Oriole Park, Baltimore. Coach Jack Dunn attempted to arrange a practice scrimmage with Emerson Institute yesterday, but the teams had made no definite plans last night.

Johnny Tobin's work at quarter back has been a revelation to Dunn, who had nothing but praise for the youngster.

"Tobin throws forward passes like shells ejected from a cannon, and he has speeded up the others in the back field. He is going to be a valuable cog in our machine if he continues at the present pace," Dunn said.

SENIOR GOLF TITLE PLAY TODAY

First Round 36-Hole Medal Event Listed at Woodmont.

A SLIM field of fifteen golfers will open the 36-hole battle at Woodmont Country Club this afternoon to decide the 1932 senior championship of the District.

Eighteen holes will be played today and the final 18 tomorrow. P. S. Ridsdale, Chevy Chase veteran, is the defending champion, and again looms as one of the favorites to carry off honors. Last year, he defeated Clark C. Griffith, of Columbia Country Club, Washington ball club owner, after a thrilling playoff. Mr. Griffith, an entry this year, is paired with James E. Baines and W. A. Smith, the threesome being the first to tee off, starting at 1 o'clock. Mr. Ridsdale, George E. Truett and John A. Grunwell will stroke away at 1:18.

Post Entries to Enlarge Field.

Three additional entries were received yesterday by Dr. W. C. Barr, secretary of the District of Columbia Golf Association. They are H. S. Pope, Paul Swope and A. M. Dunlop, all of Indian Spring. They are scheduled to tee off at 1:24.

Post entries will be accepted at the first tee, and indications are that the field will be enhanced considerably.

The District senior championship, open to members of member clubs 55 years or over, is the last important event of the season sponsored by the association. Roger Peacock, of Indian Spring, won the District crown, while the junior laurels went to Maurice Nee, of Manor.

NAVY DRILLS FOR OHIO U. SATURDAY

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 10.—That Ohio University football team will prove a much tougher foe for Navy in the clash here Saturday was made certain today with the return to Annapolis of Frank Foster, who scouted the Ohioans in their easy 39-to-0 triumph over Franklin College on Saturday.

Foster, who is coach of Nevy's B squad, brought back the dope that the Ohio crowd is strong in every department, which means that the Middies will have to be on the alert if they would continue in the stride they struck Saturday by vanquishing Washington and Lee, 33 to 0.

Ohio has been attracting wide attention since the opening of the season. A week prior to the Franklin game, it held the strong University of Indiana team to a 7-to-6 score, and Indiana and Ohio State last Saturday fought a 7-to-7 deadlock, all of which tends to measure the strength of this week's invaders.

Although all of the Tars came through the game with the Generals in good shape, none went through any heavy work in today's practice, Coach Miller following his established custom of giving them virtually a lay off. Kicking and passing just to keep muscles limbered up was all that was carded for them. The rest of the varsity squad and the shock troops, however, had a lively session. Tomorrow the big team will resume regular activities, but the week's work will be devoted almost entirely to bolstering a defense against Ohio formations. The Squad B men will be drilled in Ohio's style of attack as gleaned by Foster's observations.

LEWIS BEATS SHERRY.

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.).—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, of Los Angeles, tossed Jack Sherry, of Omaha, after 1 hour 24 minutes and 15 seconds of grappling in Madison Square Garden tonight and won recognition in New York State as world's heavyweight wrestling champion.

A crowd of about 6,000 saw the match and booed frequently because of the dullness of the action. A series of headlocks brought Lewis his victory. He weighed 235 pounds; Sherry, 230.

FEDERAL UNIONISTS MEET.

Whoever is elected manager of the Federal Employe Unionists at their meeting tonight is expected to represent them tomorrow, when the Departmental Baseball League holds its big October conference at Government Printing Office. The Unionists will convene tonight at 8 p. m. in the office of the Federal News, 10 B street southwest.

AHERN SAYS WESTERN IS WEAK

Sees Fighting Chance Against Central in Series.

A FIGHTING chance is all Coach Dan Ahern gives his Western eleven against Central in their game Friday, the first of the annual interhigh championship series. The kick-off will be at 3:30 o'clock at Wilson Stadium.

Western's victory over Newport News High School, its second in as many games, is no indication that the Georgetowners boast a strong team, according to their coach.

"Newport News was not impressive," Ahern said last night. "I could have used my second team against them and still won the game, if I had a second team. They suffered heavily through penalties imposed for being off-side. Our line showed a slight improvement, and the backs handled themselves a little better, but they are still far from satisfactory. I haven't seen Central, but if it is no better than Western it is in bad shape."

Huck Hilleary attended to the punting for Western against the Virginians and he will do the kicking against Central. Together with Jack Lynham and Jimmy Corcoran, a substitute back, Hilleary took a hand in the passing also, and Ahern believes the team will make a good showing in this respect. Blocking practice will occupy the boys' time the best part of this week.

VA. DRILLING FOR GAME AT COLUMBIA

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 10. Virginia will spend much time in practice this week developing an attack to be used against Columbia on Baker Field this Saturday. Preparations were started today. The Cavaliers have won all three games played so far this season. This has been possible more on account of a tight defense than because of any skilled offense.

Virginia began preparations for the season using the double wing back formation devised by Glenn Warner. A simple routine of plays from this formation comprised the whole of the Cavalier offensive until last week, when the squad started learning plays based on the single wing position.

Single Wing System Nets Touchdown.

Throughout the Roanoke College game plays were started from the double wings until the last quarter. With a first down on the Maroon 15-yard stripe, Virginia shifted into the single wing formation and pushed over a second touchdown that clinched a 12-to-0 victory when Stapleton Gooch raced over the goal.

The difficulty of the Warner system is well known. It requires timing more precise than Virginia has been able to achieve. Injuries have forced Coach Fred Dawson to use different men in the starting back field each week. It has not been possible for these to have enough work together to develop any coordination of attack.

Bill Edgar, Frank Sippley, Tommy Johnson and Ward Brewer, the backs who started against Roanoke, came through in good shape. This week will probably find them going over and again and again the far from elaborate plan of campaign to be used against Columbia.

Report of Discharge "News" to Cavanaugh

New York, Oct. 10 (U.P.).—Maj. Frank Cavanaugh was reported tonight to have been relieved of his duties as head football coach of Fordham University and replaced by Hiker Joy, his assistant.

Although persons close to the athletic department at the school quoted Father Fitzpatrick as the authority for the report, confirmation was unavailable tonight. Father Fitzpatrick or athletic officials could not be reached.

Maj. Cavanaugh, now coaching his sixth season at Fordham, told the United Press the report was "news" to him. "It's the first I heard of it," he said.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

ALTHOUGH he could wear a different uniform or suit every day for more than a year and a half without wearing the same one twice, King George of England feels much the same about new clothes as do many of his less important fellowmen. He likes old clothes. Unless affairs of state require his appearing in one of his impressive outfits, he prefers more comfortable apparel. Once he was seen in shoes that had been mended.

King George's wardrobe consists largely of military and naval uniforms. He has two complete uniforms, one dress and one undress, for each regiment. He is the colonel-in-chief. For different locations he must wear different dress. At Windsor he wears the "Windsor" uniform—in Scotland he dresses in kilts.

U.S. WORKERS' UNION CALLS ECONOMY ACT MORALE DESTROYER

Weather Bureau Lodge Resolution Says It Has Ill-Advised Provisions.

Characterizing the economy act as having "undermined the morale of Government employes by hasty and ill-advised provisions affecting their income and welfare," Weather Bureau Lodge, No. 23, American Federation of Government Employes, condemned the provisions of the law in a resolution adopted at a meeting last night at national headquarters.

The resolution condemned the law as one that "has taken away annual leave, retired hundreds of efficient workers without warning, jeopardized the continuity of employment for other thousands by inequitable application of appropriations, attacked the institution of marriage and at the same time the right principles of job classification by opening the way to discrimination against married persons." The resolution was offered by Herbert C. Hunter, chairman of the resolutions committee.

A. F. of L. Backing Pledged.

John J. Manning, secretary-treasurer of the union label trades department, American Federation of Labor, declared that "as we fought the battles of Federal employes to bring about the rescinding the executive order forbidding organization, we can't do less for an organization we have sponsored."

David R. Glass, national president, presented the lodge charter, declaring that "never has an organization begun with as much support as ours." Other speakers included John Arthur Shaw, first vice president of the American Federation; Michael D. Schaefer, president of its District department, and P. A. Strachan, chairman of publicity, who has returned from a tour of the country.

Another Charter Granted.

Leslie E. Athey was elected delegate and Mary O. Souder alternate to the District department. Lodge officers are W. F. McDonald, president; Willis E. Hurd, secretary-treasurer; Genevra B. Diehl, first vice president; B. Francis Dashiell, second vice president. Mr. McDonald is delegate to the national convention next Monday.

U. S. Employes Compensation Lodge, No. 39, received its charter yesterday. Officers are Theodore J. King, president; Royall W. Greene, first vice president; Viola E. Eggert, secretary; Yeba Hall, treasurer, and Manley Allen, sergeant at arms.

CONFERENCE TO AID CATHOLIC U. IS HELD

Archbishop Curley Presides Here at First of Series to Increase Support.

The Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, presided yesterday in Washington at the first of a series of conferences to be held throughout the East in the interests of Catholic University. The Right Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the university, and the Rev. Dr. Maurice S. Sheehy, his assistant, told of the progress made by the university in carrying out the program adopted by the American hierarchy for the development of the university and for enlarging its scope and service. Mgr. Ryan told the conference of his recent visit to Rome and of the great interest which Pope Pius XI has taken in the university, which he considers the capstone of Catholic education in America and one of the most outstanding achievements of the church.

Resolutions were adopted by the conference pledging cooperation in the organization of the new pontifical society, Friends of the Catholic University of America," which is being organized on a diocesan basis for the purpose of creating more general and generous support of the university. It was also resolved that the immediate effort of the bishops and diocesan chairmen be the sustaining at its high level of the annual collection which is taken up in all the Catholic Churches of America on the first Sunday of Advent, known, at the request of the holy father, as "Catholic University Day." The task of acquainting the clergy and laity in each diocese with the needs of the university is to be placed in the hands of the diocesan chairmen.

All members of the conference pledged their support to build up membership in the Friends of the Catholic University of America in their own diocese. Publishing of the University Bulletin will be resumed as the official organ of the new Pontifical Society, of which Dr. Sheehy will be editor.

Among those present yesterday were: The Most Rev. John J. Swint, Bishop of Wheeling, W. Va.; the Most Rev. Patrick Barry, Bishop of St. Augustine, Fla., and the Most Rev. William J. Hafey, Bishop of Raleigh, N. C. The diocese of Wilmington was represented by the Rev. William Temple, the diocese of Richmond by the Rev. Louis A. Rowen and Henry J. Streat.

A second conference will be held today in Harrisburg, Pa.

P. U. C. to Discuss 2-Zone Fare Today

Keech's 5-Cent Proposal Also Would Apply to Intracity Buses.

The conference on the proposal of People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech that the street railways and intracity buses experiment with a two-zone fare will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, sent out invitations late yesterday to the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Rapid Transit Co., and to Mr. Keech, despite the refusal Saturday of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. to participate.

Just what will be accomplished at the parley is conjectural, but officials of the Capital Traction Co. are known to look upon the plan of aetting up a 5-cent zone for the downtown area with favor. The discussion will not be limited to Mr. Keech's plan, which has, however, received widespread praise from experts in public transportation. Any plan for zone fare operation will be given consideration.

Blind Woman's Sense Of Touch Convicts Man

The ability of Emily Boembrey, a 71-year-old colored woman, who is blind and feeble, to remember the feel of a man's fingers about her throat and to remember his voice yesterday resulted in William Robinson, colored, being found guilty of robbery.

Robinson, it was testified, went into the woman's home while she was alone and after half choking her, bound her head tightly in a blanket and stole $7 in bills. She called police and told them she knew Robinson was the man because she recalled his short, stubby fingers and his voice.

She testified to that effect in Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue's court yesterday and Robinson was convicted by a jury. He was remanded for sentence later. Julian Richards, assistant United States attorney, prosecuted the case.

BOY SCOUTS' NEED OF MEN STRESSED

Personnel Director Speaks at Luncheon of Executives' Conference.

Stressing the need for men who would serve as good Boy Scout executives and who would carry out the organization's ten-year program, H. F. Pote, director of the division of personnel of the Boy Scouts of America, yesterday spoke at the luncheon of the sixth regional scout executives conference of Region 3, which is convening at the Shoreham Hotel.

The luncheon followed a general assembly of the executives at which Robert S. Henderson, of Reading Berks, Pa.; J. Jay Wilcox, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Horace P. Kern, of Philadelphia, were speakers.

The conference which opened Monday and closed today, followed the annual meeting of the lay leaders of scouting which closed Saturday night.

Harvey A. Gordon, national camp engineer, was speaker at a session last night, on the subject of mass camping for scouts versus troop camping.

The object of the conference at this time is to devise means whereby one out of every four American boys may receive scout training instead of one out of every eight, as has been the average. The conference was opened Monday with an address by Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive.

Among the national and regional executives attending the conference are Arthur Shuck, of New York; A. T. Benson, of Pittsburgh; Dr. George J. Fisher, of New York; Ray O. Wyland, Harvey A. Gordon, and Stanley A. Harris, all of New York, and Roy F. Seymour and J. Lee Callahan, of the regional staff of Philadelphia.

Grand Larceny Charged To 2 in Grocery Holdup

Two men arrested Friday in connection with the holdup of a Sanitary grocery store at 4883 Conduit road on September 30 were charged with holdup and grand larceny by police of the Seventh Precinct yesterday.

The men charged gave their names as Thomas B. Lunsford, 26, and Gordon R. McKenny, 28, both of Brookmont, Md. A third man arrested, who gave his name as Edward F. Oliver, 29, of Rockersville, Va., was released after the proprietor of the store was unable to identify him.

Gen. Crosby Lauds District For Lowering Fire Losses

A statement thanking the residents of Washington for their part in effecting a reduction in fire losses in the city during last year was issued yesterday by Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police and Fire Commissioner, in connection with fire prevention week. It read:

"On the second day of District Fire Prevention Week I want to extend my thanks for the splendid cooperation extended by Washington's citizens which made possible a reduction of more than $800,000 in local fire losses in 1931 as compared with the previous year.

"Chief Watson and his associates in the District Fire Department are doing a fine job for which we should be grateful, but no such department can obtain the best results without citizen cooperation such as it has had right here in the National Capital.

"May I hereby extend to you a cordial invitation to become a member of Washington's fire prevention army, which should include every Washingtonian, and to lend your wholehearted support to this splendid movement to make our city a still safer place in which to live."

HEARING ON DISTRICT BUDGET IS STARTED

Commissioners and Bureau Map Operating Expenses for Next Year.

The District Commissioners yesterday began their annual hearing before the Budget Bureau regarding the 1933 District budget, and indications are that the sessions will continue daily for at least three weeks.

While the District's budget is not revealed until submitted to Congress, it is believed that it will run between $40,000,000 and $43,000,000 this year. Estimates from the several department heads totaled $47,000,000, a drop of about $10,000,000 under the preliminary estimates for the present fiscal year.

On account of less anticipated returns from taxation the District Commissioners are utilizing every opportunity to economize in their requests. The budget, however, is predicated on the retention of the $1.70 tax rate and a reversion to the $9,500,000 Federal contribution, instead of the $7,775,000 appropriated for this year.

That another fight will be made in Congress to enact proposals of the Mapes committee to increase the District government's taxation charges appears certain, and it is likewise expected that there will be a heated controversy over the size of the Federal contribution.

This year the District government would actually be operating with a deficit were it not for certain savings effected by provisions of the economy act.

Piney Branch Citizens To Make School Probe

The Piney Branch Citizens Association instructed its schools committee to investigate and prepare a report on the alleged overcrowded conditions in several public schools. This recommendation was made last night at the meeting of the group in the Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church.

T. A. Whittington resigned as treasurer. His office will be filled at the annual election next month. A resolution requesting that stop signs be placed on Decatur street at its intersections with Iowa, Arkansas and Blagden avenues was adopted.

Man Killed by Taxi At Manhole Mouth

Victim Is Struck When He Emerges From Opening; Driver Is Held.

A colored taxi driver was being held for the action of a coroner's jury tomorrow in the death of Albert M. Charron, 34, of 2920 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, who was fatally injured yesterday when he stepped out of a manhole in the path of the taxi.

Albert T. Liser, 35, 2023 Vermont avenue, is the man held. The accident took place at Massachusetts avenue and Union Station Plaza. Police said the cab passed completely over Charron's body.

Charron died about an hour after being rushed to Emergency Hospital. Police said there was no barricade or other danger signal at the manhole.

Traced by Thumb Print, Man Guilty in Safe Case

Identified by a single thumb print he left on a safe in the office of Hahn's shoe store at Seventh and K streets northwest, last February, William Davis, possessor of half a dozen aliases and of a lengthy criminal record, yesterday was found guilty of housebreaking in District Supreme Court.

Two safes were "blown" in the Hahn offices, but nothing of value was taken. Davis was traced through his thumb print, found on one of the safes by Detective Sergts. Truscott and Brass and was brought back from New Jersey where he was arrested. He was remanded to jail by Chief Justice Wheat to await sentence.

Buzzards Point Zoning Will Be Decided Today

The District Zoning Commission spent the afternoon in executive session yesterday, but at the close Capt. Hugh P. Oram, executive officer, said that no announcement of any decisions would be made before today.

The major proposal being considered by the commission is that having to do with the establishment of an industrial zone throughout the major portion of Buzzards Point.

TEST OF PREVAILING PAY ACT'S VALIDITY URGED ON BUILDERS

Contractors' Board to Meet Today to Nominate New Officers.

Possibility that the validity of the Davis-Bacon prevailing wage law and the administrative practices that have grown up around it would be tested in the courts loomed yesterday when legal counsel formally recommended to the governing board of the Associated General Contractors of America, meeting at the Shoreham Hotel, that an effort be made by the association to procure decisions by the courts upon these matters.

"There seems to be no doubt that in view of the action taken in certain cases by the Secretary of Labor in the administration of the Davis-Bacon law, the present status of contractors for Government buildings is a condition of utmost uncertainty," Herman J. Galloway, of King & King, nationally known attorneys in the construction field, told the board. "No such contractor can at this time determine even the approximate extent of the obligations he undertakes when he submits a bid or signs a contract."

New Legal Questions.

George A. King, of the same firm, lamented the veto of the Metcalf-Connery amendment to the bill, which would have required that the wages of laborers and mechanics on public construction be predetermined, and declared that the law in its present form raises entirely new legal questions which should go before the courts.

The board also was addressed by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry K. Heath, who discussed the Federal building program, and Nathan Adams, member of the newly created Federal Home Loan Board.

"The depression has proved that there are no supermen in America," Adams declared, "and bankers in particular are not entitled to medals." He lamented the failure to provide a great reservoir of time credit and expressed the hope that agencies loaning money on home mortgages will have the courage to do so now and come to the Federal Home Loan System for help.

Favors Preferential Rate.

Adams declared that the Federal Home Loan Board will not attempt to dictate what borrowers do with money received through the new system, but said he personally would favor giving a preferential interest rate on borrowings to finance new home construction.

The board will meet again today to nominate a national president and vice president of the association for the coming year and to adopt a national legislative program to be supported by organized general contractors at the next session of Congress. The meeting is being attended by representative general contractors from all sections of the country, with A. C. Tozzer, of the Turner Construction Co., New York, presiding.

Thief Serves Customer As His Aid Robs Clerk

Two robbers early yesterday held up and robbed the manager of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. store at 3475 Fourteenth street northwest and fled with $53.

Barton P. Sherry, the manager, said he was forced into a rear room at gun point where the money was taken from his pockets. One of the bandits remained in the front of the store and took care of the wants of a customer who entered and departed unaware of what was going on, Sherry said.

Boy Injured as He Runs Into Side of Automobile

Eight-year-old Joseph Richter, of 1343 K street southeast, received brush burns about the knees and a badly cut lip when he ran into the side of an automobile as he played in the street near his home late yesterday afternoon. After treatment at Gallinger Hospital he was taken home.

Norman Gibbons, 18, of 920 Fourteenth street southeast, was driver of the car. He was not held.

8 Arrested on Charges Of 'Panhandling' Abuse

Eight men were arrested yesterday as a result of complaints that "panhandlers," operating in lower Sixteenth street below Scott circle, were insulting those who refused their requests. Policeman B. T. Bean, attached to the Third Precinct, who was detailed to investigate the complaints, made the arrests.

GLASSFORD SEEKING LAW FOR OUSTING OF 'UNLAWFUL GROUPS'

Asks District Commissoiners for Aid; Looks Ahead to Congress' Convening.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, has asked the District Commissioners to press for legislation empowering police here to evict from the District armies or groups of indigents who come here to petition Congress after their objective has been obtained.

"With eye fixed on December and the convening of Congress, Gen. Glassford wants something more definite than the nebulous emergency order promulgated after the evacuation of the bonus army last July.

Marches in Prospect.

Advance information indicating projected marches on the Capital to lay pleas for various types of legislation before Congress is understood to have motivated Gen. Glassford in his recommendation that the Commissioners seek passage of a law for handling of such situations.

The present emergency order, which the Commissioners were empowered to promulgate by an act of Congress of February, 1892, bars groups from the city who have no "lawful purpose." However, there has been discussion ever since its issuance of whether it nullified constitutional rights of groups or individuals seeking to petition Congress.

Farmers' Trek Reported.

Communist and other radical groups are understood to be planning demonstrations and a "farmers' march" from Western States has been reported for early December when Congress meets.

Gen. Glassford recommended that the legislation either give police power for eviction of persons thrown upon the charity of the city after their political purposes have been served or as an alternative that the Federal Government take care of such groups while in the city.

Northeast Citizens Mark Fortieth Year

Evan H. Tucker Reelected President for Thirty-ninth Year.

The Northeast Washington Citizens Association last night celebrated the fortieth anniversary of its founding with a large attendance and reception of 22 new members.

Evan H. Tucker was reelected president for the thirty-ninth consecutive year. Other officers elected were: Roscoe Jenkins and Bruce Casteel, vice presidents; John F. Callan, financial secretary; Joseph Notes, recording secretary, and E. C. Worden, treasurer.

Resolutions were adapted requesting that gutters in Eighth street between East Capitol and C streets northeast, and in G street between Sixth and Seventh, be repaired, and that trees in Massachusetts avenue northeast be trimmed. A resolution was also adopted for the installation of traffic lights at the intersections of Fifth and H streets and Eleventh and H streets northeast.

Policeman Hurt In Speeder Chase

Motorcycle Officer Crashes Into Auto Pulling Out of Parking Space.

Pursuing a speeding autoist down upper Wisconsin avenue late yesterday afternoon, Private L. E. Sykes, motorcycle policeman of the Traffic Bureau, was seriously injured when his machine crashed into a car pulling out of parking place.

The accident occurred near Wisconsin avenue and Veazey street north west. Robert Haig, 54, of Potomac Md., driver of the car involved, was being held at the Sixth Precinct Station last night for questioning in connection with the collision.

Sykes was rushed to Georgetown Hospital, where it was said his right ear was nearly torn off when he struck the roadway. He also sustained severe cuts and bruises about the upper part of the body and hands and was under observation for possible other injuries.

San Francisco Couple Injured.

Ernest J. Touregana, 48, prominent attorney from San Francisco, and his wife, Mrs. Pearl C. Touregana, 35, who are staying at the Mayflower Hotel, while attending the meetings of the American Bar Association, were slightly injured when the taxicab in which they were riding collided with another vehicle at Eleventh and K streets northwest yesterday afternoon.

RALLY SPEAKER

SAM D. McREYNOLDS, representative from Tennessee, who spoke at the Democratic rally, which opened last night at Georgia and Alaska avenues.

G.O.P. INEFFICIENT, M'REYNOLDS HOLDS

Points to Deficit in Opening Democrat Carnival in Alaska Avenue.

Inefficiency of the Republican party was proved by the development of a deficit of $3,000,000,000 during the years the party was in complete control of the Government, Representative Sam D. McReynolds, of Tennessee, declared in an address last night at the opening of the carnival at Alaska and Georgia avenues northwest, under the auspices of the District Democratic central committee.

"This greatest deficit ever to confront the Government in peace time effectively disproves any claim the Republican administration may make for the Republican party as an efficient governing agency," Representative McReynolds said.

Combining free band concerts and fireworks with the three ring Hill and Allen circus under the "big top," side shows and other amusements, the carnival will continue daily until October 22. Funds derived from the varied shows will be employed by the committee to defray expenses incident to its campaign work in the District.

Several free boxing bouts entertained the several thousands who visited the carnival last night. Eighteen young women, representing as many different States and cities, were entered in the "Pageant of the States" beauty contest last night. The contest will continue through the stay of the circus and carnival.

Washington and Maryland Democratic leaders were out in force for the opening of the show, including John F. Costello, District national committeeman, and Maj. E. Brooke Lee, Democratic leader of Montgomery County, Md.

Golden Eagle Sessions to Open.

The Supreme Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will begin their annual three-day conference at 10 a. m. today at the Harrington Hotel. Supreme Chief Hugh M. Cunningham, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will preside.

HIGH APPEAL LOST BY ETHEL CLAWANS FOLLOWING ARREST

Supreme Court Refuses Review on Suits Against Several She Blamed.

The United States Supreme Court yesterday refused to grant Ethel Clawans, formerly of Washington, a review to challenge the refusal of the District Court of Appeals to recognize her appeal from a decision of the District Supreme Court dismissing damage suits she had lodged against Roger J. Whiteford, Mrs. Mina Van Winkle, John Fowler and others, claiming unlawful arrest and imprisonment.

She was arrested on November 14, 1928, charged with forgery in the negotiation of a check for $47.50. The charge was later dismissed in Police Court. When the case was appealed the Court of Appeals upheld the action of the District Supreme Court on the ground that the appeal had been improperly taken.

Ethel Clawans is said to be now living in Newark, N. J.

Only one review was granted in the numerous cases brought before the Supreme Court yesterday. The Aetna Life Insurance Co. and others were granted this review to test the ruling of District courts in maintaining that they had no right to hold action against Samuel D. Moses to recover damages from him as a subcontractor in the death of Henry Roberts, who was killed while working on a building being built by Harry M. Bralove.

Mortgage Company Loses.

The National Mortgage & Investment Co. was refused a review by the high court in the case involving the amount of interest to be paid by the receivers of the Provident Relief of this city on what the National Co. maintained was a note it purchased from Provident Co., which the latter company held was a loan with a usurious rate of interest.

A refusal to review was also rendered in the case of the Rosslyn Steel & Cement Co. and others holding mechanics' liens totaling $13,850 on an apartment house built by Howard M. Etchinson at 2127 California street. They contend their liens had a priority over $75,500 in notes, a second deed of trust held by the District Securities Company. The lower court ruled otherwise.

No review was granted in the case of the District of Columbia and Frank E. Altemus challenging the decision of the District Court in awarding a $15,000 damage suit against them for injuries received by Maude Talmadge Jones on September 23, 1917, when she fell in the street over a defect in the pavement.

Sherman Law Violators Lose.

The administrators of the estate of Herman W. Van Sender were refused a review on a decision handed down by District courts awarding a $11,775 judgment against the estate in favor of Irvin E. Jones, on the grounds that Van Sender had fraudulently obtained property belonging to Jones.

Violators of the Sherman anti-trust act, including the Atlantic Cleaners & Dyers, Inc., the Globe Dry Cleaners and Dyers, the Arcade-Sunshine Co., the Vogue Dry Cleaning Co. and others, were also refused a review by the Supreme Court.

Charles Morris, colored, who is under sentence of death for the fatal shooting of Maggie Landon near the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, in July, 1930, failed to get a review before the higher court.
